Manglacharan

I bow to Shree Ganesh, who assists everyone in thinking beyond and writing the secrets of this universe. He is the Son of Bhagwan Shiv and Maa Parvati, providing meaning to words. Even when I am not capable of thinking, words and concepts from the vastness of the universe permeate my humble brain. Today, I am invoking Ganesha inside me to write the deep meaning of nakshatras, the last part of the Zodiac, in this third book.

I pray to Bhagwan Shiv, who narrates the story to Maa Parvati, explaining the karma of humans born in certain nakshatra padas.

I will try to understand the words and silence of Shiv by asking for a boon from him only because understanding Shiv is not possible from this mortal body. But what I am asking for in this book is to realize my journey in the zodiac through the energy of Nakshatras.

Reason for Writing

Five years ago, when I started writing about astrology, it was for one reason only: I wanted to read something soul-satisfying. Yet, when I write a book, I write for myself because this is what I have been searching for in many lives. When I do not find it in any other book, I write it for myself. I am happy that, like me, there are some other people too who are searching for the same nectar and on the same frequency. In this book of Nakshatra padas, although the focus is on stories told by Lord Shiv and their deeper meanings, I have tried to give you a flavor of the energy of Nakshatras. I am in the process of writing a book dedicated only to Nakshatra in detail and will bring that one out soon.

However, this book will enable you to focus on Nakshatra Padas and give you the reason behind every pada. If a planet has occupied a particular Nakshatra Pada, what is the reason behind it?

I am in a process - a journey in which I am learning a lot of things. I am sharing a few of them via blogs, books, and YouTube. By no means, I am perfect or a Guru for anyone but merely an ordinary person who had a dream of Jyotish, which comes from the soul, where things make sense to the heart. Through an understanding of the subject, I can feel more liberated than ever. You might not see complicated Sanskrit words, but you will see the crux of practical knowledge of these Nakshatras being implemented in this book.

Why do Nakshatras Decide Age?

The Moon is a water body that travels to various portions of the zodiac. Depending on atmospheric pressure and the intensity of the star, we get thoughts in our brains, as the Moon controls the emotions of the body. Nakshatras are the Vayu Tattva in the Panchang, and this means our breathing habits are governed by the nakshatra elements. The whole process of how much life oxygen is in water describes the health of a water body.

This means when a water body Moon transits the different parts of the zodiac, depending on the level of oxygen available to the Moon, it describes the quality of Nakshatra. Pushya is an extremely light state of air and is considered the best Nakshatra, as it is located in a part of the sky that is extremely lightweight and provides ample life oxygen to the native. Similarly, when the Moon transits the dense part of the zodiac in Jyestha and Moola nakshatra, the life force of the native is threatened, as now, due to higher density, there is a very low level of oxygen in the water body Moon.

Every human breathes according to the Nakshatra he/she is ruled by, and this is why Nakshatra controls the lifespan based on how you breathe. If you are a short breather, this is a sign of living under constant stress and anxiety. This lack of oxygen in the body will create multiple issues and diseases, as most of your organs are deprived of oxygen, and even your thinking patterns will not be deep enough to bring out the best of your brain. Due to the lack of oxygen in your body, you will have issues like diabetes, liver problems, and much more. When you breathe deeply, first of all, your stress levels go down; secondly, all of your organs start getting enough oxygen to work properly.

Look at people who are short-tempered and keep shouting at everyone without reason. They are unable to process simple information in their bodies, and they are actually not happy with themselves due to a lack of oxygen in their bodies. They feel frustrated, and this frustration comes out as anger towards other people. If only someone could tell them to breathe, things would be better for them.

When you experience jealousy from someone, the root cause of jealousy is that you are not happy with yourself and your life. The reason for this is your breathing pattern. Only a person who is living in contentment and gratitude can take deep breaths to the center of the stomach. A person who has many desires is like a beggar who wants everything in this life and becomes so greedy that the native starts rationing breaths as well.

If you can monitor the jealousy inside you and keep on asking why you are not able to do this, you will realize that you have not activated the genius inside you.

To activate the genius brain inside you, you need to learn to breathe slowly and take deep breaths.

With every deep breath you take, you are investing in your life. You are providing life to the dead part of the brain that was sleeping for many years, lying deep inside after the rational thinking, called the intuitive brain. It pays attention to every detail and knows what is going to happen next. When ideas and thoughts come from this part of the brain, they are not jealousy, comparison, or hate. They are of gratitude, leadership, and helping everyone.

Breathing is one of the most important and fascinating things for humans, which can control their entire life, if only humans can learn how to breathe effectively. The reason why I spent an entire page on this one topic is that this is one of the best remedies to control all planets and comes for free. However, very few will be able to practice it since it is free. When you change inside, the outside automatically changes. You start getting visions of life, afterlife, this world, and another world in a manner that you can't explain to anyone. But this is part of a process that will happen to you many times as your brain will have capabilities of which you are unaware. The first sign you will notice is that you start thinking of something, and that thing starts happening in life. You think of a person, and the person will appear in front of you. This will happen more often than you think in life because by doing the exercise of deep breathing, you are clearing all the resistances in the body.

You are becoming more conducive to the environment, letting go of hate, jealousy, and your demands, and becoming part of nature as nature wants you to be. Everyone says manifestation is easy, but do not manifest anything; let nature take over, and you only learn to breathe deeply in life.

This one remedy will help you in every situation in life. Let me go a bit deeper, explaining the breath patterns related to each nakshatra, and this will help you change the energy levels of the body. When you are breathing in air, you are giving fuel to various organs of your body. Don't just breathe for your existence; breathe to ignite the fire inside you. To become extraordinary, you have a machine, you have fuel. Don't be a shallow breather due to anxiety; breathe deeply every minute to bring out the genius inside you.

When you learn to breathe the patterns during meditation to focus all of your energy in one place, everything you desire in life will come true. However, all of your energy at any moment is divided into various parts and functions, trying to manipulate and create disturbances in the universe. Try to withdraw everything and bring it inside; this is what yogis do to control everything around them, as the remote of the complete universe lies inside you. You are looking in the wrong place.

You need to go inside through meditation; you need to focus all your energies in one place and then breathe deeply. When you have undivided focus and attention in life, when all of your consciousness is in one place, whatever you think will immediately happen. This is what healers do; during the healing of any person, they focus all their energies and place their hands on this person, and the person will get relief.

As I wrote in my book “Happy Soul,” the world does not work on any logic made by humans. The world operates on the laws of nature, which are entirely different from what humans think. When you start following the laws of the universe, magic happens. People name it as Tantra, Mantra, or miracles, but in reality, these are laws of the universe bound to give results that appear as miracles in a person’s life.

Jupiter is considered the planet that gives life to humans, and the reason for this is the presence of a Sulphur component in the Ganga water river. This gives the water its significance of Jupiter, making this water body alive.

I will explain the quality of each nakshatra and padas, but it is important that you understand the importance of breathing in life. My objective in writing this book is not only to impart knowledge of Jyotish but also to make you understand the universe around you.

Introduction to the Cycle

This is the last cycle of Nakshatra, which completes the life span of any human being. This is a satvik cycle of Nakshatra that starts from Mool Nakshatra, the cleansing gateway in the sky. By now, you must have acquired so much karmic baggage from many people, and by the time a planet reaches Jyestha, all the attachments have gone. However, some impurity might still be left inside you. That's why there is a filter in the zodiac to cleanse you in the form of Moola Nakshatra.

This is the most intense nakshatra in the zodiac used for cleansing purposes. Even to understand the energy further in the zodiac, you need to be in a state of mind to absorb the knowledge. A person who is not seeking liberation cannot value the golden words of the Ashtavakra Gita. Your attention might be in getting a good salary or partner, but the rest of the nakshatras have very little to do with worldly possessions.

Worldly possessions might be a side effect of their nature, but not the ultimate goal. Moola nakshatra provides you with all the tools to be detached and forces you to understand that there is no good or bad in this world. Everyone works according to nature, which is governed by the planets assigned to them.

Using Nakshatras on Three levels.

1) Using Nakshatras as Significators - This is the most easy and snapshot way to deal with nakshatras and make predictions by using the energy of nakshatras getting manifested in planets. For example, Saturn in Purvashada Nakshatra - Saturn is a significator for hard work, old age, profession, and Purvashada is the nakshatra of raising standards and working hard, even sacrificing life for the profession. Therefore, you can predict that this native will rise in his profession through intelligence and hard work.

On the other hand, Saturn in Moola Nakshatra - Moola is the energy where the search for the root cause of things begins. So, either the person will be in research work or in the kind of work that requires finding the causes and effects of everything. In affliction, you can predict that the native will not be in the kind of work that allows him to look for expansion, but rather be involved in dismantling and research work.

2) Using Nakshatras as House Lords - If a planet is ruling a certain house, such as being an ascendant lord, the responsibility of this planet is far more important than any other planet. Similarly, the Moon is another important planet that governs our thought process and is responsible for our actions in life. You can always look at the nakshatra of the 2nd lord to understand how this native is going to prosper in life and what the native's family is expecting from them.

If the 2nd lord is placed in Ashvini nakshatra, it will provide the native with a lot of resources, and the native may earn money in the healing fields or have someone in the family who is a doctor. If malefics occupy this nakshatra, the native may have to pay a lot of money to healers and lawyers but may still not be able to get healed.

Profession is decided by the 10th lord of the birth chart, and mostly the profession depends on either the 10th lord or the planets placed in the 10th house. Whichever is stronger and well-placed will have more influence on the profession, but the planet that is weaker among the two will also contribute to the flavor of the profession.

If you observe the chart below, the tenth house is empty, and the tenth lord is placed in the third house. Now, the profession has to be related to communication, marketing, selling, trading, but the planet being Mars suggests it can also be related to sports, action-oriented activities, or those related to the human body, given that the sign is Aries. The nakshatra of the 10th lord Mars is Ashvini, which is related to divine healers. Please notice that her 3rd lord of hobbies and 10th lord of profession are both Mars, placed in the 3rd house of self-interest, with hobbies in the healing nakshatra of Ashvini.

She is a homeopathic doctor, but what is special about her is that she makes her own medicines by growing plants and following the process of fermentation. Although her education is in some other field, she started learning about medicines as a hobby and then pursued the course of homeopathy, getting deeply engrossed in the process.

Mars, being the ego, cannot accept anyone else making medicine for her, and she went above and beyond the normal process to create her own medicines and solutions for patients. Now, as an astrologer, you might want to inquire about the native's siblings and what influenced her to learn this science.

Her brother has no relation with her at present, and the reason is that due to the actions of this native, her brother was not able to get married, resulting in extremely bad relations with him. In fact, if you observe her second house, you will notice she has strained relations with every family member. Firstly, there are malefic effects in the second house, and secondly, the second lord Jupiter is placed in Ketu nakshatra in the seventh house.

What I am trying to convey here is the cause and effect of planets. The placement of the second lord in the seventh house indicates that family and finance will be affected after marriage, whether in a positive or negative way. The nakshatra of Ketu aims to liberate, signifying that every choice made will hurt people as it breaks norms. Jupiter is placed in Magha, which is associated with status and financial well-being. Considering Jupiter's influence, pertaining to religion, norms, and social laws, this native is likely to marry someone who will liberate her from the family and social circle. Additionally, this person is expected to be from another religion or caste, impacting both family ties and financial stability.

She married a person from a different caste, and that too by eloping from the house, which greatly upset the family, leading them to sever all ties with her. Financially, she went from a good state to worse rapidly. She even took gold (Jupiter) from her father to support her husband's business.

Let us take a glimpse of the seventh lord Sun as well. As the second and seventh lords have exchanged places, this exchange implies giving up one thing and receiving another in return, similar to a barter system. When such an exchange occurs in positive houses, it is considered a valuable exchange.

However, when the exchange happens in a chart as seen here, the native has to pay a heavy price and receives nothing in return—a bad exchange.

The exchange involves Sun and Jupiter, with Sun being heavily afflicted. This indicates that she will leave her family and, in return, experience a detrimental marriage.

Sun is placed in Saturn nakshatra, which is again a troublesome combination, as Saturn nakshatras require patience while Sun represents discipline. In Uttara Bhadrapada nakshatra, associated with hidden knowledge and keeping secrets, the placement of Sun, the light, suggests that any hidden intentions will eventually be revealed. She attempted to keep her marriage a secret, but eventually, she had to run away from home, and everyone in the family became aware of the story. This action on her part is causing problems for her brother in getting married.

3) Using House Cusps:- What are house cusps? The time you are born, a certain degree rises in the sky called the ascendant degree or the degree of Lagna. This is a critical point, as Lagna is referred to as the point where the earth and sky meet, and it signifies the moment you were given the opportunity to come to this earth. Similarly, when constructing the chart and determining the middle point or cusp of each house, this house governs the quality of that house. For example, if someone has the 3rd house cusp in Bharani, you can predict that their hobby is to sit alone, read books, and not socialize with others much. Bharani, being the nakshatra of Yam, implies a disciplined life, and individuals with this placement may find it challenging to enjoy social activities. As a result, the siblings of this native may experience troubled married lives, with one partner frequently being away or busy with work.

Usually, the 1st, 5th, and 9th houses will have the same planet ruling nakshatras in most charts when using the Sripati system of house division, and so on.

Let's revisit the chart above using the house cusp techniques.

In the chart above, the lagna is rising with Purvabhadra nakshatra. This nakshatra is known for making individuals independent early in life, even without much support. Since her ascendant rising nakshatra lord is in the 7th house, she married early without the consent of her parents. However, she had no strong connections to her family and also experienced a lack of relations with her husband within 2-3 years of marriage.

The nakshatra of Purva Bhadra imparts a quality of doing things in one's own way and not listening to others. This characteristic has significantly shaped the entire personality of the native in this case, making her accustomed to being alone and never heeding the advice of others.

MOOLA

Moola Nakshatra

To Know the Unknown

This nakshatra lies in the trine of the zodiac, covering the first 13°20' of the Sagittarius rashi. Being in the initial part of the sign which represents luck, bhagya, and fortune, there has to be something special about this nakshatra. It resides in this house, one of the most fortunate signs among all. The energy description of these nakshatras is not going to be normal.

How can a person remain normal in this rasi, which represents father and guru? The mere presence of the guru in life changes the complete trajectory. Gurus perform deeds for natives that no one else can imagine, as parents primarily focus on this life, whereas Gurus contemplate across several lifetimes. When confronted with the knowledge of multiple lifetimes, one must think on a deeper and denser level of understanding. This book is starting with Moola nakshatra, and it will compel you to think on a deeper level to provide insights into nakshatras

The energy of any nakshatra lies in the deity of that nakshatra, not the ruler of a particular nakshatra. This nakshatra is said to be ruled by Ketu in Vimshottari dasa, and this is due to the fact that Planet Ketu holds some portion of the energy, which is similar to this energy source. But to understand any nakshatra completely, you need to focus on the deity of a nakshatra.

Nakshatra Deity of Moola is Nirriti Devi - She is described as the goddess who personifies death, decay, and sorrow, which is quite the opposite of what anyone might have thought about the qualities of Sagittarius being the sign of fortune and guru.

Sagittarius is the true knowledge. In all classical books, this sign is also referred to for seeing higher knowledge in any human being. This is not the degree of knowledge but the knowledge of the other worlds, which is far beyond this life. To attain such knowledge, one has to be blessed by a Guru.

The first step any guru takes is to make you worry-free about this life and give you a vision for many lifetimes. A person who is too attached to his worldly possessions will never be able to think of such higher knowledge. That is why the goddess of death gets the first place at the beginning of this sign.

Mula is also referred to as the vegetative state of a body - a body without a soul that is unresponsive to all actions happening around them, and they are carrying on their journey to learn the higher objectives of this life. This is not possible if you become attached to this world. To know the unknown, the journey is very risky, as chasing the gut feeling on the trust of the Guru seems like a difficult journey.

To search for one's own roots and then redefine the atman based on one's understanding is something not everyone will appreciate in this life. In the zodiac as well, this is the densest part of the zodiac where the transit planets kind of become invisible, as if they are busy in search of their own answers.

This is a nakshatra of searching for answers where you have to go underground in isolation, as soul searching can only happen alone. A lot of leadership gurus teach this quality of Mula to disappear from everyone for one year and give this one year to yourself, working on your own upliftment. As Guru Nanak Dev Ji said, “नानक अपना मूल पहचान” - to focus on the place from which you have originated.

This nakshatra is good for confrontation, finding out the truth hidden behind the curtains of formalities. This nakshatra gives the power to peel the layers of truth and find the cause of every misery and sorrow. When the Moon is placed in this nakshatra, then, with the curious nature of the Moon, it tries to find out the secrets hidden deep in that house to uncover the truth.

Technique - 1

The Intensity of Life - This nakshatra lies in the most dense part of the zodiac, and the temperament of this nakshatra is extremely sharp. So, imagine a person who is willing to travel in the dark, take unbound risks by trusting others, and follow the path of dharma. If someone tries to point out the risks involved, these people don't take it well and act as leaders of their path.

Whichever planet goes into this nakshatra, the significance of particular planets behaves in such a manner. When the ascendant lord or Moon is placed in Mool nakshatra, this pattern is clearly visible in the native's life.

Let us look at an example

The above chart belongs to Smt. Indira Gandhi, with Rahu placed in the 6th house in Moola Nakshatra. Rahu is the 8th lord in her chart, governing death, and it is positioned in the 6th house associated with diseases, fights, and debts.

Mool is the base energy, focusing on understanding the basic instincts of any human being. However, when Rahu is placed in this sign, instead of harnessing the Mool energy, Rahu manipulates people for its own materialistic gain. Mool is about removing every materialistic thing and focusing on higher goals of building principles, then gaining power. Rahu has the ability to take this energy to the extreme with hidden motives.

Being an eighth lord means that death has to be extreme in all senses as well.

Her fight and struggle were not regular, and neither was her death, as she died in the antardasha of Rahu only. Her way of showing opposition was a typical Moola Nakshatra story by going to the root cause and hitting on the head. Rahu in Moola placed in the 6th house becomes revengeful.

The chart of Prince Harry is interesting from many perspectives, such as being born in a Sagittarius ascendant, and his ideology and thinking pattern are strongly connected to his mother as ascendant and 4th lord are naturally connected.

The 4th house stands for morals, being accepted in a family, land, and kingdom where you can live in peace. However, his 4th lord Jupiter is placed in the nakshatra of Mool, which is a sharp nakshatra that seeks to go to the root of everything and questions every belief system, even its own identity when sitting in lagna.

Jupiter stands for traditional values, faith, belief systems, social norms and values, and philosophical knowledge. When placed in the nakshatra of Moola, it questions everything and becomes a rebel. Look at the chart above from the 4th lord of Mother's point of view.

His mother, the late Princess Diana, had the same rebellious nature — as Jupiter is also the 4th lord — known for all the controversies and not following the royal protocol. Similarly, Prince Harry gave up the identity of being born into a royal family as it was not suited to him.

His identity has to be found by searching through various means, and no wonder, the moment he met his life partner and got married, his identity started to change.

The reason behind this sudden change and activation of such a powerful force inside him awakened due to his partner, as he got the base for all of his feelings, as Jupiter is the Darakaraka in his chart.

During the Dasa of Mars - Jupiter, he was reportedly being visited by the Drug and Rehab Centre as the dasa of Jupiter placed in lagna can get you accepted or rejected in the community. But being placed in such a powerful nakshatra, a person tries to search for identity by connecting to another world through various means.

As Shree Krishna says in Bhagavad Gita -

श्री भगवानुवाच

ऊर्ध्वमूलमधः शाखमश्वत्थं प्राहुरव्ययम् ।

छन्दांसि यस्य पर्णानि यस्तं वेद स वेदवित् ॥15.1॥

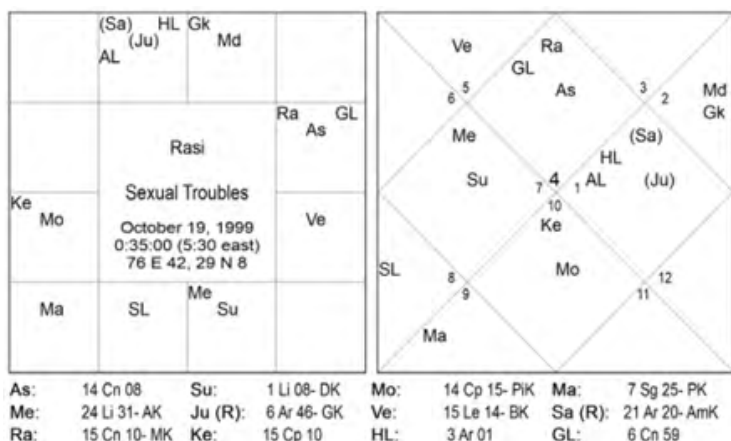

The tree, which has its roots upwards, and Brahman possessed of the unmanifest power in the form of Maya, is referred to by the word 'upward' because of its subtleness in point of time, by virtue of its being the Cause, and also because of its eternality and vastness; and That is the root (mulam) of this world. The Tree of the World, which is such, is Urdhva-mulam.

This Mool nakshatra is similar to this tree, as to find out 'who am I,' you need to go in the reverse direction. This is a dangerous way for many people, as for this, you need to step on the toes of many people. You need to find your own journey of life, and when a planet is placed in this nakshatra, then even when it owns the sign like in the above example, it cannot be expected to behave in a normal manner.

This is a chart of a person who emailed, stating that she had numerous troubles with her own brother, including physical torture. In her love life, she was unlucky, facing mental and physical torture with close ones when you look at her chart. In one go, you can say the ascendant lord Moon with Ketu is placed in the 7th house; this is bound to happen.

Let me deviate a bit from the topic and teach an important rule of astrology, which is that some people are not born to work .but only to do wonders and this is a dictum I usually use for the ascendant lord in the 10th house. This shows the value of the ascendant lord and the 10th house both but this is the power of the ascendant lord that wherever it will go that house is under special light and consideration.

As the ascendant lord is the king of the physical entity, in the chart above, it is placed in the 7th house and that too in a Saturnine sign, highly afflicted with Ketu.

She is bound to have such kinds of incidents in her life, but all this was happening in the Mahadasa of Mars. Mars is placed in the 6th house of fights, pains, and tortures, being the significator of siblings and placed in Mula nakshatra. The energy of Mars is highly volatile in this chart, creating troubles, as these natives do not know how to let go of things, and according to her, the cause of all her troubles is her profession.

Karmic Reasons of Moola - Imagine a kid who has messed up his beautiful game of Jigsaw puzzle and is unable to solve it on his own; that is why this kid requires help from his father and guru. When you approach any Guru with a particular set of problems, what they do is ask you to step back and focus on why you are in this situation?

They deconstruct the whole narrative built up by you and explore all the other possibilities that you are imagining might happen in the future. This is exactly the theme of Mula. When you get a planet in Mool nakshatra, it's because you have messed up the significations of this particular planet so badly in the past that to resolve it completely, you need the energy of Mool nakshatra to clear any complex karmic pattern. Mool nakshatra forces you to ask yourself why you are in such a place. What is the deep-rooted cause of your suffering? Whether it is your desire, fear, or greed, it prepares you for the worst of actions that can happen so you can get liberated from all significations of the planet placed in Mool nakshatra.

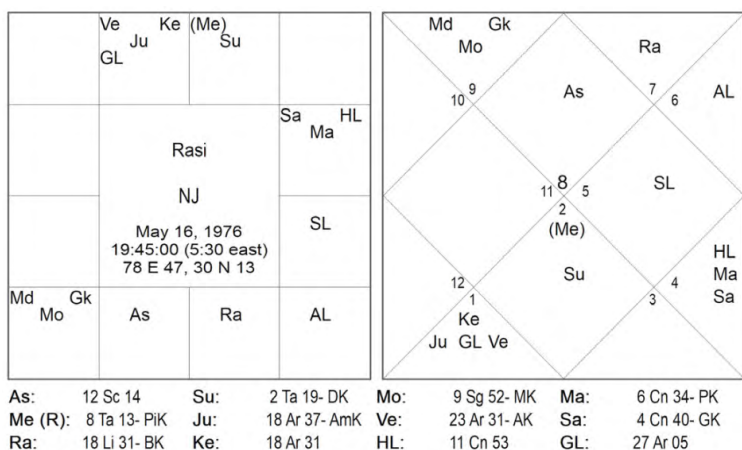

Moola nakshatra prepares you even when the worst happens. The world will not end for you, and there is a beginning after every end. But this means you need to bring things to a conclusion that have ever lived in your life. You see your life span and problems from a certain span, but this whole life is a certain point in the big span of the cycle. Now, when you are ready to learn the higher cosmic values of the universe, a planet has acquired Moola nakshatra to get rid of every mortal thing attached to the particular planet.

Just before Moola, the nakshatra of Jyestha happens to be placed in the sky. Jyestha has a quality of resolving everything that is mortal. But still, if you have managed to carry anything from the past unresolved, it is necessary to filter every impurity you have carried over and resolve it so you can feel the bliss of coming nakshatras.

Just like Vishaka nakshatra was the two-way road in which the confusion was which way to pick, Moola is a dense micro UV filter in the zodiac that removes all types of attachment from a person.

Below is the chart of a person who went through a dasa of Moola nakshatra.

His Moon is placed in Moola Nakshatra. The quality of Mool Nakshatra is that it removes everyone who acts as an obstacle in your progress and shows you the true nature of people. It gives you the realization of this world, but his Moon is the dispositor of two bare malefics, Saturn and Mars. The Moon is placed in the same nakshatra as Gulika. From 2004-2014 under Moon Mahadasa, which controls his bhagya, he got separated from his family, started his own business, and understood that no one would support him. The realization of the truth of his family ties started to come to the forefront

You have to live like a dead person in this dasa, invisible to all because no one will understand the process you are going through. This happens so you become detached from everyone else in life.

The native is in a teaching profession and has spent all his life working as a professional trainer in various areas of life, but the Moon dasa was eye-opening as the masks of several people were getting removed.

Impossible goals- We are as big as our goals; a person should take time to choose all their goals as this is going to decide the destiny of the native. Moola nakshatra has the ability to pick almost impossible goals which no one has ever imagined, as this is the nakshatra ruled by Ketu. The reason for Ketu being the ruler of the first nakshatra in every cycle is that it gives you an overview of a problem like a bird's-eye view.

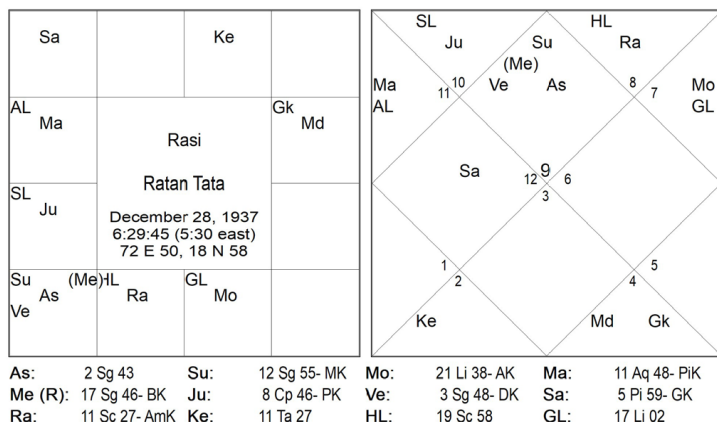

The identification of the problem in the last cycle is liberation, as this is our final goal determined by being the first nakshatra of Moola, giving a bird's-eye view.

A person with the planet in Moola understands the basic problem of life, and dissatisfaction is not anywhere else but lies in bondage related to these significations. Now, you can work out details in the rest of the eight nakshatras.

When you see an overview of a problem, you can decide to solve these impossible-looking issues; being happy seems like a big issue for people who are trying very hard to get it, because they are deeply engrossed in their problems. When you step back and see the root cause is an attachment in life, fear of failure, fear of losing loved ones, then only you pick up tasks which are impossible to everyone else.

You will see people who have conceptually solved problems, who have identified many problems on the mass level, will have a prominent Moola nakshatra. Getting rich or famous is a side effect of solving the bigger problems, problems which are seen on a conceptual level are solved by Mool Nakshatra.

The chart below belongs to Ratan Tata

A business that is solving the problem of a large number of people is seen by Moola Nakshatra, as instead of being part of the problem, they see an opportunity to solve the issues, and then money comes as a side effect of a solution to the problem.

The 9th lord Sun, placed in Moola nakshatra, demonstrates incredible devotion in identifying problems and making a mark. Everything else is a side effect of him solving a bigger problem for everyone else. Always remember, you don't get big by your education, status, or money, but by solving problems for people.

Root Cause - This Nakshatra has the ability to find the root cause of everything, leading them to take professions of a similar nature such as psychologists, healers, biotechnologists, DNA scientists. Whenever a planet is placed in Mula nakshatra, the primary objective is to find the root cause of any problem rather than ignoring it. It is easier for people to live with pain than to find answers, as most of the time, every human is so terrified by their own thoughts that they do not even want to find the root cause of their sufferings.

When the Sun goes in Mool nakshatra, a person questions the existence of the soul and the origin of the life force.

Remedies of Moola- Out of all three nakshatras of Ketu, remedies are suggested for kids born in Moola nakshatra. Different remedies are given in various classical texts; one remedy followed in North India involves getting water from 27 different sources, obtaining stones from various junctions, lighting diyas in 27 directions—all done to appease the goddess of the southwest direction.

Another remedy is to offer bamboo leaves with white clothes to a deity made of metal, resembling Nirriti Devi or a rakshasa. All this is done as this is the final nakshatra of Ketu, which stands for liberation, as this is part of the zodiac when the kingdom is getting transferred from Indra to Nirriti.

If a person does not pay attention to liberation now and is attached to things, then liberation will not be able to take place.

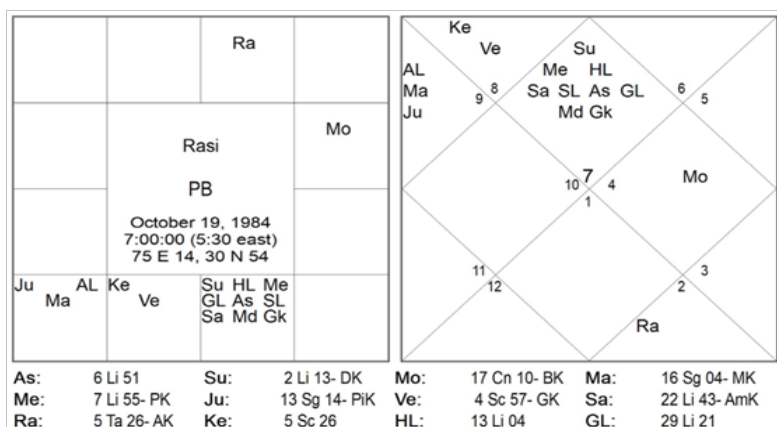

One of the remedies of Moola or Ketu nakshatras is to give them the feeling of gratitude and energy from various sources. A bangle is made of 7 different elements to be worn by natives, which will act as a medium for natives to express themselves properly.

One of the other places where Nirriti devi resides is at a crossroads in the southwest of the city/village, and there one offers her blue/black flowers, liquor, meat, and black clothes to ward off any evil of this nakshatra. I remember a remedy from Lal Kitab, which is given for Venus in the 12th house: bury blue flowers in a barren land at the time of sunset for 43 days.

This is a classical example of how different texts explain the same remedy in different forms. As Venus is the signifier of married life and relationships, when placed in the 12th house, it might create troubles. So offering blue flowers during a specific time period in the evening will ward off any negative effect.

If you ever see a planet in Mool nakshatra giving you troubles, you can always offer this remedy but add the significations of other planets with it as mentioned below. In every chart, the remedy is to be done differently for the effectiveness of the remedy, and we will explain this with the help of examples. For instance, when Jupiter is in Mool Nakshatra, then in your house, you will find out significations of Jupiter, such as the temple, books, and the bedroom of your ancestors, in the southwest direction.

Let me give you an example of a chart.

In the chart above, Jupiter is placed in Moola nakshatra and is the lord of the 6th and 3rd house, sitting with the 2nd lord Mars, who is in Purvashada nakshatra, as we will read in and use this particular chart as an example for Purvashada nakshatra.

In his house, every month, 20,000-25,000 rupees were spent on medicines for parents for the last several years, which was one of the major expenses of the month. Corrections related to Vastu were done, as his house was exactly opposite a temple, and due to the energy of Jupiter Moola, this was happening. When the room of parents was shifted from SW to South, things started changing for the better, as the first effect was the partition of the home, which was not getting finalized for several years but got finalized by mutual agreement.

Planets and directions are to be used every time when suggesting remedial measures. Performing remedies in the wrong direction is usually fruitless and without any meaning.

The Star of Extreme Potential-This is the same nakshatra in which Hanuman ji was born, but he also suffered from the same problem as every Mool nakshatra will be.

But even before I write further on Mool Nakshatra, let me explain to you a concept which I believe will help you understand the energy of the nakshatra further.

Hanuman ji is born with an extreme amount of energy and density, and is the son of Vayu. He looks like a perfect example here, as people who are born in Moola nakshatra are already suffering due to the dense quality of Moola. But when they get ample Vayu (Oxygen) in life, these natives are capable of performing anything in life, and the amount of power they get is unlimited.

This seems like the story of every Moola Nakshatra chart I have ever seen. When Moola Nakshatra natives get power in hand, these natives are unable to handle the power in the right manner and use their power in a destructive manner rather than being constructive, as the whole point of the energy of Moola nakshatra is to find the root cause of everything, and this is not liked by many people.

Even Hanuman ji was on the same path, but only when he decided to serve for the greater cause, his powers were unlimited due to ashta siddhis and Nav nidhis.

Similarly, when a native gets a planet in Mool nakshatra, the native is blessed with power. When it is used for useless destructive purposes, the native gets into grip like someone has cursed the native. Moola holds the curse of women of not getting along with family life, as these natives have different priorities in life.

Moola Nakshatra and Married life - One more pattern I could see with Moola Nakshatra is problems related to money and women in life, and in all the charts and examples, you will see these people have difficult married lives.

When Jupiter is in Mool nakshatra, then it means some ancestor in the family has issues related to marriage in the family. As these natives are so dedicated and busy in their work, these natives forget to enjoy life or pay attention to their family. Either these natives do not have any family, or extremely troubled married lives are seen for them. As we discussed earlier Moola nakshatra holds the curse of a woman and this is due to not giving importance to women that is why you can see in

Ramayana when Hanuman ji was given the task to find Maa Sita, it was one of the ways he could pay his karma towards women and all the obstacles he met on the way till Lankini were all women

Hanuman ji used all his intellect and ashta siddhis to cross these obstacles as these ashta siddhis teach us life lessons. Let me discuss one of them here. He could have wasted his time fighting the dangerous demon on the way whose name was Sursa.

Sursa had a boon that no one could cross this sea without going into her mouth, and she was standing in the way of Hanuman.

Hanuman tried increasing in size, and the same was replicated by Sursa. But soon, Hanuman ji realized that it is a waste of time to get into an argument with her, as her ego is increasing.

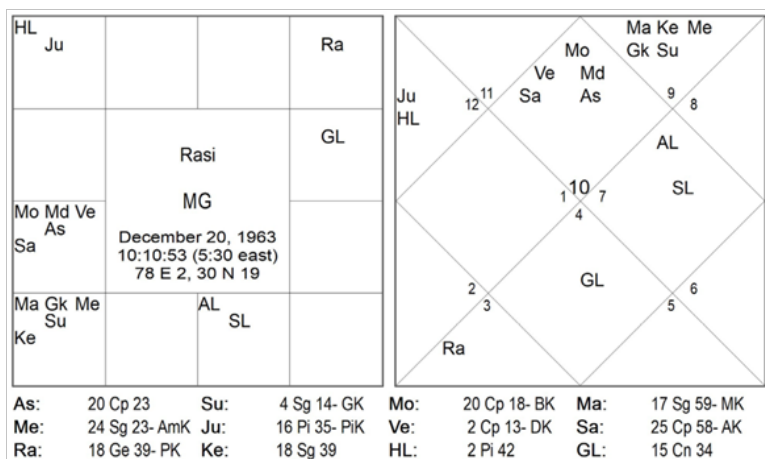

To satisfy her ego, he immediately went to a micro size, entered her mouth quickly, and returned. This satisfied the condition and also the ego of Sursa. Similarly, for Moola nakshatra natives, getting into an argument with women is useless, as they should understand the goal is to reach Lanka, not defeating Sursa.

When nature gives you a task, it will give you obstacles with it, and the people who are able to solve the puzzles become champions in life. Whenever you see Moola nakshatra natives, tell them to give respect to women and move on. Prayers to Shri Hanuman and learning the breathing patterns help these natives to fly high in life.

Ironically, Ratan Tata faced a similar issue in West Bengal while establishing the Car Manufacturing plant of TATA in West Bengal. Although the government was in favor, the leader of the opposition was Mamta Banerjee, and even after repeated negotiations, Tata had to leave West Bengal and shift the complete plant to Gujarat.

Ratan Tata also had Shukra in Moola nakshatra, which made things extremely difficult for him, and married life was not an option as he was busy with work.

In a female native's chart, as seen in one of the examples with a girl having Mars in Moola nakshatra, the native had problems even with her own siblings and relatives related to sexual issues.

The chart above belongs to a female, and she had everything with her. But Sun, being in Moola nakshatra, has to give results. The 8th house ruler is Sun, which signifies inheritance, in-laws, and is placed in the 12th house of foreign. Her husband one day decided to leave her for some young girl.

She didn't resist or fight, as she was in India with two grown-up kids. However, whenever any major planet, such as the Sun, Moon, or the Ascendant lord, goes in Moola nakshatra, it creates similar situations with opposite-sex natives.

Moola and Destruction - As we understand the energy of Moola, it is the intense energy of pulling everything apart in front of you so that you don't get attached to anything in your life. Still, once you learn the lesson of detachment and discipline in life, you will get everything related to the house where this nakshatra is placed.

Still, at that point in time, you will not be attached to the significance of it, as you have seen so much pain already in your life related to the implications of Moola

19th Nakshatra - Moola

1st Pada - Sagittarius Rashi - Aries Navamsa

Lord Shiva said to Maa Parvati, there lived a person named Ram Das who was a Kayasta and lived in the city of Ayodhya, and he had a wife whose name was Devika. Ram Das was involved in the daily worship of Lord Vishnu and was a devotee of Brahmins. His wife was very devoted to Ram Das and was involved in serving her husband.

There was a Brahmin friend of Ram Das who was involved in selling elephants and horses, and one day that Brahmin friend came to the house of Ram Das and lived with him for 4 months (chaturmas). The Brahmin friend kept 400 Tolas of gold in the house of Ram Das and went for a Tirth Yatra in Varanasi for a Holi Bath in Kashi. The Brahmin friend left his abode, and went on a long journey. Ram Das faced a lot of hurdles of resources and faced poverty. After facing such a situation, Ram Das used the gold of his Brahmin friend, and after some time, both Ram Das and his wife Devika passed away. As both Ram Das and his wife left their abode in Ayodhya, they went to heaven and lived in the Brahmlok for 90 thousand years and enjoyed happiness.

Due to using the gold of his Brahmin friend, upon being reincarnated on earth, Ram Das could not beget any children.

The remedial part is now being said by Mahakaal - the native has to donate 1/6th portion of his wealth along with chanting of the “Gayatri,” “Tryambakam Yajamahe,” and “Jata Ved” mantras 1 Lakh times. Homa has to be done amounting to 1/10th part of Jaap, Tarpan has to be done amounting to 1/10th part of Homa, and Marjan has to be performed amounting to 1/10th part of Tarpan. Also, an idol has to be made of 40 Tolas gold of the Brahmin friend, and the Puja has to be performed with proper Vidhi and has to be offered to the Brahmin. Donation of a cow also has to be done along with gold ornaments and clothes. A bull along with a cow of 10 colours has to be donated as well. Doing so, the problems of lineage/children will be cured, as well as all the diseases will be cured, and native will beget children and attain a long life - there is no doubt about it.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiv starts the story with Ram Das, as the Navamsa is of Aries in which the Sun is exalted, we can see why the name was used - Aries Navamsa coming from Sagittarius shows good moral values as well as new initiations of Principles - such a person can start a new religion or make new rules for the family if prominent planets go in this nakshatra. Then Mahakaal says that he was devoted and did puja of Lord Vishnu, and this can be seen as Aries is the 5th Navamsa coming from Sagittarius showing daily involvement in Puja and Strong Faith in Religion and Principles, and that would be the Prime focus of the Native. Similarly, from Aries - Sagittarius is again the 9th house which shows the same confirmation of doing Puja and being a Devotee of Lord Vishnu (Sagittarius).

The story then goes to the wife of Ram Das and her devotion towards him, and this can be seen as the 5th Navamsa (11th from the 7th house - which shows the fulfillment of desires of the wife), becomes the Navamsa Lagna.

Mahakaal then says that the Brahmin friend left gold and went on Yatra- during that time gold was a valuable resource similar to money in today's world. In this context, it's explained that the Brahmin friend lived for 4 months and gave 400 Tolas, both of which are indicating towards the 4th house where Jupiter, the Karaka of Gold(Wealth), is exalted.

A Brahmin (Jupiter) living in the native's home also shows the same. Then, as Ram used the Gold of Brahmin due to trouble, he started facing issues with a child in the next life. As Aries is the Rashi of Survival and the need for the Gold was used in the exact situation but it was morally wrong to do this.

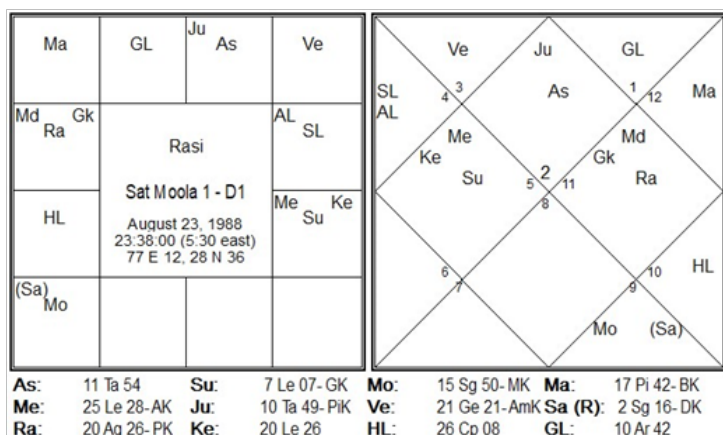

The Curse in this Nakshatra is with Jupiter as the Rashi is Sagittarius and goes in the 5th Navamsa showing that in a crisis, the native will use the resources of others which will be morally wrong. The 5th Navamsa being Aries shows an adrenaline rush in their brain in an emergency where the native does not care about principles and just focuses on completion of work however possible, which is the meaning of the story as said by Lord Shiva. Planets in this nakshatra will have to face tests related to one's Principles, and it would be due to crises. Such as Venus in Moola 1st Pada; there will be Money-related crises in which the native may use the Money of Sibling (3rd house), or Mother (4th house), without informing them, which will turn into a Curse and cause troubles later on.

Then Mahakaal explains the remedial portion- 1/6th donation refers to the 6th house, which shows giving away the debt of the native, and later on 1/10th portion means that the native has to perform the karma by himself (Saturn - Physical hard work) by performing the Havan, Tarpan, and Marjan. Making an Idol of Gold symbolizes giving back the taken resources to its respective owner - which is the remedy for this nakshatra. Whatever resources used before should be donated back to the rightful owner such as Money taken from Mother should be given back- if in any case it is not possible then the same donation can be made to any motherly figure especially someone who is in Distress.

Example:

Rasi:

During a crisis that he wasn't able to handle, he got fired from his job suddenly at the end of 2018.

The native got involved in a betting app and became addicted, affecting him mentally, and career-wise, he was going down.

After overcoming the addiction, he had doubts about what kind of job he should pursue, as he was looking for a data analytics-related field. However, his karma was such that due to his misadventure in the betting app, opportunities were not favoring him. Why? Simply because, while being involved in the betting app, he neglected responsibilities towards family and misbehaved with in-laws. As a result, a crisis arose, compelling him to start anew—Saturn in Aries Navamsa.

Navamsa:

In Navamsa, Saturn is in Lagna, so his whole life is now turned upside down, and his married life is troubled as his wife got to know about some affair. This Nakshatra Pada is exposing him to the core, and nevertheless, the key theme is to create trouble in marriage. Venus+Rahu in Lagna of D9 also contributed negatively, escalating the issue.

This chart is a classical example of how you can mess up your life even if the addiction doesn't seem significant, but one bubble bursts, and everything comes falling.

Moola Nakshatra

2nd Pada: Sagittarius Rashi - Taurus Navamsa:

Lord Shiva said to Maa Parvati that there was a city named Raghav, at a distance of 3 Yojans west from Ayodhya where a lot of people lived together. In the city, there lived a Brahmin named Yog Sharma. The name of his wife was Gunaja, who was very beautiful and famous in the City of Raghav. Yog Sharma was a very knowledgeable Brahmin who used to perform all the rituals in the Temple (Purohit). He was very wealthy but was a miser as he did not spend money and only focused on hoarding it. He used the donations given in the Temple for his daily expenses and personal use. His younger brother was involved in business activities, and both Yog Sharma and his brother had a good relationship in their initial years, but later on, their relationship became sour due to fights.

The reason for the fights was the division of wealth between them, in which his younger brother passed away, and eventually, Yog Sharma gave all his wealth and gold to his own son but did not donate anything to anyone. After some time, Yog Sharma also passed away. Upon being reincarnated as various animals, he eventually got the Yoni of a Human. He was inclined towards the Scriptures and Spirituality, and was unable to beget children and was always suffering from some diseases and a lot of poverty issues, and always had to ask for donations (Beggar).

Now Lord Shiva explains the remedies for the sins of his past life: Listening to the Harivansh Puran, performing the Puja of Mahakaal, and Pind daan should be done on Amavasya. Donation of Cows and the Jaap of the Shadakshar Mantra of Shiv Ji has to be done 10 Lakh times. In a square-shaped Kund, perform Havan with Til, Rice, and Grains. A statue of his brother should be made of 40 Tola of Gold, and Puja should be done with proper rituals along with these Mantras -

Om Namaha Savitre Devaye Ved Vedang Paragaha.

Purva Janma Krutam Sarvam Mama Papam Vyapohatu

Tadartham gauramaya datta sadhvibhrutay te namah.

After doing puja in this manner, donate the idol to the Brahmin. By performing this ritual, the problems of children will be solved, and children will be born after that.

Deeper Meaning

Mahakaal starts by saying that the name of the city was Raghav, which is another name for Lord Rama. This can be seen as Leo is the 4th house of home from Taurus Navamsa. The name of the Brahmin (Sagittarius) was Yog Sharma. Yog means Union - as it is Taurus Navamsa, and a lot of people lived together in the same city, as mentioned. This implies that Yog Sharma knew the people very well there, and all trusted him a lot. The name of his wife was Gunaja, which means someone who has high moral standards. This is due to the fact that the Rashi is coming from Sagittarius to Taurus (Family of High Morals).

Sagittarius is the sign of the Temple, and as it goes in Taurus Navamsa - this shows the resource of the person will come through the Temple itself. This is mentioned as Yog Sharma was a Purohit. Then Mahakaal says that he was a miser and used all wealth for himself as it is the 6th navamsa, which is rising, and the 6th navamsa being Taurus shows a lot of nitpicking using resources (Money/Gold, etc.), which made him very calculative regarding money matters. Here the resources are used for selfish reasons, which later causes a lot of disputes among the family members - as Mahakaal says that his relationship with his brother got spoiled due to the Division of Wealth.

Practically when looking at charts, the resource will be different depending on the house, but here the karma of the native will be related to the use of resources in an unjust way - the donations of Temples should be given back to society or be used for the purposes of the temple, but in this case, none of it was done. Here, due to this, the native will get a debt of resources and have to serve the respective family member/person in this life. Such as Saturn in this nakshatra, the native has to help the kid of his servant and give something back. Here, due to money/resources, the principles (Sagittarius) are getting corrupted (6th Navamsa) and used in a wrong way - this is a choice the native makes, as here the native already has money but still decides to hoard and not give back, whereas in the previous Nakshatra, it was purely due to survival instincts.

The remedial part would be to mend family/close relations and accept your faults and correct them - after doing so, help your family members out accordingly. Mahakaal also explains that a statue of Brother has to be made which implies that there were mistakes made with family/close members, and that karma has to be corrected. Since the energy is coming from Sagittarius and it is the 6th Navamsa - Donation to Cows and Helping animals are also other remedies for this Nakshatra.

Rasi:

In the above chart, the Sun is in Moola Nakshatra Pada 2 and is the ruler of the 10th house.

48 / Predict Using Nakshatra Padas Part-3

The Sun is in the 2nd house along with Mercury (currency) and Ketu, indicating that something was done to hide things in the 8th house. This is placed with the 8th lord Mercury, whereas in the 8th house, Rahu is placed with Gulika.

This revelation came out after a lot of digging, as this person, no matter how many houses he has changed, is not able to live peacefully, as something or the other happens, or the circumstances become such that they have to leave the place, and now he is tired of doing it again and again.

In Navamsa, you can see that the combination is happening in the 4th house - Sun in Taurus Navamsa, and also, he is facing issues with children as well.

Basically, the karma (being the 10th lord) is now taken the wrong way of acquiring resources and not letting the distribution take place fairly.

Whenever the 4th lord is in 8th from itself as well as in the 8th rashi in Navamsa, like in this case, Saturn is in Virgo in D1 as well as D9, so the native's intentions will not be pure and questionable. Since it falls in the 11th Navamsa, the desire is getting endless but leading to troubles in progeny.

Moola Nakshatra:

3rd Pada: Sagittarius Rashi - Gemini Navamsa:

Lord Shiva said to Maa Parvati, on the North Bank of the Sarayu River, there was a City named Mangalpur where lived a Kshatriya who used to consume meat and alcohol. The name of the Kshatriya was Bhavsen, and the name of his wife was Manohara. Apart from the consumption of meat, the Kshatriya also indulged in Prostitution and gambling and was skimpy in Nature, along with being Famous among thieves. The Kshatriya used to steal daily and then spend it. After several decades, the Kshatriya passed away due to a Snake Bite, from where he went to Hell.

Upon being reincarnated, the Kshatriya eventually was born into a very well-respected family. Due to his donations from his previous life, he became Rich. Due to alcohol consumption, the Kshatriya used to suffer from fever. In his past life, due to overindulgence in Prostitution, his Children passed away in this life. Due to Gambling addictions from his past life, he used to face mental disturbance and constant boredom.

Lord Shiva explains the remedial part now - The donation of 1/6th portion of his wealth is to be used for doing good deeds. Construction of wells, ponds, etc. has to be done on the roads as well, and the Gayatri Mool Mantra Jaap has to be done one lakh times. Then the Dashansh Havan, Tarpan, and Marjan have to be done, and a donation of Cow of 10 colours has to be done. Doing this removes vandhyatva (infertility) of a woman, and she will beget a son; even a mritavasta woman gets an immortal son, and all diseases will be cured.

Deeper Meaning:

Here Shiva mentions the story of a Kshatriya who did not follow principles and regularly broke them by consuming meat and alcohol. Being a Kshatriya, one should have good control over bodily needs, but the Kshatriya didn't follow the same. As Gemini is a Rashi which can show Selfishness - all the Principles and Beliefs of the native concerned only himself, due to which he did not perform his Duty. Gemini is a Rashi of Trader and not Kshatriya; hence, the Karam in this nakshatra is that one would not perform the duty assigned to them and instead do something which is devastating for the native and his family (Wrong Decisions) due to bodily needs and impulses.

The name of the Kshatriya was also Bhavsen as Bhav means feeling, which implies one who does actions based on Emotions and not Logic. As the Rashi of Mercury rules over the 5 senses, one has to control them on a daily basis so as to not fall from one's own Principles, which happened in this case as Bhavsen engaged in all activities starting from alcohol to prostitution and then even stealing - all these were done by Bhavsen, and he did not fulfill his duties in his life. Similarly, this Nakshatra shows that one will not take responsibility for the tasks they are given and then indulge in distractions which will cause troubles in the person's life later on. Further, as it is the 7th Navamsa, the main focus here became the external bodily enjoyments and not focusing on one's Karma. The signification will differ in each chart, such as Sun in the 6th house in this Nakshatra; the native will not take care of his father or will not have a good connection with him, due to which later on he will face problems with seniors in his job and also authority-related problems.

As there were multiple implications of not following one's duties in the next life, Mahakaal mentioned multiple issues as well starting with Diseases, Mental issues, and Children passing away. One has to learn to follow their Principles from a young age hence a Guru is needed for such a person. Mercury being the Rashi of a Kid is not able to look at the bigger picture, and hence such

The remedy given by Bhagwan Shiva here is construction - which requires a lot of patience and efforts to get it done completely with perfection, and this is symbolic as such natives also should work with patience to achieve the goal they are aspiring to and learn to bear a lot of pressure instead of just enjoying on a daily basis.

The Jaap of Gayatri Moola Mantra is given due to Navamsa of Mercury rising and the 3rd house being Leo which is the karaka of Morality, Discipline, and making sacrifices for common people.

Rasi:

[illegible]

The native was not getting married as the prospects used to come, but something unusual would happen in the end & things would not materialize.

Upon digging further, it was found that the native's grandfather would usually take away the land of others and play with their emotions when it came to making payments, as he would keep delaying it or threaten them, given his very influential position.

Now, coincidentally, Rahu is also the co-lord of the 7th house of marriage and relationships, so in this life, he was often misunderstood by his seniors as well. Because of this, he was denied promotion even after a great performance, and his boss would usually make false promises of sending him for offsite work.

You can see how the nakshatra pada story is clearly getting manifested here.

Mercury rules the Lagna and 4th house and is also conjunct with Venus and the Sun. The native's married life is disturbed simply because he is trying to take control of his wife's emotions and is not letting her spend freely.

This led to separation and physical fights, as what was deemed impossible was that the wife wanted to take separation, and one thing led to another, eventually leading to this situation.

As Lord Shiva says that Mercury rules over the 5 senses, one has to control it on a daily basis so as not to fall from one's own principles, which happened in this case as Bhavsen did all the activities starting from alcohol to prostitution and even stealing - all the immoral activities were done by Bhavsen, and he did not fulfill his duties in his life, and you can see clearly where the miserly trait is coming from as he is stealing the happiness of the wife and taking advantage of her generosity.

In the navamsa chart, you can see that Moon(emotions) along with Mercury in Gemini navamsa, so the voice is being suppressed, and the wife is being tortured psychologically (D9 - Spouse chart so keep that in mind). Sun-Sat in a relationship placed in the 7th house is destroying the marriage on account of the miserly nature.

Moola Nakshatra 4th Pada:

Sagittarius Rashi - Cancer Navamsa

Lord Shiva said to Maa Parvati, there was a very famous city named Hedambpur in the Center of the country. There lived a Saltmaker who had special skills, and he used to make Salt daily and then sell it. His wife eventually begot three sons. He had so many resources like Money, Gold, Grain, Bulls, Cows, Goats, Buffaloes, and all other kinds of wealth. His elder son indulged in Prostitution. One night, Saltmaker's wife and two oxen fell down into the well of the Salt, but even after hearing this news, the Saltmaker did not go to help his own wife and Oxen, due to which all three of them passed away, and the next morning they were brought out of the well. After a long time, the Saltmaker also passed away due to old age.

Upon being reincarnated (rebirth), he eventually got the Yoni of a Human and was born in a developed Country. Because of his past life Karma, he got wealth, got a good cultural education, and was very knowledgeable. He eventually was able to Beget a Daughter.

Due to his death in the Previous life being in river Ganga, he got a lot of wealth. But as he did not save his own Wife in his past life, his wife was only giving birth to Daughters. As two oxen fell and passed away in the well - he is unable to beget a child, especially a Son in this life. Due to his indulgence with other women, he is suffering from various diseases.

Lord Shiva now says the remedies - First of all Donation of $\frac{1}{8}$ portion of his wealth to Brahmins. Then 1 Lakh Gayatri Jaap has to be performed by Brahmins. With the Dashansh Havan, Tarpan, and Marjan. Also, a gold idol of Lakshmi has to be made of 20 Tolas gold along with 2 oxen made from 40 Tola Silver. Puja has to be done with proper vidhi and the mantras below -

Aum Laxmi Devi Mahalaxmi Kamaley Sarva Sidhhidey
Mam Purvakritam Paapam Tatkshmsva Dayanidhey

After the Puja, the idol of the Oxen and Maa Lakshmi has to be offered to the Brahmin and then a donation of cows with Gold Horns and clothes has to be done.

Deeper Meaning

Mahakaal starts off with the story taking place in the center of the city, which can be seen by Libra in the 4th house from Cancer. Here the story is of the Saltmaker, as Salt is used in our daily life and is a very essential ingredient that is needed everywhere, but to make salt one has to do a lot of physical hard work, we can see that as Aries goes in the 10th house where Saturn is debilitated. But due to this hard work, the family of the native has gotten all kinds of Royalty and Wealth (2nd house Leo).

Then Mahakal says that the Son was indulged in wrong deeds. When the saltmaker's wife and oxen fell in the well, he did not help in spite of knowing this - this is because the Saltmaker was too focused on himself and he did not bear the responsibilities of Family as otherwise if he would have guided his Son. As this Pada goes in the Cancer navamsa, which is the 8th navamsa, it shows chronic troubles (8th house) of Family and Close members (Cancer) due to the native's own fixed Principles (Sagittarius) and focus. Instead of focusing on his work alone, the native had to accept the responsibilities of the family - this also shows a lack of emotions as Cancer goes in the 8th Navamsa from Sagittarius.

The curse in this nakshatra is to see to whom you are not able to give time and bear the responsibilities and make necessary changes to help them out. Such as Venus being in this Nakshatra- due to wealth you will not be able to give time to the family in order to fix the situation. Native has to transform himself and bear responsibilities of both his own and the family of in-laws.

Due to his special talent, the Saltmaker in his next life did get a good education and was able to beget children but due to his misdeeds of not taking on the responsibilities of the family, he was not able to beget a Son and was suffering from diseases - the consequences of this nakshatra is on the more chronic side as it is the 8th navamsa which can cause issues on both mental and physical levels that are hard to solve, and one has to go through a lot of transformations to solve them.

He was also involved in an extra-marital relationship, and now the karma has come into life in such a way that the children are not able to do well in their studies, and he is not able to take care of them at the same time. His wife is also remaining sick because of which he is being forced to look after the responsibilities on the home front as well.

Navansh:

In the navamsa chart, Jupiter is placed in the 11th house (Cancer rasi), and the dispositor Moon in Libra, so the person he was involved with is now planning to go public with allegations, and his sibling is also telling him to sell one of the ancestral properties and split the amount

A sudden burst of events has taken place in his life, forcing him to look into the relationships in an organized way.

In the next chart, the Moon is in Moola Nakshatra Pada 4. The native is an American gambling czar, the founder of Harrah's Casinos in Reno and Lake Tahoe, NV, the world's second-largest gambling operation. Harrah's is the only casino listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Moon aspecting the 8th house while the dispositor being Jupiter, and also the ruler of 5th and 2nd placed in the 12th with Ketu, shows problems in childbirth as she adopted a child after being childless for 12 years.

She is a 4-time divorcee, as mentioned earlier that Moola Nakshatra has problems related to money and marriage in life, and in all the charts and examples, you will see these people have difficult married life.

PURVASHADA

Purvashada Nakshatra

Water of the Sense

Once you have dug deep into the earth, you need to start again, and to restart life, the first thing you will require is water, as life always begins with water. This is the first quality of Purvashada nakshatra, providing support for the spiritual earth given by Moola nakshatra.

Apa, the goddess of water and the wife of Varuna, rules this nakshatra. It is a nakshatra of intense emotions for progress in life, just as in Moola nakshatra where you were searching for the cause of everything. Once you have that knowledge, you are ready for the nectar of Apa. Purvashada nakshatra represents water in the sense of providing guidance from ancestors and Guru to progress in life.

Purvashada & Family Traditions- This nakshatra is considered an invincible one in the zodiac, but what has not been explained by any scholar is whom to win against, what the battle entails, and who ends up on the losing side. Purvashada nakshatra is not about winning or losing but understanding the value system and knowledge passed on by ancestors, Gurus, and family.

When you follow the path of Dharma, you are likely to face many obstacles. There will be times when you wonder why you need to follow certain traditions, as the words of a Guru or father are not for short-term effects but for long-term goals. That is why when a planet is placed in Purvashada nakshatra, initially, it will create a loss; this planet represents extreme idealism.

Imagine a battleground with numerous principles and ideals, and suddenly you start losing the war. The moment this happens, you might consider cheating for a short-term effect. However, in the bigger picture, you will lose everything when you compromise your morals and ideals.

It always reminded me of Karan and Arjun in the Mahabharata war. When Karan was busy fixing the wheel of his chariot, he was killed by Arjun.

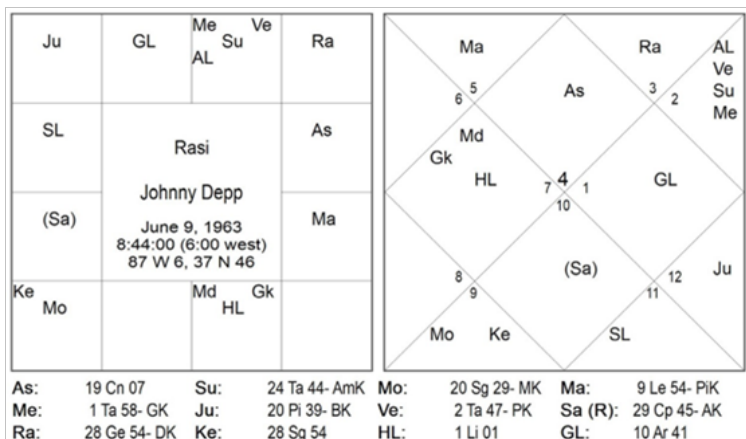

There is no right or wrong in this battle, as whenever you ask this question to yourself, you will have divided opinions on who was right.

Even if you are unsure about fighting and court cases, only in extreme cases do natives pick up swords and get ready to fight with full strength.

Let us look at the case of Hollywood actor Johnny Depp.

Rasi:

When the case was ongoing, I wrote a blog explaining why he was going to win the case, as his chart combinations and the dasa he was running were clear indications of victory.

He has the Moon in the 6th house in Purvashada Nakshatra, and as his ascendant lord is also the Moon, this nakshatra holds significant prominence in his chart. He was fighting for physical assault (Lagna), which had happened to him. Everyone was in two minds over the case, facing a moral dilemma due to the relationship between the two. Finally, even when he won the case, he refused to take any compensation amount from Amber Heard.

The trust of Purvashada - Purvashada is the process to win, as sometimes in your life when you are on a path to do something big—something which you have never done before—you have to trust your guide, mentor, Guru, and follow them blindly. Only people who were able to follow their mentors are able to reach a certain stage in life.

This is a nakshatra of “no brainer” as when your logical brain starts working you start questioning the process of winning, It was the logic of Arjun just before the battlefield that even Shri Krishna has to say “You are talking like wise learned men” as when you have to escape a situation your brain will give you every single logic to not follow the guidelines.

While if you trust your Gurus, mentors, and elders, you will follow them blindly, as these people know the end result of a process is what they require. People with afflicted Purvashada nakshatra, such as Rahu, Saturn in Purvashada, or Purvashada placement in 6/8/12, that will be Cancer, Taurus, and Capricorn, get problems related to guidance in their life.

Planets in Purvashada have trust-related issues, and this is due to the reasons of their past life cycles. While benefics in this particular nakshatra give a strong sense in relation to the ideology of what you believe in, you will see in life that you only lose battles when you don't believe in something completely.

As one of the famous sayings goes, you don't get what you deserve but what you believe. At present, your current relationship, salary, and status are not what you think you deserve, but what you truly believe in regarding your worth. Here, I would like to add the narrative of a clan who truly believes themselves to be invincible. Whether it is Afghans or Sikhs, their belief system in their own selves has led them to be invincible warriors over a period of time.

When you constantly sow the seed of greatness in any person and tell them they can't be defeated, personalities like those that exist in Afghans and Sikhs emerge over time. Their personality is a result of long generational nourishment to their own belief system and society.

If you ever wish to destroy any person, constantly explain to them that they are not in the right place and they don't deserve this, and sooner or later, their belief system will have enough poison placed in it that these natives will not grow further. It is important for you to understand this concept, as this concept can change your whole life – Purvashada nakshatra is called the Invincible star – The Star of Victory.

What is Victory? How can this Star ensure Victory?

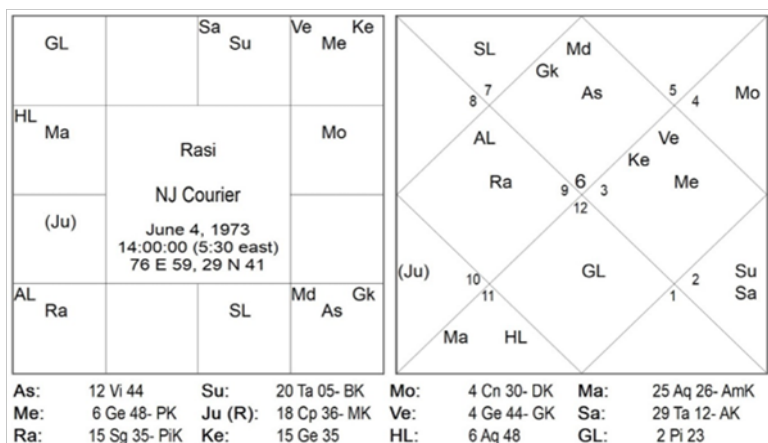

What is so special about this star that ensures victory? The answer to this question is the conditioning of your belief system. I would recommend all of my readers to please read my book “Rituals of a Happy Soul,” as this will help you understand the deeper part of your own self and realize that you deserve much more in life, as your cosmic heredity has abundance for you. But it is only your blockages that do not let you lead a happy life

Let’s examine the life patterns of some of the natives and how their mental conditioning changed their lives.

Example:

Rasi:

The chart above belongs to a businessman who was doing well in his life, and his business was running smoothly. However, the mahadasha of Rahu entered the life of this native. He was dealing with a turnover in crores, and everything was based on trust in the company.

Rahu in Purvashada nakshatra, the trust has to be broken and see the nakshatra dispositor of Rahu is Shukra placed in the 10th house along with Mercury and Ketu,

One day the company decided to not pay for the services, suddenly creating a situation for the native to go bankrupt and to come to a position where native is not able to even pay school fees for kids.

Rahu is placed in a situation where everything is based on emotions, and it has to create havoc for natives. It is only the conditioning of the brain, as Rahu is an illusion that thinks it can expand and never fail. However, when dealing in the nakshatra of Purvashada, where the deity is water, the native fails badly in life due to deception.

Purvashada is a merciless nakshatra that operates on principles, and Rahu is unable to follow this, creating a situation of failures. Success and victory only come to those in this nakshatra who follow principles, are ready to work hard, and do not overflow or get carried away with emotions.

This water is emotional but highly programmed water used for positive reinforcement, never compromising on principles. Whenever any cruel or malefic planet goes into Purvashada nakshatra, never take the words of seniors for granted, as they are not going to bend rules for you. Neither do benefic planets in Purvashada let the native back down from what they think is right.

Shukra in Purvashada, in the dasa of Rahu-Venus (as the significator of relationships) is placed in Purvashada nakshatra. Even after a lot of resistance, she was married to the person she was willing.

As when you are looking at any chart, you should be able to decipher the result of the planets placed in this nakshatra, and explain the outcome of any dasa and what to expect from it.

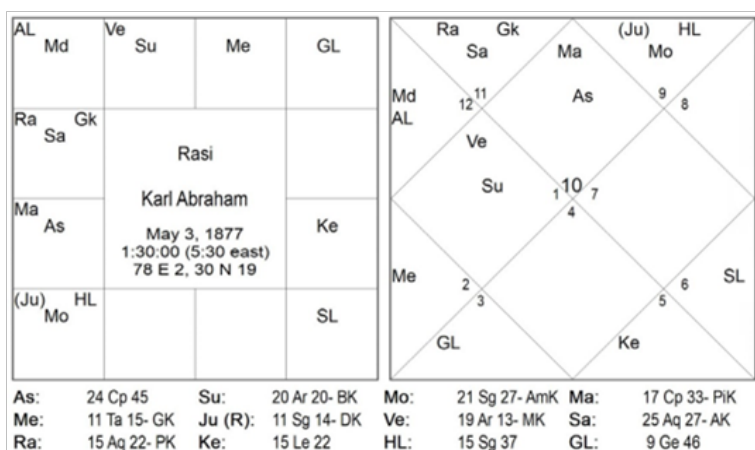

This is the nakshatra of learning, continuously improving your self and your standards. Any particular planet in this nakshatra is always troubled as the healing properties of water are trying to heal the planet and give birth to something new. All three nakshatras of Venus are in fiery signs - Bharani in Aries, Purva Phalguni in Leo, and Purvashada in Sagittarius, as only in fiery signs can life start.

Purvashada forces continuous learning to a planet placed in this star. The work of this star is to polish you and continuously raise your conscious level to be present in the moment. Planets in this particular nakshatra cannot sit with peace as the energy is continuously raising temperature to refine the nature of planets.

Example:

Rasi:

The chart above belongs to Karl Abraham, who was a Psychoanalyst—a perfect profession for someone born with Moon in Purvashada nakshatra, as this nakshatra has the capability to produce great thinkers, teachers, philanthropists, and strategists, as we discussed earlier in this chapter.

Moon, being the 7th lord in the chart, is placed in the 12th house with the 12th lord, and he took up the role of infant sexuality in character development and mental illness. The 7th lord represents the house of sexual desires when combined with another house related to bedroom pleasures. However, being in the nakshatra of Purvashada, these people need to think beyond mere physical development and consider how things are affecting human beings on various levels.

It is the contribution of Purvashada natives to society that they analyze everything in such detail. Being in the 7th navamsa of the sign and the 3rd pada of Purvashada, which is Libra, again emphasizes relationships and how one reacts in this world. Being the 10th house of his birth chart, this influenced his choice of this profession.

If you ever wish to see people who have raised the standard of the whole field through their hard work and research, not accepting half-truths but constantly working hard and raising the level of the whole group, that is Purvashada nakshatra prominence playing its role.

You can always use the nakshatras on the house cusp, as explained in the introduction.

Even other conditions such as hysteria and trauma were part of his research; child sexual abuse is a major cause of such problems in native's life. But what we will look into further is, this nakshatra is deeply associated with such problems when malefics occupy the nakshatra of Purvashada, and that is why this nakshatra carries the curse of a Devi.

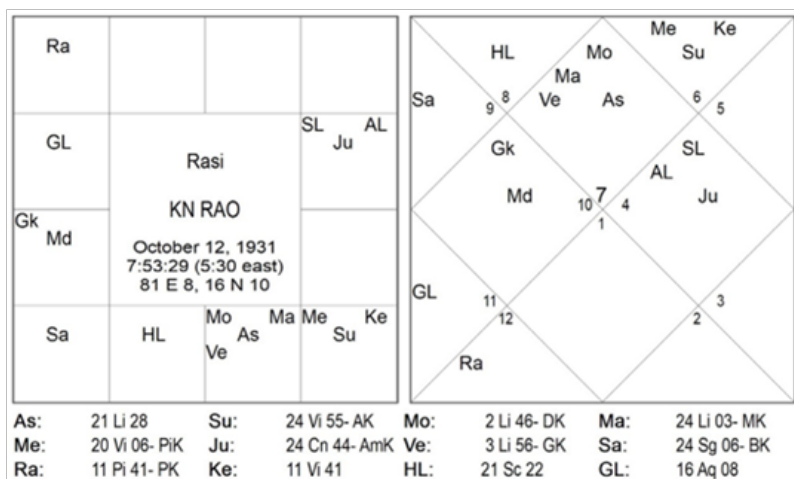

The diseases related to this nakshatra are purely based on emotional distress and are almost the chart, and only through the devotion (bhakti) of Devi can they be mitigated.

One more prominent example of such a kind of disease is Shri K.N Rao when he was bedridden and not able to walk. It was only due to the Jaap of Vishnu sahastranaam that he was able to recover.

Example:

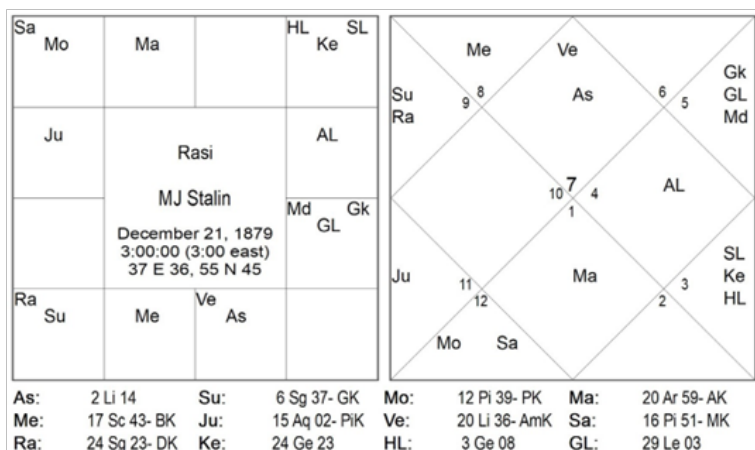

Rasi:

The 3rd house represents mobility, and Sagittarius represents thighs in the body. The significator of legs, Saturn, is placed in Purvashada nakshatra. It was the problem in his thighs due to which he was unable to walk and got bedridden, but he has written in many of his books how chanting Vishnushastranaam miraculously got him recovered.

Example:

Rasi:

The chart above belongs to Joseph Stalin, who led the Soviet Union from 1922-1952 and implemented his own policies from Marxism to Stalinism. Sun is in Moola nakshatra, and during the dasa of Sun, he was busy making major changes and economic reforms in the country in a forceful manner. It was during the antar of Rahu, placed in Purvashada nakshatra, that it became a curse for the whole country due to a disrupted food supply chain, particularly affecting women in Soviet Russia in 1930-1933.

The dasa of Sun is for making policies, and this affects everyone who is under you. Being the ruler of the country, the effect was massive on everyone. It was the Dasa of Shukra in 1922 when Stalin came to power; Venus is in the nakshatra of Vishaka—the star of purpose. The nakshatra dispositor is well placed in the 5th house of power, giving him control over the Soviet Union. However, look at the nakshatra dispositor of Sun, which is Ketu placed in the 9th house of making long-term decisions and policies, resulting in policies being made in a haphazard manner by destroying everything and then implementing a new system in place.

The antar of Rahu, which is placed in Purvashada nakshatra, has its dispositor placed in lagna. Here, I would like to take a moment and explain one very important dictum, “If the dasa of the planet runs whose nakshatra or Rasi dispositor is placed in lagna, then it is going to be a dasa that you will remember for life.”

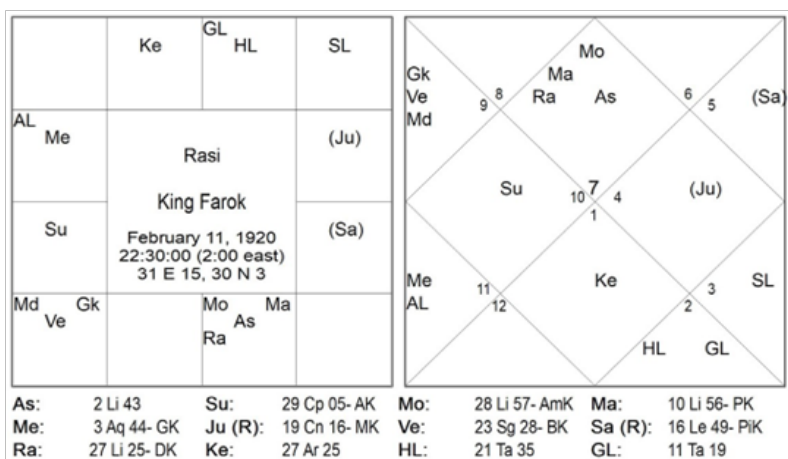

Nakshatra dispositor, although well-placed in lagna, is badly afflicted by the sight of Mars and Ketu. Jupiter gave a saving grace for him to survive that period and continue as a ruler. Also, not to forget that Shukra, being the 8th lord, is one of the transformative periods to be brought into the native’s life. You can also see the condition of Venus is bad, as his wife died of typhus.

Authority & Principles - Every Nakshatra is a light source, but how you are going to use this electrical outlet depends on the planet. When a planet is placed in this nakshatra, a manifestation of the shakti of the nakshatra happens in life.

Purvashada, where the Shakti is to heal you as Apas, is considered best for healing abilities. When this nakshatra is afflicted, it results in diseases that can’t be cured. The diseases can be on a mental, physical, or material level, but malefics in this nakshatra, such as Saturn, Rahu, Mars, can't use the energy of healing; instead, they use it for destructive purposes.

Let us look at a very interesting chart. This chart has its Shukra placed in Purvashada Nakshatra, but not alone. Shukra is alongside Gulika and Mandi, with Mandi placed in the same nakshatra of Purvashada. What is so special in the next chart is that the native was born into a royal family. There has to be a reason and way to differentiate such charts. Whenever you see a special chart, there will be a special placement as well. Nothing in this world works without the synchronicity of a planet. The nakshatra dispositor of Moon is Jupiter placed in the 10th house, exalted and retrograde.

This is a classic example of how retrograde planets work. Even though he was born with a status shown by an exalted Jupiter, in the 10th house of the Zodiac, Jupiter is debilitated, which means wisdom will not dawn upon him. As he grew older, even with such an exalted Jupiter, he was not able to carry the legacy of his family and had to go into exile. He was unable to clear the entrance test of many universities, even after getting the best teachers for home study.

Venus in the 3rd house, placed with Mandi, is one of the classical combinations of bisexuality when combined with Mandi and Gulika. This king was involved in several such parties and used to visit brothels even before the age of 18 with another prince in England.

Dasa Effect - He ran the dasa of Saturn-Venus between 1947-1950. On 17th November 1948, he divorced his wife during the ongoing war with Israel. Also, his behavior and relations with his wife were full of insults and demeaning, resulting in the loss of relationships.

Venus, being the ascendant lord and 8th lord of sexuality/inheritance in the chart, spoiled both significations of his life. From a young charming prince, he became so fat that he could not get his belly behind the steering wheel of his sports car.

He was so fond of rich food that he had no control over his desires for food. Throughout his life, he achieved nothing, indulging in gambling and spending his fortune on cars, food, and women.

20th Nakshatra: Purva Ashada:

1st Pada: Sagittarius Rashi - Leo Navamsa:

Lord Shiva said to Maa Parvati, there lived a

Brahmin named Dhaneshwar Sharma in Vasishttha Ashram in the city of Ayodhyapuri. The Brahmin was wealthy, knowledgeable, respected, and of a clever nature. His wife was devoted to him and engrossed in serving her husband. Eventually, the Brahmin and his wife were blessed with two sons, and the daily bread and butter of the Brahmin came from performing Pujas and Vidhis/different Vedic Rituals.

One day, the nephew of Dhaneshwar Sharma came to visit him with his wife as they were on a Tirth Yatra. However, after staying there for one month, his nephew passed away due to a snake bite. Dhaneshwar Sharma himself performed all the last rites. After one year, the wife of the nephew fell in love with Dhaneshwar Sharma, leading to a lot of opposition between Dhaneshwar Sharma and his family (wife and children). He gave all his gold and silver to the wife of his nephew, and eventually, after several decades, Dhaneshwar Sharma passed away. Yamadutas put them into the mahaghor narak.

Lord Shiva says that the sins committed elsewhere are washed away in Prayagraj, and the sins committed in Prayagraj are washed away in Rampuri (Ayodhya). However, the sins committed in Ayodhya itself could never be washed away, and one has to face the respective consequences.

Upon reincarnation, the Brahmin was eventually born as a human in a very sacred country that was looked over by demigods (Gandharvas). He was very wealthy and blessed. Dhaneshwar Sharma was blessed with good looks and knowledge of several branches, but due to the karma of copulation with his nephew's wife, he experienced constant pain around his stomach / belly area and was unable to beget sons, and only several daughters were born.

Also, due to the action of using the wealth of his nephew along with the son, as well as indulging in extramarital affairs, he suffered from constant bodily diseases.

Lord Shiva explains the remedial measures - Donation of 1/6th part of the wealth for use in religious rituals or good karma, as well as 1 Lakh Jaap of Gayatri and Jat Ved mantra, has to be done along with following the rituals of Havan, Tarpan, and Marjan. Thereafter, repairing or construction work of old wells and ponds has to be done, along with the construction of a garden with 60 trees. In the month of Magh, Tuladan has to be done in the city of Prayagraj. A smoke-colored (Dhumra-varna) cow has to be donated with proper respect and care to the Brahmin. To solve issues related to childbirth, Vrat of Saptami Tithi that falls on Ravivar has to be performed regularly along with donations of gold. Donation of a wood pyre in the cremation ground has to be done as well, and this will remove all diseases of the native and his wife.

Deeper Meaning

Mahakaal says that the name of the Brahmin is Dhaneshwar Sharma, and he lives in the Ashram in Ayodhyapuri - this can be seen as the Navamsa here is Leo, which is a Royal sign and it is the 9th Navamsa of Spirituality and Tirth Yatras. Both the Rashi and Navamsa being 5-9 from each other, the Brahmin had wealth, education, and was very knowledgeable. He had all the royalties in life. Similarly, his Karma was also associated with Pujas (9th house) as he used to do Puja Rituals in the Temple, which was the source of his bread and butter. Then Mahakaal says that once the Nephew of Dhaneshwar came to visit with his Wife, but unfortunately, the Nephew Passed away due to a Snake Bite - here Nephew is the 7th house of the chart, and from Leo, the 7th house is Aquarius, and Rahu is also the Karak of Snakes. Here since the death happened instead of the Family members of the Nephew, the last rites were performed by Dhaneshwar Sharma himself - this should not be done as in this case it shows a breach of Principles in which the native himself performed the last rites of someone he should not have.

As 7th from Leo is Aquarius - Instead of waiting for his Brother, Dhaneshwar Sharma himself did the rituals. This also shows that the main curse of this Nakshatra is now following rituals in the 7th place from itself and using shortcuts which go against Principles. Later on, as the Wife of the Nephew Fell in Love with Dhaneshwar, there was again the 7th house being involved as a year later the native started having an illegitimate relationship outside of his marriage. The curse of this Nakshatra is that such a native will have everything they require in life due to their past life karma but in spite of that, due to excess desires, he will do something related to the 7th house (where the rashi of Rahu is placed) due to which he will go down/break his Principles/Commitments.

The focus in this Nakshatra is totally related to maintaining everything that has been built throughout generations and not getting distracted from those responsibilities.

To Dhaneshwar, this happened due to his desires, which eventually caused a lot of pain and sorrow in his family (lineage) as he went into the relationship and even gave all the Gold and Silver to the wife of his Nephew. As the resources from the Family were given to someone else, the Family faced a lot of troubles and crises due to a wrong decision. Hence, such natives should not break the balance of the family and earnings based on any sudden decision due to their desires. The remedy for this Pada would be to control your desires and be thankful to God that you are able to wake up today and fold your hands to pray, as a lot of people are not even able to do that. Going against the traditions should not be done in this nakshatra as that is what caused a lot of problems in the life of Dhaneshwar.

Further, Mahakaal explains that the Sins of Ayodhya are not washed away, and such a person has to face Major Consequences, which implies that if there are prominent planets in this Pada native, the will have family or principles which have been present throughout several generations, and it would be of extreme importance. Hence, breaking of any Tradition should not be done, especially if it causes pain in your own family.

In the next life, the consequences of past karma were faced as Dhaneshwar faced problems in

Then, Shiv Ji gives a solution which consists of performing a remedy in the Month of Magh, that in this month, Surya Dev goes into the sign of Aquarius, - doing remedies when the Lord is in the sign of Pitris is a good Muhurat for will give long term benefits. As Tuladaan (Libra) is suggested, this shows that the native has to distribute and balance his life by giving back to society and not letting his morals go down due to excessive desires. Similarly, the Vrat of Sapthami Tithi, which has the energies of the 7th house, is suggested to be done on Sunday - which again combines the effect of the Sun and the 7th house for controlling the excessive desires of the native. Wood Pyre donation is also said by Shiv Ji as when someone completes their Journey in this life (7th house of Completion) then helping them out will benefit you immensely.

Rasi:

In the above chart, with the Sun positioned in Purvashada Nakshatra Pada 1 and being the 9th Lord, the career was disturbed, and the native wasn't experiencing significant growth. Bosses exerted pressure in the workplace, and seniors continuously undermined his efforts. Subsequently, during the consultation, it was revealed that he was deeply involved in Bhakti (chanting mala and participating in other ISKCON activities). Furthermore, it was discovered that he struggled to implement his guru's advice after initiation, and his siblings' lack of moral correctness made family life difficult. These challenges ultimately led him to embrace a spiritual life.

Sun and Jupiter have also exchanged signs. Jupiter, along with Mandi, is causing troubles because the Aadesh (the spiritual order) has not been properly executed. This is resulting in difficulties at the material level and instability in relationships, particularly in the context of his struggles to get married.

The promise was not fulfilled in a satisfactory manner, leading to troubles. This situation occurs in Leo navamsa, representing the environment in which he is working. Naturally, the 10th lord is in the 12th house, compelling him to pursue a higher taste of spirituality as well.

In Navamsa, you can clearly see the combinations explaining why the marriage is not being initiated. The 3rd house has Leo with Sun, Rahu, and Venus, while Jupiter is in Libra in the 5th house, indicating celebrations. Various remedies were suggested, and it was advised to organize his desires materially, as he was involved in multiple activities. He was recommended to wear a Citrine Stone on the Index Finger of his Right Hand, made of Gold Metal. After following this advice, there have been better results in terms of both career and marital life, and he is expected to be soon promoted to a better designation.

In the above chart, Venus being 10th lord & 3rd lord is in Purvashada Nakshatra Pada 1 He was an American modeling agent and scout who founded Elite Model Management.

In collaboration with fellow Le Rosey alumni, Casablancas founded Elite Model Management, a modeling agency, in Paris in 1972, around the age of 31. The age of 31 is a challenging year for these natives.

Casablancas is credited with developing the concept of the supermodel in popular culture, transforming models into celebrities featured in mainstream media. However, he was criticized for his habit of engaging in sexual activity with young and underage clients.

In 1983, the incorrigible Latin “loffer,” who was born to Spanish parents in New York really became the bête noir of the fashion industry when he had an affair with one of his models, Stephanie Seymour. She was 16 and he was 41. This ended his second marriage, to Jeanette Christjansen, a former Miss Denmark, and did little to remedy his dissolute image or that of the modelling industry that he had helped to redefine.

This again happened to be a life-changing event at the age of 40, from where his downfall began. To an extent, his reputation took time to be rebuilt. As a karmic debt he had created by disrespecting those who were helping him build his empire, he eventually died of cancer at 70.

Venus, being with the Lagna Lord and also moving into Lagna navamsa where Rahu is already exerting influence, didn't let him leave Earth easily. You can see how the connection with the 7th lord turned out to be disastrous for him.

In the navamsa, Venus is in the 10th house in Leo navamsa, and the dispositor is in the 8th, indicating a fall in position, reputation, and a great disaster for health with the Jeeva karaka, Jupiter.

The 8th house is also about intentional karma, so he knew what kind of mess he was getting into, which turned out to be a sad story in the end.

Navamsa:

Like I mentioned earlier, planets in this particular nakshatra cannot find peace, as the energy continuously raises the temperature to refine the nature of the planets. He found peace and refinement, but since the intentions were not right, it made him take extreme steps, taking relationships for granted, which eventually affected his career life to the core.

Purva Ashada Nakshatra:

2nd Pada: Sagittarius Rashi - Virgo Navamsa:

Lord Shiva said to Maa Parvati, there is a city named Shiv Puri in the state of Karnataka, where many businessmen used to operate numerous shops. In that city lived a businessman named Dharnidhar. Everyone in the village believed that his wife was exceptionally beautiful and admired her. Dharnidhar was able to amass plenty of wealth and riches from his business. After some time, a Brahmin became friends with Dharnidhar, but the Brahmin was corrupt, and his life became miserable due to his actions. Dharnidhar stored 400 tolas of gold along with diamonds and pearls in the house of his Brahmin friend. Several decades later, Dharnidhar passed away due to old age, and sometime later, his devoted and humble wife also passed away.

Upon reincarnation, Dharnidhar eventually acquired the form of a Human being. Due to her unwavering devotion to her husband and the karmic connections, Dharnidhar found himself married to the same wife in the subsequent human life. However, she faced challenges in bearing children, leading to her profound misery. Her physical well-being suffered from imbalances in Kapha and Vata, resulting in various bodily issues. Although Dharnidhar was satisfied with his wealth, he was not happy because he kept having daughters as children.

Lord Shiva now explains the remedial part: half of the wealth must be donated to the Brahmin. The following mantra has to be chanted one lakh times:

“Om Lakshmiye Namah.”

Homa, Tarpan, and Marjan have to be performed. A black cow with Golden Horns, whose tail is covered with Pearls, has to be donated to the Brahmin along with a calf. A Bhandara should be organized for 100/200/300 Brahmins. A platform to keep the idol has to be built using 400 Tolas of Gold, and an idol of the Brahmin has to be made in silver and kept in the center of the platform. Puja has to be performed with the following Mantras -

Brahmatvam Kapilo Vishnuhu Sarvasakshi Jaganmayaha
Mama Paradam Devesha Kshamyatam Purva Janmanaha
Dravyam Mitrasya Bhodehi Sthapitam Swagruhe Maya
Nadattam Vai Mayaagyanatkshamyatam Parameshwari

The above mantras need to be chanted, and then the proper puja has to be performed as per the vidhi. After performing the Puja, the idol as well as the platform have to be offered to the Brahmin.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva says that in Shivratri, there were many businessmen. The Navamsa in this Pada is Virgo, and it's the 10th Navamsa, indicating involvement in trade and business, as Mercury is the Karka for the same. The businessman's name was Dharnidhar, and he had amassed considerable wealth and resources. This is evident as Libra is in the 2nd house from Virgo, and Gemini is the 10th house, both indicating a connection to trading. Despite the Virgo Navamsa suggesting debt and corrections, Dharnidhar, in spite of witnessing his Brahmin friend's condition, did not rectify his mistakes, leading to a life of corruption. Virgo, being the Rashi of corrections, suggests that, based on the foundational energy of Sagittarius, Dharnidhar should have repaid the debt by helping his friend. It is to be noted that Dharindar already possessed plenty of wealth and riches. Therefore, facing no crises or major troubles in his life, he chose not to assist his Brahmin friend in his time of need. Repeatedly mentioned is the devotion of Dharindar's wife. The 7th house from Virgo, the Rashi of Pisces, where Venus is exalted, signifies the wife's immense devotion to her husband. Considering the 7th house represents society, it implies that Dharindar, through past-life donations and aiding the masses, earned enough resources for the present and next life, as Lord Shiva elaborates in the next paragraph.

Then, it is mentioned that Dharindhar stores gold and jewelry in the house of his Brahmin friend. However, this would be a wrong decision as it was already mentioned that the Brahmin friend was corrupt due to his own actions. This indicates that such an individual will make wrong decisions in life related to money and resources, which will impact his principles and career (10th Navamsa).

The curse here is irresponsibility to make corrections, as Dharindhar did not help his friend when he already knew that he should have. In this Pada, one will face choices in life where they have enough resources related to the respective planet/house but will not make necessary corrections for the benefit of others. For example, if Jupiter is in this Nakshatra, one will have very good knowledge, but the use of the knowledge will not be in the right direction, leading to troubles later on. The remedy for this Nakshatra is to look for imperfections in your daily routine and fix things, which will aid in further growth. Additionally, look for people to whom you can provide help with the already existing resources you have, such as Saturn in this Nakshatra - helping the child of your servant/maid will improve your profession and address back-related issues that you have been facing for several years. Also, since it is an intentional decision to give resources to the Brahmin friend, one may also help people in the wrong manner. In this case, what was required was good advice (Sagittarius) for corrections, but instead, resources (Taurus) were given, eventually affecting his further lineage and family/children. Note that Taurus is the 9th house from Virgo.

Similarly, in the next life, Dharindhar's wife (from the past life) faced a lot of issues related to her own health, which again shows that the use of resources (Venus) has been done in the wrong way.

The remedial part is also of Venus, as Mahakaal gave the remedy of Maa Lakshmi. Performing Puja of Maa Lakshmi with proper rituals and Vidhis will help overcome the curse of this nakshatra, along with the donation of resources to people who actually require help.

In the next chart, the Moon being in Purvashada Nakshatra Pada 2 and the 11th lord indicate that the native was cheated in terms of partnership by his friend. Additionally, Moon occupied the Virgo navamsa, the Lagna navamsa, which resulted in him getting mentally disturbed. When Jupiter got activated in Partyanytar in September 2021, he encountered grave trouble.

He has also suffered great losses when it comes to trading, and you can see clearly that the dispositor of Moon, Jupiter, goes in the 7th house in the sign of Pisces with Mercury debilitated and Sun house-wise debilitated. Because of partnership, he got ruined, and due to his nature of running after quick money, the events unfolded in this way.

He is into the steel and brokering business. You can see how Saturn has affected him, and it started in 2006, which is the 31st year and considered a bad year for Purvashada nakshatra native, from where the native's downfall has started in terms of business and partnership.

In navamsa, Moon occupies the Virgo navamsa with the Rahu-Ketu axis, and Saturn is karmically involved in it, indicating that the whole theme of life is to give back the resources stolen from friends and siblings, help them, and get over the idea of taking shortcuts to make big gains in life.

Navamsa:

The debt will be so much that it will be painful and the family will have to bear the burden as married life is also troubled in this case as Mercury being dispositor is in 2nd house of D9.

Example:

Rasi:

Another chart where Moon, being the 11th lord, is placed in the 4th house in Purvashada Nakshatra Pada 2.

The native is in debt of 70+ lakhs due to wrong advice given by a friend to invest in his distant cousin's company, which is into manufacturing stationery items and school furniture.

Moon in the 4th house is a sign of Jupiter, along with Jupiter and Mars, so the native got greedy and made a quick decision to make money, in the process getting his money stuck in the company.

Because of this, he is not able to generate further income from his own work, and his children's health, as well as his own, has started to get affected.

In the navamsa chart, Moon occupies the 2nd house in Virgo navamsa and also the Lagna navamsa, carrying the base energy of the 11th lord. Now, most of his life will go towards completing the debt of friends, and strangers will create troubles for him. At one point in time, there was also an incident where he got into an ugly fight because of a minor scratch created on another stranger's vehicle - indicating Virgo navamsa and disputes as the key theme.

Virgo navamsa also shows troubles from strangers from time to time. The remedy of chanting Durga Saptashati helped him immensely, and offering water to plants in temple places for betterment.

Purva Ashada Nakshatra:

3rd Pada - Sagittarius Rashi - Libra Navamsa:

Lord Shiva said to Maa Parvati, a virtuous soul named Lodha lived in a city named Gandharva on the banks of the river Yamuna, between Ganga and Yamuna. The king of this country was fortunate, virtuous, worshipped by many servants, and was extremely clever. The King, out of ignorance, took away the land of a Brahmin, then that Brahmin died after consuming poison. Then, after a long time, Lodha passed away. When he came out of hell, he reincarnated in Madhyadesh, being rich in wealth and lacking lineage, and attained a human form.

In his previous birth, he took away the land of a Brahmin, and due to taking away the land, the Brahmin died. Due to this, he has no Son in this Life, and many daughters are born to him; he suffers from major diseases, and his daughters are short-lived.

Lord Shiva now explains the remedies - chanting of Gayatri and Jataveda mantras, amounting to two lakh chants of each should be done, and Dashansh (one-tenth) havan, tarpan, maarjan, etc., should be done. Donation of a ten-coloured cow should be done and food should be organised for a hundred Brahmins and finally donate a land worth a hundred men's weight.

Make an idol of a Brahmin of 20 tolas gold, worship it as per the rituals, and give it to the Brahmin. Thereafter, take a bath along with the wife in Prayagraj on Makar Sankranti, and the sins of previous birth will be removed. By doing this, a son is born, and infertility is destroyed.

Deeper Meaning

Mahakaal starts at the place of Antardved, which is a location between Ganga and Yamuna, visible through Libra navamsa. As Libra is the sign of balance and choosing the middle way, in this rashi, there is no right or wrong. One has to maintain a balance between both right and wrong, good and bad, and then move forward. As there is a balance maintained and one has to diminish one's ego in this Pada, Sun becomes debilitated in this Nakshatra, due to which Mahakaal mentions that the King took the Land of a Brahmin (Sagittarius) out of ignorance. Since the base energy of this rashi is of rules and principals, going in Libra navamsa, which is the 11th navamsa, shows that due to excessive materialistic desires, one will forgo their principals and cause harm to someone else.

But why did the King become ignorant? This is because the King already had enough power to maintain law and order in his Kingdom along with having plenty of resources within his Rajdarbar. This gave a sense of superiority to the King, but as this is the navamsa of a sign falling in the house of Rahu, eventually, it led to downfall due to his own ego, and Sun being debilitated in Libra confirms the same.

The curse of this nakshatra came because of ignorance and excessive desires, which disrupted the balance of a common man (Saturn exalted in Libra). Hence, the remedy in this case would be to make constant donations for the things you do not need, similar to how the King did not require the land but still decided to take it. Providing back to the society to people who are facing poverty and cannot help themselves will also solve the curse of this Nakshatra eventually.

One has to learn to be grateful for what one has rather than chase what one does not. Then Mahakaal says that in his next life, there are troubles with kids as he is unable to beget a son, and daughters keep passing away, along with many diseases faced by the native. As we can see, the issues are due to health, as the immunity is affected, and issues of the continuation of lineage are occurring, both of which can be seen as the Sun is being debilitated in Libra, and 5th from Libra is Aquarius, which is naturally opposite to that of Surya Dev.

with the spouse, as during that time, Surya Dev will be transiting the Rashi of Capricorn, which is the 4th house of Land (From Libra navamsa), eventually reducing the curse as the native's morals will get uplifted, and he will start giving back to the masses. Jupiter being debilitated in the 4th house due to the Rashi also shows low morality and a lack of principles when dealing with the public (4th house), and through Ganga Snan, Jupiter will start to get better results, as that is also the house of Jupiter's exaltation.

Dyan Cannon & Classic Case of Child's Trauma -

The above chart is of Dyan Cannon, whose Sun is in Purvashada Nakshatra Pada 3. Sun is placed in the 11th house along with Rahu and Jupiter, so her daughter, Jennifer Grant, was a baby when her parents got divorced, and she primarily lived with her father until his death when she was 20.

“When will I stop missing him?” wrote Grant in her 2011 memoir, and although, of course, the answer is never, working on the TV show has helped her close the circuit between the father she knew and the incongruity of his concealed origins.

In her mother’s chart, 7th lord Sun is going in Libra navamsa, and as the story resonates, the child, therefore, is bearing the brunt of her parents’ wrong decision-making (Libra navamsa) where Sun is debilitated, creating a mental block for her to become a better person.

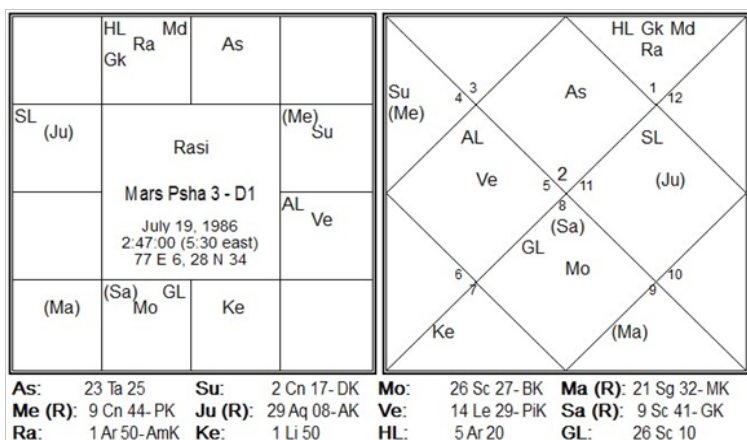

It has led her to what we know as childhood trauma, as the key theme of this nakshatra is to understand what can be done to make relations better; otherwise, the same legacy follows and creates a dent in the life of future generations.

This combination of this nakshatra made her write a book - “How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying.” Though, as you can see, the shortcuts and thought process the base energy carries from Sagittarius Rasi (wisdom) to Libra navamsa (the key to making decisions in business and Libra-Sun ideology).

Example:

Rasi:

In the above chart, the 7th Lord Mars is in Purvashada Nakshatra Pada 3. He got involved with a friend and started a business in partnership. Later on, he discovered that the friend was diverting funds from the business and by the time he wanted to take action, the friend disappeared, cutting off all contact.

This trauma has left him with various health ailments, including severe gastric issues and migraines. The deep-rooted trauma has led him to run from pillar to post in search of a solution to his troubles, affecting his efficiency in other areas of life.

Mars retrograde in Libra navamsa, along with Ketu, shows how the karma has manifested, and this combination is coming from the past. In his family, problems related to land disputes are ongoing, and married life is troubled due to wrong management and investment of finances

The dispositor Venus is placed in the Lagna of navamsa, so the whole theme of life will be to provide lessons about wrong decisions and an erratic nature without proper analysis, as there was a business being run on paper without anything concrete.

The remedies here included chanting the mantras of Maa Saraswati and Bajrang Baan 11 times a day. After following the remedies, he is doing better, but the karma is so strong (Mars retrograde) that its effect lingers with him till date.

Purva Ashada Nakshatra:

4th Pada: Sagittarius Nakshatra - Scorpio Navamsa:

Lord Shiva says to Maa Parvati that earlier, there used to be a gardener living in Ayodhyapuri who was a servant of Brahmins. His wife was a wicked woman, a prostitute, and an adulteress. He used to maintain his family by making garlands. A Brahmin, who was his friend, had kept two lakh asarfis in the gardener's house. After many days, when the Brahmin asked for it, he only received half, and the remaining amount was spent in the gardener's house.

After a long time, the gardener died. Due to his death in Ayodhya, the gardener resided in heaven, where he enjoyed the fruits of heaven and eventually attained a human form. He was born in Madhya Pradesh (central region of the country), but due to his past life karma, he now only has daughters. However, he married the wife of his previous birth. Since the woman got married, she has been suffering from diseases and fever.

Now, Lord Shiva explains the remedies - he should worship Lord Shiva and organise a paath of the Shadang. One lakh chanting of Shadakshara Mantra should be done, and Dashansh Havan, Marjan, Tarpan, etc.

Then, listen to all three charitras of Durga Path every day for a month. Then, give one-sixth ($1/6$) part of your household income to a Brahmin. After worshipping Kapila cow and Tildhenu, give it to a Brahmin and donate a Horse and a milk-giving buffalo. Then make a tree with fruits and flowers out of forty tola gold and donate it, and a son is born.

Deeper Meaning

Mahakaal says that a Gardener lived in Ayodhya Puri and was a servant of Brahmins. But in this context, being a Gardener and serving Brahmins are two completely opposite things, which implies that such natives will have to carry out the family responsibilities along with serving elders, as Venus in this nakshatra can show one has to be a working woman as well as serve her spouse during the times of need.

As this navamsa goes in Scorpio, which is already a hidden sign, and it's occurring in the 12th navamsa, one has to make sacrifices for one's Father/Guru, as this is the debt the native is carrying, as well as work for one's family at the same time.

This can be further seen through the navamsa as the 9th Lord Moon is getting debilitated in Scorpio.

Scorpio is also the rashi of unearned things, and as in the story, the Brahmin trusted (12th house) his friend and gave the asarfis - the gardener used the resources of the Brahmin without permission, due to which he was able to return only half. As he used to make garlands and earn his bread and butter, there was no need to spend someone else's resources for personal benefit, and thus the native suffered in the next life. One has to learn to let go of things that go against one's principles and give back when it is needed, even if it is difficult. In this scenario, the gardener did not return asarfis when he was liable to do so. Natives with prominent planets in this Nakshatra will face problems letting go of things such as Inheritance (Mars), Money (Venus), Position (Sun), etc., depending on the planet, and this is the lesson the native has to learn in this life, as originally, all those significations belonged to someone else.

Scorpio is the rashi of Ketu, and as it is a fixed sign, it is very difficult to accept things and move on, due to which problems arise. But to move on to Sagittarius, one has to die first; otherwise, the cycle will begin again from Aries in the next life. One has to accept the way things are, even if it is difficult initially, but doing so will bring about immense growth both mentally and spiritually, and eventually, one will be free of the burdens and problems they had before. This is the remedy for this Nakshatra.

Lord Shiva says that one of the remedies is to worship Shiva himself and chant Shadang. The reason for this is, as Shiva has the Crescent Moon on his forehead, the native will start to accept the changes on a mental level, due to which he will be able to let go of the resources, which is necessary here. Offering a tree of Gold as a donation to a Brahmin is also recommended, as this shows that one has to use his existing skills (as the native himself was a gardener) and then help out others as a service without charge to help society. The karma in this Nakshatra Pada is to serve the elders/society due to one's past life debt and eventually guide them to be free of both physical and mental stress (9th lord Moon being debilitated in Lagna).

One should never break someone's trust, as this is the 12th navamsa, and if one does so, the problems would be very difficult to solve, as Scorpio shows unsolvable and chronic problems.

In this chart, Venus is placed in Purvashada Nakshatra Pada 4. Venus, being the Lagna Lord and 8th lord, is placed with Gulika Mandi as well in the 3rd house. So, Farouk had inherited his father's autocratic dislike of parliamentary democracy and of the Wafd political party, which was running the administration until a rigged election in 1938 got rid of them. They were followed by the Farouk-backed coalition government.

Farouk was popular at first, but in time the extent of his sacrifices came to seem distinctly limited. He said his prayers regularly and abstained from alcohol; he spoke fluent Arabic (none of his predecessors had ever learned Arabic – they all spoke Turkish), but he poured out money in enormous quantities, turned grossly fat by overeating, and made frequent wildly expensive shopping trips to Europe.

His desire for women was insatiable, and his aides kept him supplied with prostitutes and European chorus girls.

Venus, going from Sagittarius rasi to Scorpio navamsa, so principles and morality were nowhere to be seen, and that acted as a maraka for him.

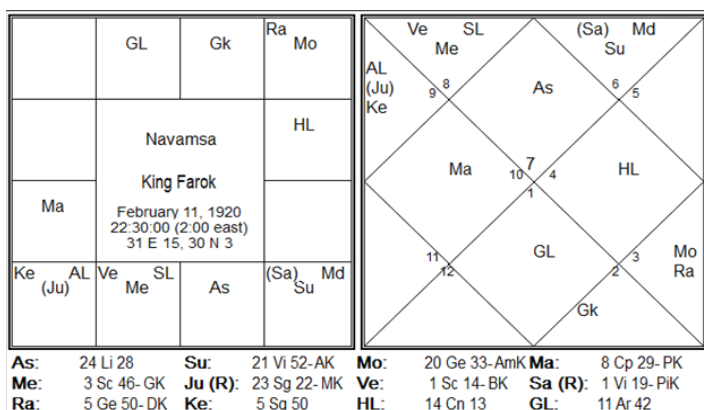

After the failed war against Israel in 1948, a group of army officers mounted a successful coup in 1952 and forced Farouk to abdicate. As mentioned earlier, the 31st year again proved to be bad for him. Thereafter, Farouk lived in exile abroad until he dropped dead in a restaurant in Rome in 1965 at the age of 45, of a heart attack after a gigantic dinner.

The dispositor of Venus being Jupiter, placed in the 10th, that too exalted, made the final notes of his life come to an end. As mentioned earlier, one should never break someone's trust, as this combination is happening in the 12th navamsa. If one does so, the problems would be very difficult to solve, as Scorpio shows unsolvable and chronic problems. The end of the karmic cycle amplifies the debt to an extreme level, as there's a saying, "पानी सिर के ऊपर जाना," and that's how the extremity of the nakshatra pada works here.

Even in navamsa, you can see Venus in the 2nd house along with Mercury, and the dispositor Mars being debilitated, so a special person was born but to no avail, as he was too busy filling his belly and, because of his eating habits, he couldn't easily end the worldly desires.

Navamsa:

Example:

Rasi & Navamsa:

In this particular chart, Mars is in Purvashada Nakshatra Pada 4.

The native got the ancestral business (Mars being the 10th lord of karma and also the dispositor of Saturn, which is the 7th lord) as he was the only kid living with parents. Others were studying, and in the absence of the will, he owned the business.

As per the story, we know that inheritance will be a key element since it falls in Scorpio navamsa. The native will now inherit something, but at the same time, he will also have a major responsibility to sustain it and make sure that with a minimum amount of resources, maximum output can be delivered.

The native's siblings are fighting a court case to get hold of the business, and the case is going on till date. Similarly, we can run the same combination in D9, and now it is very clear that the sister was coming from his own ancestral lineage, and the debt was there to distribute the share which she deserves.

The sign of Aries, whose ruler Mars is conjunct Ketu, that too in Scorpio in navamsa, is telling him to let go of his business and divide without being partial, else progeny (Ketu) will suffer.

The native was initially reluctant, but when his wife forced him, he agreed, and within a month, the wife of the native conceived, and that too without IVF.

As the native did a correction of karma, there was no way that the planets would remain malefic.

As I have mentioned earlier, planets in Purvashada have trust-related issues, and this is due to the reason of their past life cycles. While benefics in this particular nakshatra give a strong sense of belief in the ideology, what you believe in, you will see in life you only lose the battles when you don't believe in something completely.

So in this case, the trust was broken, and emotions were misused because of which the lineage had to suffer going forward.

UTTARA SHADHA

Uttarashada Nakshatra

The Star of Victory

What we initiated in Purvashada Nakshatra is realized in Uttarashada Nakshatra, where all the ten forces of nature, known as Vishwa Devas, serve as the deities. Uttarashada Nakshatra represents the combined effort of these forces to overcome any challenges or competition. While one pada of this nakshatra lies in Sagittarius, three padas are situated in Capricorn where you need all your strength, and any deficiency will prove to be troublesome.

The Shakti of this Nakshatra elucidates how powerful the sign of Capricorn is. In this part of the zodiac, all ten forces of energy converge in Uttarashada Nakshatra, rendering it invincible. This is the nakshatra that can consistently aid you in winning at life.

As this nakshatra is associated with winning in life, no one will explain to you that this nakshatra harbors the energy that initially subjects you to losses. So, let us delve into some examples of this technique.

Uttarashada is not only about gaining power and facing struggles; it also involves finding enjoyment in the struggles of life. Some people can't accept the world as it is. They possess the will to change things for a better reason, and this embodies the energy of Uttarashada nakshatra

Uttarashada consists of the last part of Sagittarius, and three padas lie in the Capricorn sign. It is a challenging transition, similar to one from school to the workplace, where you need to implement what you have learned in school and apply it in real life, as this is what the area of Capricorn signifies. The nakshatras in Sagittarius were Mool, Purvashada, and U. Shada.

The learnings of the first two nakshatras were to forget about yourself and focus on dharma and being a part of it by trusting the Guru. However, as you move towards Capricorn, you will require strength and techniques to stay at the top of the world. A powerful person is one who receives support from all directions, and Uttara Ashadha has the perfect energy for this purpose.

The deities of Uttara Ashadha nakshatra consist of thirty-three Vishwadevas. Before understanding the Vishwa Devas, we must learn something else about the universe.

The universe operates on the currency of energy, not on dollars or rupees, but on the universal currency of energy. Based on these energies, you can attain everything in life. Vedic rituals of sacrifice were formed by the Vedas so that any human on this earth becomes capable of obtaining anything he desires. Rules were written for this purpose.

The rituals of sacrifice involve performing yagna, replicating a miniature form of the universe, and fulfilling your desires to acquire things from the sky, initiating a new life on this earth. Havan is started in Uttara Ashadha nakshatra and continues for one year, with every wish being fulfilled. In this havan, you continuously give energy to the sky, gaining power and support from the Vishwadevas in return.

This nakshatra is ideal for acquiring an office or starting a new position, gathering all-round support.

Learning for Uttara Ashadha: Any planet in this particular nakshatra leads to initial failures in life, and this is the point that distinguishes between the people who rule the world and those who quit after a few losses. An afflicted Uttara Ashadha nakshatra will involve you in the pursuit of the unknown and an illusionary battle, which you may perceive as easily achievable, but there will be no positive outcome from all your pursuits.

Let's consider a classical example of the Dalai Lama, who made significant efforts to liberate Tibet from China. However, all his attempts, even with substantial support from the USA, failed miserably. Now, let's examine his chart.

The chart below belongs to the Dalai Lama, and he has Rahu placed in the 8th house in Uttara Ashadha nakshatra. When any planet is positioned in the 8th house of the birth chart, it indicates the lineage of the native. This lineage is not the family lineage but the cosmic lineage, and the same is the role of the 8th lord in the birth chart.

In the case of the Dalai Lama, the 8th house has a Sagittarius sign, which signifies principles, religion, and fights for Dharma. Rahu placed in it indicates an unorthodox approach to religious matters. With the 8th lord placed in the 6th house retrograde, it becomes evident that he is returning to fight in this life.

The Mahadasa of Rahu, which lasted from April 1974 to March 1992, was the time period when Americans funded the Dalai Lama, and he embarked on a world tour for the first time — meeting different world leaders to gather support for Independent Tibet, conducting press conferences worldwide — this is the nature of Uttara Ashadha — to strive. However, Rahu does not handle the energy of Uttara Ashadha well in the chart, as it does not function optimally in the domain of this nakshatra. The energy of Uttara Ashadha is direct, looking into the eyes and proclaiming ownership, rather than adopting a diplomatic approach like Rahu. By the end of Rahu dasa, reality became clear for him. All those he thought would support him for a free Tibet snubbed him in front of China for their own gains.

The 8th house represents inheritance, and this is what the Dalai Lama was fighting for during his Rahu dasa. However, Rahu, being a trickster in nature, was under the illusion of foreign powers, got deceived badly, and achieved nothing in the end.

This is a real-life scenario for many when a planet whose energy is incompatible with Uttara Ashadha nakshatra gets deceived and defeated due to trusting the wrong people.

The dasa of Rahu-Sun and Rahu-Jupiter were the trigger points in this entire dasa, as Rahu is in the nakshatra of Sun and the sign of Jupiter. Whenever the circuit gets completed, the native is bound to get prominent results.

In the Chart of Steve Jobs, Shukra, which is the 10th lord, is placed in Uttrashada nakshatra, and the dasa of Shukra operated during the period 1982-2002. This was the time period when Steve Jobs started Apple, and after initial success, there were failures. However, his pursuit of creativity and never-failing attitude kept him going. This was the same period when he was facing troubles on the personal front, as the planet is placed in the 5th house, and he had trouble from his child and girlfriend. Whenever Mandi is placed in any house, the house significations indicate that the native makes blunders and mistakes in life. In the case of Steve Jobs, you can see Mandi placed in the 5th house, and his mistakes related to kids are known to everyone.

Venus, the significator of beauty, when placed in Uttrashada, is compelled to create products and engage in work in life that will be known for their beauty. Until today, this is what Apple is known for—its minimalistic design and aesthetic appearance.

Let us look at the two most important dasas in the Mahadasa of Venus: Venus-Jupiter and Venus-Sun.

Venus-Sun started in July 1985 and lasted till July 1986, and as soon as the antar of Sun began, the partners in Apple, specifically Sculley, planned to remove Jobs. Everyone viewed Jobs as a problem at work due to his attitude towards design and his involvement in every small matter. For a company like IBM, Jobs' creativity was seen as detrimental to profits. Sculley's desire to take control over Apple became prominent, and he devised a plan to eliminate Jobs.

Look at the Sun in the chart: the Sun is debilitated, and an enemy rasi clearly shows Steve Jobs will not win this battle. Jobs also planned to do the same but failed miserably in this act, and finally, he had to resign from Apple as soon as the Moon antar started, with the Moon being placed in the 8th house, indicating a loss of power.

Then comes the antar of Venus-Jupiter, which was from 1992-1995, and this was the time period when the next computers started making money as personal computers and email became common on Next machines. For the first time in 1994, the company reported a profit of 1 million dollars.

Age of Trouble - There are good and bad years for any nakshatra, and for Uttrashada nakshatra, the challenging ages are 22 and 45. These are the ages when natives will experience troubles in life related to the significations of the planets placed in the nakshatra.

In the case of Steve Jobs, if you look at the age of 22, it was 1977, and this was the first time his girlfriend got pregnant. He faced trouble in his love life as Venus in the 5th House signifies kids and girlfriend, and this was a major setback for him. Additionally, he was not ready to take care of this child and wanted to give it up for adoption.

The other significant cycle occurred at the age of 45, which was in 2003. This was the year he was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer. The pancreas is ruled by Shukra, which makes the elixir of life.

The problems in these years will occur due to opponents, partners, and in the physical body, issues will arise in the areas of kidneys, pancreas, or generative organs. In famous charts, especially in those of Indian celebrities, it is challenging to grasp such events. However, in personal charts, you could observe the theme very clearly during these years of the native's life.

I am Alone - This is like a mantra of Uttrashada nakshatra as compatibility of this nakshatra is extremely difficult. When a planet like Shukra or the 7th lord is placed in Uttrashada nakshatra, the native faces great trouble in married life. However, when the Ascendant lord, 10th lord, or Saturn is placed in Uttrashada nakshatra, the native rises to the top of the career, unparalleled, and no one can ever come close to them.

The energy of this star is best used for developmental purposes to rise in life, while being diplomatic and making relations is not the best quality of this star. Usually, you will see people struggle in life when they have any planet in Uttrashada, and the reason lies in using soft skills such as those of the 4th lord or 7th lord.

Whichever planet goes into Uttrashada nakshatra, you are bound not to get support from anyone, as you will realize that everyone wants to be with you only for their own selfish motives, and no one is genuinely with you.

Revolutionaries and Uttara shada - This is a star of great struggle, and you will always find people who are ready to take the battle to the ground of the enemy. A planet in this nakshatra is not ready to give up or accept defeat, and this is what makes a revolutionary approach. When a planet like Mars or Rahu is placed in Uttrashada nakshatra, the native stops caring about oneself and focuses more on the goal.

The chart below belongs to Shaheed-E-Azam Bhagat Singh, who shook the core of the British Empire by throwing a bomb in the legislative assembly. As we only know the birth day and not the correct time, we are taking Moon as lagna, but still, Mars and Ketu will be placed in Uttrashada nakshatra, giving him a zeal for fighting against the British from a very young age.

Born in Mars Mahadasa, as if a fighter is being born to take revenge from the British, and the conjunction of Ketu made him detached from his own body. This is what the close conjunction of Ketu does for any planet or house—you become detached from the significations of that particular planet.

21st Nakshatra : Uttarahada:

1st Pada: Sagittarius Rashi - Sagittarius Navamsa:

Lord Shiva says to Maa Parvati: In the city of Ayodhya, during the Mahatirtha Shweta Parva, there lived a businessman, a Kanyakubja Brahmin. This Brahmin used to buy and sell skins of deer, horses, bulls, etc., every day. He gambled daily, had sex with other women, drank alcohol, and did not believe in gurus and gods. In this way, after a long time, he passed away. Eventually, he was reincarnated as a human. In spite of being wealthy, he was sick and was unable to beget a son. Eventually, somehow, by some miracle (Divyayoga), he begot a son, but the child soon died, and then a girl was born.

Lord Shiva now explains the remedies: He should devote one-sixth part of his household income to virtuous deeds. In his previous birth, he had killed his younger brother with a sword at night, due to which he mourned the loss of his son in this life. Then chant the Gayatri moolmantra five lakh times and do kirtan of Sri Govind every day. Havan should be performed using sesame seeds, ghee, and kheer in the Shatkon kund (hexagonal havan kund). Then donate a Dashvaranwali Gou (ten-colored cow) to a Brahmin who worships Shiva, donate land, and especially donate a bed.

He should happily make an idol of his brother made of twenty-eight tola silver and worship it.

Mantra

Devadeva Mahadeva charmbhasma Vibhushan
Purvajanamani devesh krito bhraturvadho mya
Tat paapam kshamyam dev prapadyey sharnam tva.

After worshiping the idol with this mantra, give it to a learned Kshatriya Brahmin, and provide food to 101 Vedapaathi Brahmins with kheer and laddus. By doing this, the sins of the previous birth are destroyed and soon a son is born.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva mentioned the story of a businessman who was a Brahmin, but this does not make sense as the work of a Brahmin and a businessman is totally different. This shows that the native will have a dual nature, and this is further confirmed as the navamsa is also of Sagittarius. Here, the navamsa is Vargottama, but as both the rashi and the navamsa are of dual nature, such people will engage in tasks that they are not supposed to do. For example, imagine when a doctor starts selling clothes suddenly while there are patients who require the doctor's guidance.

This dualism is further seen in the story as Lord Shiva mentions that the Brahmin used to sell animal skins, was into drinking and other bad habits, and did not believe in gods.

Sagittarius is the rashi of principles and rules, and when such a person does not follow principles, problems will eventually arise that are generational and unsolvable.

Jupiter, being a very heavy planet with the ability to pull meteors towards itself for Earth's protection, is the karak of elders/guru — and both blessings and curses go a long way with Jupiter. Such natives will get tendencies and opportunities to deviate from their path through wrongdoings, which should be avoided.

Another curse is of killing Jeev in this Nakshatra Pada, as a lot of animals were hunted mercilessly for personal benefit, and in modern terms, this will manifest in the form of excessive consumption of meat and performing abortions due to gender pretences. It is also mentioned that the native did not believe in gods and gurus, in spite of the rashi being the karak of the same — this shows that such natives can even become atheists and follow their own principles instead of religion, as the nature of this rashi itself is dual, and it can go either way depending on the combinations in the chart.

A lot of times, you will observe people misusing the knowledge of Tantra and engaging in other immoral activities due to affliction to this rashi.

But at the same time, there are people who follow principles and are very disciplined in their life. The aim of this Nakshatra Pada is to perform karma that aligns with the bigger objectives and goals in your life and eventually follow principles that are morally right.

Mahakal says in the remedial section that a miracle did happen due to which he was able to beget a son, but soon he passed away as well.

Additionally, it is mentioned that the Brahmin killed his brother with a sword, which again implies harming Jeev in this Nakshatra, due to which he had to face the loss of a son. Notice the 5th house being Aries from Sagittarius navamsa, whose lord is Mars (Karak of brothers). The remedial portion is also associated with the donation of a silver idol of his brother to a Kshatriya Brahmin (5th house Aries). Alternatively, one should help siblings, friends, and refrain from any unnecessary arguments or fights with them. Kshatriya Brahmin is a symbolism that one has to serve the 5th house-related significations physically as well as by giving guidance. For example, if the Moon is in this nakshatra, one has to help the mother with her stomach ailments or take responsibilities for her health-related issues.

Rasi:

In the above chart, Ketu is in Uttarashada Pada 1. Ketu, being the dispositor of the 7th lord, which is Moon, indicates that the native wanted to take renunciation and was not interested in marriage. However, parents pressurised him to get married.

Due to health complications, the child (Ketu as well) is not born, as you can see the dispositor (Jupiter in 10th house) is debilitated — the situation has arisen due to health complications of both the native and the spouse. He is simply showing the society that he is devoted to marriage and is keeping it alive because of that pressure.

In the navamsa chart, Ketu again occupies the 12th house, and the dispositor is in the 2nd, confirming the duality of the native and the fact that there are issues in the bedroom because of which the generation cannot go forward. Being the nakshatra of the Sun, the best remedy is to pray to Ashwini Kumars and seek help from Jupiter, as that is the only way out of this situation.

Since, his aim was to take a higher purpose in life but due to negligence of his parents and their poor advice, the repercussion is now being manifested in this particular way.

Example:

Rasi:

In the above chart, Saturn is in Uttarashada Pada 1. Saturn, being the 10th lord, is placed in the 8th house along with Mars. So, the native was loyal towards his boss in front of him, would communicate politely with him, but behind him was a different personality as he was building a competitive business by acquiring information through inner circles.

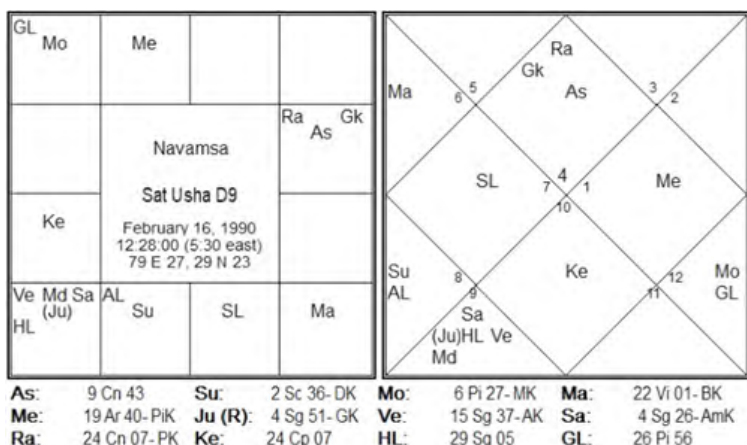

He was in a communications company and tried to replicate a software that would create new competition, even though he had a non-compete contract. So, you can see the duality in this case. He is still trying to use those parameters to create interesting software that can help in better packaging and is also trying to optimize hardware capabilities, to grow his own business as the company works on a contract basis with another clients.

Eventually, one thing led to another, and this matter went to court. At the same time, major trouble started at home when his wife suddenly filed for divorce. Saturn, being the significator of grihasti (householder life), manifested the karma, and now he is in the midst of solving these issues. But, the effect has come onto his family, especially his wife (Venus along with Saturn and Mars), and things are heading towards separation.

In the navamsa, Saturn is in the 6th house in Sagittarius with Jupiter, indicating troubles and disputes from the boss. Venus is also afflicted, so all his savings and investments will now go towards fighting for the things that can make or break him.

Navamsa:

Uttarashada Nakshatra:

2nd Pada: Capricorn Rashi - Capricorn navamsa:

Lord Shiva says to Maa Parvati - In Shankeshwar Nagar, there lived a noble Brahmin who spoke the language of the Mlechchhas (foreign barbarians) every day and served them. He lived near them, was a scholar in their Vidya, and always ate fish and drank wine. Thus, all his life was spent. His own accumulated wealth was buried in the earth in the middle of his house. Once, his brother's son, who was skilled in the trade of gems, came to his house, and while staying there, he started collecting gems every day.

Due to greed for gems, the Brahmin, along with his beautiful wife, killed his sleeping nephew with a knife at night. They buried all of their money in the earth and started spending it every day by taking it out little by little. In this manner, after many days, the Brahmin died. His wife also died after some time.

Eventually, he reincarnated as a human being on the north bank of the river Sarayu. There, he was blessed with good fortune, goodwill, intelligence, a little learning, was worshipped by the king and the people, but also was sonless and sick. In his previous birth, he had killed his brother's son at night due to his greed, and because of that fault, he is sonless. He became sick due to serving Mlechchhas and speaking their words.

He had donated an elephant and a bed in his previous birth and has become rich as a result of that. In his previous birth, he had not behaved well with his son and daughter; hence, a girl child was born to him.

Lord Shiv now provides the remedies — he should donate one-sixth (1/6) of his household income towards noble causes. Also, he should chant the Gayatri moolmantra five lakh times, and thereafter perform Havan, Tarpan, Marjan, etc. He should have an idol of his brother's son crafted out of 40 tola gold and worship it with incense, etc., with the following mantras:

Mantra

He Gunadhip! He Suraadhyaksh! He Sarvasiddhipradayak! He Dayanidhe! Please forgive the sins committed by me in my past life!
Thereafter, he should keep the idol in a silver tray and pray as follows —

He Dev! Out of ignorance and intoxication, I had killed my nephew in the past life! Please forgive that sin of mine as I seek refuge in your feet!

Mantras

Om Ganapataye Namaha! Om Lakshmiye Namaha!
Om Suryaya Namaha! Om Shivaay Namaha! Om
Vishvayoniye Namaha! Om Garudaya Namaha!
Om Nandikeshwaraya Namaha! Om Chakraya
Namaha! Om Trishulaya Namaha! Om Padmaya

Namaha! Om Shankhaya Namaha!

Chanting this, he has to donate all the articles and then worship the Kalash in the form of Ganadhip. He should worship the idol with scent, flowers, betel leaves, clothes, etc., and donate it to a Brahmin. Thereafter he must donate a bull with a ten-coloured cow along with a Panchpatra to a Brahmin, and also provide food to him.

He should also keep a ritualistic fast on Ravivaar Saptami along with his wife. After keeping this fast continuously for 7 years, he may perform the udyapaan (puja) and offer dakshina to a wise Brahmin.

Thereafter he must donate panchratna, kushmaand, and a coconut standing in the middle of river Ganga and seek forgiveness for the sins of his past life. By doing so, he will soon beget a son and also all his diseases will be cured.

Deeper Meaning

Here, Lord Shiva says that the story is of a Brahmin who was well-versed in the language of Mlechchhas - which implies that he belonged to the lower section of society, as the Rashi and navamsa both are of Capricorn. Capricorn is the Rashi of Saturn who is the Karak of Daridra and the lower section of society, hence Mlechchhas are mentioned throughout the story.

The Karma of the Brahmin was to serve the Mlecchas, but as the rashi of Capricorn is very prominent, there were other bad habits as well, such as the consumption of meat and wine. Jupiter, the karaka of morality, is debilitated in this navamsa, due to which the native is unable to follow rules and regulations in his daily life.

This nakshatra Pada also has a very prominent quality of hiding resources, as it is mentioned that a lot of wealth and riches were buried underground. One will have a miserly nature in which one will hide resources and skills and will neither use those resources for others nor donate the same.

As Jupiter is debilitated in this rashi, one is unable to provide support and give back to the society. Additionally, there are no principles or morals, due to which later on, we see that the brother's son was killed for gems. Here, gems are another form of resources like silver or gold, and the Brahmin was focused on hoarding things rather than giving them out. This also shows a very fatalistic nature of the native, as he was prepared to do anything, even to the point of killing someone, to serve his excessive greed.

The Brahmin did not focus on improving his life; rather, he was totally focused on living and enjoying life in the wrong way, and fulfilling his excessive desires through any means possible. This agenda is totally opposite to that of a Brahmin and shows that one will not carry out the responsibilities of guiding others, teaching, and counseling in this nakshatra. Instead, they will be distracted by materialistic things and temporary pleasures.

As Capricorn is like muddy waters, it is very difficult for one to change, but eventually, through daily practice, one can implement changes slowly, and this is something the native has to learn to do in this Pada. Similar to the previous pada, which was vargottama, good deeds are also mentioned of donation of an elephant and bed, due to which the Brahmin got wealthy. But at the same time, the negatives were also present, and additionally, Lord Shiva mentioned that the Brahmin did not behave well with his family. This further implies a selfish and miserly nature. One should learn to let go when needed, even if it is difficult, as that will make you much happier internally.

As a Brahmin, his duty was to help others by giving them advice, guidance, and performing proper pujas and rituals. But none of this was done in the story; excessive greed led to the killing of his nephew, and no donations were made to anyone.

The remedy for this nakshatra is to use your resources to help others and give back to society whenever needed. As the issues were with morality as well, one should start walking around nature daily morning during sunrise, as that will eventually remove the negative aspects. Lord Shiva mentions the donation of 1/6th portion of wealth due to the effects of the 6th house of rog, rin, shatru - the 6th house being Gemini (from Capricorn navamsa). The native will learn to give, which will reduce his selfishness (Gemini).

Example:

Rasi:

The native's boss took a loan from him for his daughter's marriage and is now not returning it.

With the Sun being the 9th lord and placed in the 6th from itself, the debt is now being assigned to the boss, and this is the karma designated for the native - Capricorn Rasi - Capricorn navamsa, indicating that he will have to face mental agony and pain, as Saturn, being a maraka lord, is also placed over there.

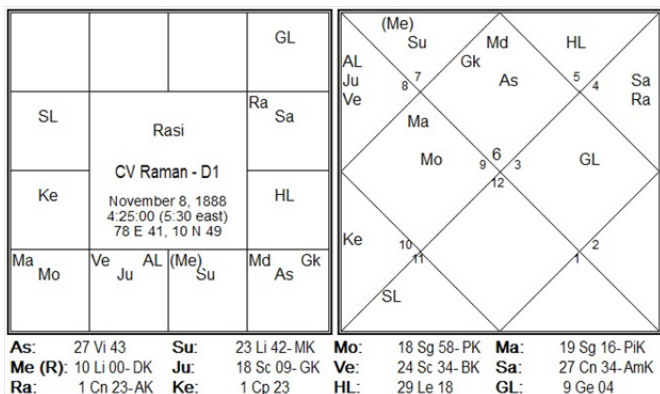

Navamsa:

In the navamsa chart, the same combination is repeating as the 9th lord is in the 6th from itself, placed in the 2nd, and the dispositor Saturn is placed in the 6th house in the sign of Taurus, indicating money is given for marriage but will not be given easily. This is because Venus and Ketu are in the 3rd house in Aquarius, so you can see that Saturn and Venus have exchanged signs.

Example:

Rasi:

CV Raman resented traditional rituals, and this information is available on Wiki. He was openly an agnostic but objected to being labeled an atheist.

While he resented Hindu traditional rituals, he did not give them up in family circles.

He was also influenced by the philosophy of Advaita Vedanta.

Though it was not customary to wear turbans in South Indian culture, he explained his habit, saying, “Oh, if I did not wear one, my head would swell. You all praise me so much, and I need a turban to contain my ego.”

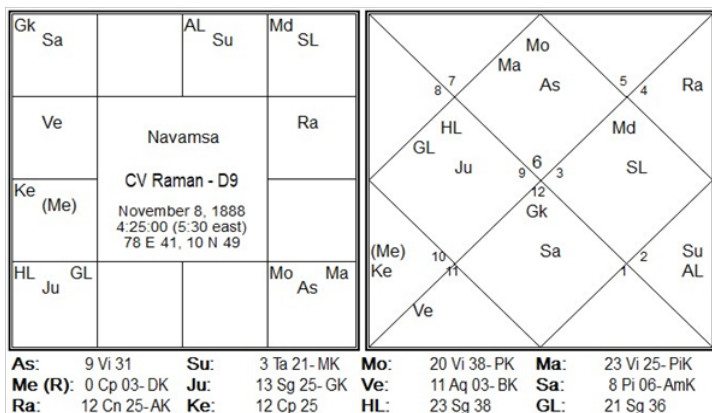

In a public speech, he once said, “There is no Heaven, no Swarga, no Hell, no rebirth, no reincarnation, and no immortality. The only thing that is true is that a man is born, he lives, and he dies. Therefore, he should live his life properly.”

On his deathbed, he said to his wife, “I believe only in the Spirit of Man,” and asked for his funeral, “Just a clean and simple cremation for me, no mumbo-jumbo, please.”

Ketu, being the karaka for liberation, was very clear that he would have a practical approach towards life. However, because of this philosophy, as he began to wrap up affairs in Calcutta in the year 1932, anonymous letters in the press alleged that he favored South Indians over Bengalis and physics over other disciplines.

The thought process and ideology can clearly be seen, since Ketu, being the 3rd lord of name, gave the result at the age of 44, and his name got spoiled because it had indeed created ego and placed it in the 5th house of preferences in Capricorn, so now it is affecting his karam.

Navamsa

In the navamsa chart as well, Ketu is in Capricorn, and being the ruler of the 3rd, the same pattern is being repeated in this case, and the dispositor is placed in the 7th house, so his preferences were questioned in society.

Uttarashada Nakshatra:

3rd Pada: Capricorn Rashi - Aquarius Navamsa:

Lord Shiva says to Maa Parvati - In Yavan Desh, there lived a Brahmin named Jayadeva, who was virtuous and knowledgeable in the Vedas. His wife Sheelwati was calm and pleasant-looking. His three sons were virtuous and knowledgeable as well. All sons were well-versed in Veda and Vedanga. At the time of his elder son's marriage, Jayadeva's sister also visited him. He treated his sister with great honor, and after the marriage took place, and all the guests went home, this sister asked him for a gold earring studded with gems, which angered Jayadeva's wife. Hearing words of jealousy from her sister-in-law, the sister went home with her son and died there. It was due to the bitter words of the sister-in-law that the sister left her body at night, and after a long time, Jayadeva also died.

Then his wife became Sati, and due to the influence of Sati, he lived in Satyalok for three crore years. Then, when his virtues diminished, he became a scholar and a scribe full of wealth and attained human life. Due to being the cause of death of his sister in his previous birth, he does not have a son but a daughter. There is constant pain in his body, and his wife remains sad since she repeatedly has stillborns

Now Lord Shiva explains the remedies - first of all, he should devote one-sixth of his house to charitable work. With hard work, he should repair the broken wells, stepwells, and ponds, and get a garden irrigated with cool water. Then should chant two lakh of Gayatri mantra and 'Jaatveda' mantra. One-tenth part of the chanting should be offered as Havan, one-tenth part of the Havan should be offered as Marjan, and one-tenth part of the Marjan should be offered as Tarpan, and then donate a cow as per the rituals. Thereafter, donate twenty tola gold to a Brahmin. Worship a kanya (young girl) and gift her clothes, jewelry, vermilion, scent, flowers, garland, and tatank (ear ornaments), etc. Feed Brahmin in the form of Parvati and Shiva with different types of food and a hundred laddus. By doing this, a wise and knowledgeable son is born; and all sins and diseases are destroyed.

Deeper Meaning

The story starts with a Brahmin named Jayadeva - the name Jaya means victory, which can be seen from the navamsa of Aquarius, and this navamsa being the 2nd navamsa shows the gain of wealth and fulfillment of desires.

In this Pada, there is mention of multiple family members and children - Mahakaal mentions that all of the men and women were virtuous and well-versed, implying that the surroundings of the native will involve people with similar qualities, and he will have good relations with a large community - Aquarius is the Rashi of Network Circles, and being the 2nd navamsa, this manifestation occurred within the family of the Brahmin.

As the story goes, the marriage of his son took place, but after that, when the sister asked for the Gold Earring (Jupiter), there was a jealousy issue within the family. Jupiter being debilitated in Capricorn and going in Aquarius navamsa shows harsh speech and problems among family members/close relations in which one may have enmity. As this was the case with the wife of the native, he should have stopped her and corrected her mistake of using bitter words, but the native did not do that.

The curse of this Nakshatra is that the native will face issues related to family and resources in which there will be an unequal division among family members, which will be the root cause for disputes. In this scenario, the native himself has to sacrifice resources for his family and provide for them - as the Rashi of Capricorn going in Aquarius navamsa shows that one has to serve and work throughout his life to provide for the family. The reason the brother's wife got jealous was due to the success and wealth of his sister, which she herself wasn't much happy with due to her own excessive desires.

It is already mentioned that the native himself was virtuous and knowledgeable, and nowhere is it mentioned that they were going through any crisis - hence, in spite of having enough resources, there was an unnecessary action taken by the native's wife of insulting his sister. In this nakshatra Pada, one has to solve disputes among close members due to unnecessary greed, such as if Moon is in this Nakshatra, there will be an unequal distribution among property, and one's mother may give more attention and love to someone other than the native.

As Aquarius is the Rashi of Rahu, who is also the karaka of poison, one should choose his words very carefully in this nakshatra, as due to abuse via speech or abuse of resources, a lot of harm may come to one's family. One has to constantly give back to the family as this is the past life Karma of the native which was not completed - and further, we can see the same as Pisces is going in the 2nd house from Aquarius navamsa. Hence, one of the other remedies in this nakshatra is to control your speech and make rules of not abusing even when one is angry.

As Jupiter is the significator of Gold - the story implies that one would be devoid of principles/rules and regulations in life, as Jupiter is being debilitated in Capricorn. In spite of being knowledgeable, the Brahmin did not do the right thing.

One of the remedies mentioned is feeding the Brahmin in the form of Lord Shiva and Parvati, which implies that one should treat everyone equally and take responsibility for the actions of the spouse/family, as their actions will affect you as well because both of you are within the same family and are connected due to your past life deeds (Aquarius being the 2nd navamsa).

Due to all these misunderstandings, the marriage was put on hold, and in the heat of the moment, the native said something to the girl's family. Then things became so difficult that the marriage was called off.

Navamsa:

Deepanshu Giri / 143

In navamsa, you can see Venus in Aquarius navamsa along with the Lagna Lord Sun, so the whole theme of marriage was to create misunderstanding (a sign of Rahu) and not let the marriage happen in one go. It is usually seen that Rahu's position in the 7th house or its influence on the 7th house doesn't let the marriage take place smoothly, and there will always be some hurdles. So, the Lagna lord of D9 in Aquarius in the 7th house created troubles on account of rituals, along with Venus being the significator of marriage.

Uttarashada Nakshatra:

Pada 4: Capricorn Rashi - Pisces Navamsa:

Lord Shiva said to Maa Parvati - in Gurjarnagar, there lived a Brahmin named Balabhadra who taught Vedas. He himself used to recite Rig, Yajur, Sama, and Atharva Veda; that is why he was called Chaturvedi, the best among Brahmins. One day, when someone died in the country, he consumed food at his place without following proper rituals, and eventually, he took money from a Mlechchha and enjoyed it along with his wife and son. Later, he attained old age and died in Shankeshwarpur. Eventually, he was born as a human being in a beautiful and noble family, becoming a learned scholar and expert in religion. Due to the sin of eating Mlechchha food in his previous birth, he is unable to beget sons or daughters. As he had eaten food of the dead without any rituals, he is suffering from diseases in his body.

Lord Shiva now explains the remedies - first, he should donate one-eighth (1/8) part of his house to a Brahmin. After that, one lakh chanting of Gayatri Moola Mantra should be done, and one-tenth of the chanting should be done for Havan, Marjan, Tarpan, etc. Then donate a ten-coloured (Dashvarna) cow and especially a bed. To get rid of the sins of the previous birth, donate coconut and Kushmand along with Panchratna while standing in the middle of Gangaji. By doing this, a son is soon born, and all the diseases are destroyed.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva says that the name of the Brahmin is Balabhadra, which means fortunate and lucky. This can be seen in the navamsa of Jupiter, who is the Karak of fortune and luck. Since it's Pisces navamsa, this also shows blessings from one's ancestors due to the karma done towards them, as the base energy of this navamsa is Capricorn. As Pisces represents the ocean and deep waters, it is mentioned that Balabhadra was Chaturvedi and had immense knowledge of the Vedas. In spite of being the best of the Brahmin, he consumed food in a dead person's house without following proper rituals. Despite his immense knowledge due to his studies, there was a lack of principles in his actions, as consuming food without performing proper rituals is prohibited.

As a Brahmin, he should have done the rituals first, but he chose not to. Pisces is the Rashi of giving and donations, but coming from Capricorn Rashi, one is unable to let go of materialistic things and resources, causing many troubles and blockages in the native's life. Despite having enough resources and wealth, the Brahmin still took money from the Mleccha and enjoyed it due to his hoarding nature.

If you see the previous padas as well in this nakshatra, there has been a common theme of lack of morality and hoarding resources via different means. The remedy for this is to let go of the same resources for the benefit of others, even if it is difficult to do so. One will also get opportunities for the same in which there will be the need for one's skills and resources, as nature tests us several times in life, and during those times, it is best to just let things go.

Lord Shiva also mentions that the Brahmin consumed the resources of Mlechchha instead of giving back to the lower section of society. This is because there is a restriction (Capricorn) on donations (Pisces); further, from Pisces navamsa, Saturn is debilitated in the 2nd house, which shows neech karam to attain wealth and resources. Helping one's maids or helpers, people of the lower section of society, security guards, sweepers via giving them food, wealth, and clothes on a regular basis will help reduce the curse of this nakshatra.

As mentioned before, the Rashi of Capricorn is like muddy waters. You cannot move freely in the mud, but slow and steady movement will eventually help you reach your destination even if it is delayed. One has to keep doing their karam on a constant basis, regardless of the obstacles in various ways

This is the test of his life, as now he will have to live within certain restrictions, and that's what stops him from growing further as well as spending time with the family.

In navamsa, the native has Mars in Pisces, whose dispositor is placed in Sagittarius. So, the duality exists regarding whether to take responsibility towards the karma or to save the married life and spend time with the family. This dilemma is causing mental agony for him. As mentioned earlier, any planet in this particular nakshatra gives initial failures in life, and this is the point that makes the difference between the people who rule the world and the ones who will quit after a few losses. An afflicted Uttarashada nakshatra will make you involved in the pursuit of the unknown and illusionary battle, which you think is easily achievable, but there will be no outcome of all your pursuits.

In the rasi chart, Mercury is in Uttarashada Nakshatra Pada 4. As the 4th lord, the native encountered issues related to property documentation, and now the matter has escalated to the point where the owner is not easily transferring ownership, causing troubles for the native.

This issue is rooted in the past, as Mercury is in the 8th from itself and placed with the 8th lord. Consequently, the debt of ancestors is hindering the acquisition of this property. It's noteworthy that this chart is being analyzed on Sarva Pitru Amavasya, reflecting a significant connection with the energy of the day. Additionally, the native's partner is facing health problems, and the native is personally dealing with nerves and depression-related issues.

In the navamsa chart, the 9th lord and 12th lord become debilitated in the 6th house, associated with disputes and paperwork (being the 3rd from the 4th house), indicating that the problem is intensifying. This situation is affecting the native's health, and he is also experiencing stomach-related issues.

Moon in the 5th house in navamsa further reinforces these indications, as discussed in one of the lectures on YouTube. I previously explained why Moon in the 5th and 6th houses can lead to stomach troubles. The relevant video was published on the channel 2.5 years ago. (LINK - <https://t.ly/714L9>)

SHRAVANA

Shravana Nakshatra

Learning value of Resources

This is a star of learning where the deity is both Shri Vishnu and Maa Saraswati, clearly indicating the learning composition of this star and the planets placed in this nakshatra. Although this nakshatra is ruled by the Moon, it teaches, especially the value of resources.

Shravan is also associated with the three footprints of Shree Vishnu and the story of King Bali, as King Bali belonged to the lunar dynasty, and this is the nakshatra of the Moon. If you consider the symbolic meaning of that story, in which Shree Vishnu appeared as a Brahmin dwarf standing at the door of King Bali while he was performing the 100th yagya, the theme of these nakshatras in Capricorn becomes extremely prominent, which is the performance of yagya. It was performing yagya to gain power in Uttarashada, and it is the story of performing yagya by King Bali again to be the ruler of the earth, as this part of the zodiac is related to power in the universe.

Any planet occupying the sign of Capricorn has to deal with power and authority; however, the flavor changes with the nakshatra. In Uttarashada, the native was performing the yagna for power by offering sacrificial things to Vishwadevas. It was a combination of Sound, Energy, and Intent on a given day to attain power. But in Shravana, the intent is that even before you reach the goal, you will reap the fruit of it.

As it happened with King Bali, he was performing yagna to be the ruler of the three dimensions of this universe. However, even after becoming the ruler, he would not have been satisfied. The appearance of Shri Vishnu gave him everything after the sacrifice.

This is what I call the life story of any Shravana native, as we will see in many cases. These people reach the peak of their lives and have everything that is materialistically possible. However, as they move towards spirituality and experience liberation in their lives, their materialistic downfall starts while they begin to rise spiritually.

These individuals start realizing that when a small dwarf Brahmin is standing in front of them and saying, “I do not need anything from you, but I am here to give you a few more things,” they begin to realize that there are things in life more valuable than materialistic wealth.

They start chasing these things, and then, as it happened in the story of King Bali, they come under the feet of Shree Vishnu. The same thing happens with these people; what becomes valuable for them is the mystical knowledge and the knowledge of the unknown.

These are the people who stay away from everyone because continuously in their heads, these individuals are grappling with questions related to space and the universe, and no one else can understand the depth of their thoughts. Another great aspect of this nakshatra is the donation of wealth and a continuous desire to help people. The more they donate, the more fulfilled the earthly part of their life becomes.

One more prominent feature of the Sravana nakshatra is lineage; they always have a story related to coming from a great lineage and then carrying on the legacy even after they have departed from this life. While with malefics in this particular nakshatra, you will find people who have experienced others changing their religion or encountered problems with progeny not following the traditions set by the native.

Capricorn - A ruler sign, and one of the most important things for any ruler is that there should be someone carrying their legacy. However, if Sravana is afflicted, you will see no one will be there to carry over the lineage, and this is due to the curse on this particular nakshatra of Guru. It is true that these natives have immense blessings from Shri Vishnu, but it is also true that these natives do not get along with bosses, fathers, and Gurus.

You will see their fathers, bosses, and Gurus always having problems in life, either being too soft, ignoring issues, or facing moral dilemmas, and this will be true for any planet entering this nakshatra.

Sravan is a star of remembering things, and this is a great aid for Sravana natives, as they remember things in their life. If any planet is well-placed in Sravana, such as Mercury, Jupiter, or Venus, their memory skills are to be praised for minor details. Since these natives already have problems with fathers, bosses, and seniors, the presence of one of the signifiers of father, Guru-Jupiter, is not welcomed in this star, as although it is good for many reasons, it is not beneficial for progeny and lineage issues.

Saraswati Mantra Havan, when done for 108 times starting from Sravana Moon or when Jupiter transits Sravana, takes away the negative effects of this nakshatra. This is the key to progress for this nakshatra, as I myself have Jupiter in Sravana nakshatra.

Until the age of 15, I struggled in every area of life, but Saraswati Mantra chanting changed my life after that. At that point in time, it was done for studies, but that jaap changed everything.

Financial Constraints and Education - Once in a while, someone is born who breaks the circle of misery, bad luck, and poverty through their actions in life. In the nakshatra of Sravana, the power lies in education, understanding things, and utilizing the energy of education. However, there is always a financial constraint associated with this nakshatra, stemming from a lack of support from parents or the absence of a Guru. There may even be discouragement from teachers to pursue a particular subject, as this nakshatra carries the energy where opposition comes from the Guru or father.

This is the nakshatra where people are financially secure, but what is required is power. The biggest power, over a period of time, these natives realize, is education and learning, and wealth follows it. These individuals study as if there is no other choice or way to move up in life other than through studies, and no one, and I repeat, no one can beat them when it comes to hard work in their field.

The curse of this nakshatra is that you will see these people are unable to continue to higher studies and get the right resources due to a lack of finances in the family. Getting help from relatives or scholarships is one of the key features of their education. As a remedy, these natives should keep sponsoring the education of at least one kid at one point in time, and every time they sponsor a kid for education, their own wealth will increase in life. Since this is a generational curse, you will realize the pattern in the family. When there is money, kids will not study well, and when there is an opportunity, it will be stopped due to a lack of funds. The best remedy is to sponsor a child or keep donating for the education of a child, and this curse starts melting down.

Education and continuous learning should be the goal of Sravana nakshatra natives, as this would be like the nucleus of life, and when you nourish the nucleus, everything else will fall into place.

Be Humble - Vamana Avatar teaches us a lot of things in life, and one of them is completely related

Lot of people misjudge the abilities of Vamana, considering the size, as these natives like to stay humble even after studying day and night and acquiring knowledge which no one can imagine, that too in odd circumstances of life. This is a major quality of all the nakshatras of the Moon. In Rohini nakshatra, even at a young age, these people were able to rise extraordinarily in life. If you remember when we were discussing the curses of each nakshatra, we discussed the rise of Moon-based nakshatras.

The chart above belongs to Henry Ford. Before I go into the details of the chart, let me clarify that since the birth time was not certain, I have to take Moon as the lagna, and based on this, we will consider the chart.

Moon is placed in Sravan nakshatra and positioned in kemdrum yog. In the dasa of Mars-Moon at the age of 13, Mars and Moon are located in 6/8 positions to each other in the chart, and Moon being in Kemdrum yog made his life a bit difficult once his mother was gone. He lost his mother, and this was the most heartbreaking incident for him, as he said, “It was like taking out the main spring from the clock.”

The man who put America on wheels was destined to be born as a crazy person who was mad about machines. From an early age, when his mother died, even when he was doing well in life, he was not stable. Even when he visited a local pastor, who summed him up perfectly, “It is as if the inventor of the assembly line had not yet assembled himself.”

The Curse of Jupiter played heavily in his life. While growing up, he got nothing from his father—an unsupportive figure. His progeny was nowhere near him in terms of intelligence, and there were multiple attempts by Henry Ford to push his son for greatness. As the Wikipedia bio says, “he proved no match for his domineering father, who ruled him with an iron hand along with his empire of Ford Motor Company for 42 years. Edsel died a defeated man in 1944, after which Ford became ‘a tired old man who wanted to live in peace.’”

In the end, all the kingdom became useless. This is a story of a Sravana native's life. You may acquire all the wealth, but in the end, you will feel it is not worth it, as your kids are never going to enjoy this and are incapable of any brilliance in life. Jupiter performs the worst in this nakshatra, as on a personal level, it gives you all the wealth but takes away the happiness of progeny.

Saraswati. It was the dasa of Venus that made her a billionaire from 1985 to 2005. Venus, being the significator of entertainment, made her speech and choice of words so eloquent that she became the most popular host in her era.

Money is a byproduct of the blessings of Maa Saraswati, as she kept on receiving offers and endorsements that made her rich. However, there is something else she did. When she was accumulating wealth, she was continuously funding the education of the girl child in Africa. This might have been the inspiration from within to engage in such acts, and by 2002, she established a school for 100 young girls and adopted several kids.

As this was Shukra giving the results in the nakshatra of sravanaa, she was focused on girl education but at the same time looked at the curse of the sravanaa nakshatra again the problem in progeny and problems from father. She had to start her life living with her grandmother and in poor conditions, while her father was unavailable for most of the time. She had to face sexual abuse from the known ones at the age of 9.

In the same Dasa of Shukra, she was in a relationship but never became a mother, as per her account, since she was not mothered well, so she did not like to take the responsibility. See how the curse of Sravana nakshatra took over in her case—while being in a relationship, she never got the blessings of Jupiter, as the marriage was never registered. Venus, being the significator of marriage, was unable to get the approval of marriage in Sravana nakshatra.

When a planet is placed in the 7th house, or the 7th lord or Shukra is placed, in Sravana nakshatra, there are many relations where the native is not able to get approval for the marriage, but the relationship remains.

22nd Nakshatra: Shravana :

1st Pada: Capricorn Rashi - Aries navamsa:

Lord Shiv says to Ma Parvati - In the vast country of Yavan, in a beautiful city called Marut, there lived a Brahmin named Gautama, who knew the Vedas. His woman named Malini was the breadwinner of her mother's clan. The Brahmin Gautama accumulated a lot of wealth and began to serve the Mleccha. The friend of Gautam, an ascetic, truthful, and pious Brahmin came near Gautam with love and started doing penance. There this ascetic meditated for a year, then he gave his gold and gems to Gautam and went to Kashi. Gautam also took the money for safekeeping, and that ascetic passed away after going to Kashi. Gautam buried his own wealth in the earth and started using up that ascetic's wealth along with his wife and son. In this way, after a long time, Gautam died due to old age.

Later, Gautama eventually attained the life of a human being again. He was fortunate, brave, and one who always had an interest in doing good deeds. In his previous birth, he had taken all the money instead of giving it to a friend, due to that fault his children died in the current birth.

His wife suffers the defects of Kakavandhya, and his body remains diseased, suffering from many types of diseases.

Lord Shiv now says the remedies: he should devote one-sixth (1/6) of his house to charitable work and get the stepwells, wells, and ponds renovated. Then he should chant one lakh Gayatri Moola Mantras, with one-tenth of the chanting for Havan, Marjan, and Tarpan. After that, clothe a young white cow along with a white calf and give it to a learned Brahmin along with a bronze vessel. Feed the Brahmin and give him Dakshina as per his capacity. Then eat with the members of his family and make donations. He should also listen to the recitation of the Puranas, listen to the Chandikachitra, donate food, and especially donate a pitcher. By doing this, there will be no doubt that the progeny will increase, all diseases will be destroyed, and many types of happiness will be obtained.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiv narrates the story of a Brahmin named Gautama. The meaning of which is from Darkness to Light, and this is very much seen through the navamsa Rashi as the Base Rashi is Capricorn, in which Jupiter is debilitated as well as Surya Dev, the Karak of Light, is the 8th lord. But the navamsa is of the Rashi of Sun's exaltation, and Surya Dev is the 5th lord in the navamsa, showing extreme qualities in such natives, as well as the ability to transform oneself completely through immense hard work (Rashi and navamsa is of Saturn-Mars). It is then said that Malini was the breadwinner of the Family, as Libra, the sign of Money, goes in the 7th house from Aries, as well as the involvement of Saturn and Mars being the lords of the Rashi and navamsa, indicates a life of struggles and a lot of hard work. Practically, you will see such natives struggling and giving full efforts, and although they will have jobs, the payment will not be satisfactory, or there will be a lot of delays in getting promotions.

Although it is given that the Brahmin accumulated a lot of Wealth and Served the Mlecchas, it is implied that there was no shortage of wealth, but the Brahmin still decided to serve the Mlecchas and help them. The native had the resources (Capricorn - Hidden resources and knowledge) and decided to help the Lower section of the masses, as this is seen through the 4th navamsa of Aries. The native did take responsibilities and leadership roles to help out the masses/community as needed. Due to this act of nobility of the Brahmin, he eventually got a disciple, an ascetic who used to do penance. The karam which resulted in negative effects was that of using the wealth of someone else without permission, as Gold during those days also was a precious resource. The Ascetic was one who came to Gautama due to his actions of serving the lower section of the society. Similarly, in this Nakshatra Pada, one has to serve one's mother/close family members/masses and help them out of crisis.

The theme of buried wealth in this pada also indicates plenty of wealth and resources which one

As the Karam is associated with the 4th house, one of the remedies mentioned by Mahakaal is the donation of food and listening to Chandika Devi. By doing this, one will be able to help out people who are living in Survival Mode (Aries) and eventually uplift the life of the masses, as this Pada falls in the 4th navamsa.

Rasi:

A proposal came with the initiation of the opposite party, but after the marriage, the situation changed, and the spouse started making monetary demands and is now putting up baseless allegations against him on social media. The theme of buried wealth in this pada also indicates plenty of wealth and resources that one eventually has to use for the benefit of others. However, due to the Karam of using someone else's wealth for personal benefit, there was wrongdoing in this nakshatra, and now the native has to bear the brunt in terms of clearing his name as well as settling down in life.

In the navamsa chart, Saturn is debilitated in the 4th house, and the dispositor is in the 12th, indicating that there will be a loss of wealth and physical distress. Also, family members are not in much communication due to his lies, and the way he has dealt with the limitations from physical abuse is a result of the karmic actions he has done in the past.

Shravana Nakshatra:

2nd Pada: Capricorn Rashi - Taurus navamsa:

Lord Shiva says to Maa Parvati: Many shopkeepers lived in the beautiful city of Gandhara. Among them was one Brahmin who was rich and virtuous. This Brahmin loved the Yavanas, and he always sat near them. The Brahmin earned his bread and butter by regularly selling wool, etc. He consistently ate the food of the Mlechhas and had the women of the Mlechhas serve him.

In this manner, he left his body after many days. Eventually, after reincarnating in the Yoni of several animals, the Brahmin attained human form in the Madhya Desh. In the previous birth, he had eaten Mlechchha's food along with his son, due to which his descendants became inferior, and diseases arose.

Lord Shiv now explains the remedies - One lakh chanting of Gayatri Mantra should be done, and one-tenth (1/10) of the chanting should be done as Havan, Tarpan, and Marjan. Donate five cows along with a bull, especially donate clothes, and then donate a thousand pitchers, followed by donation of a cow. By doing this, there will be no doubt that the lineage will increase, and all the diseases will be eradicated.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva starts the story by talking about the beautiful city of Gandhara and a Brahmin who was rich and virtuous. This can be seen through the navamsa of Taurus (rules by Venus) which is the rashi of wealth. Gandhara, meaning Land of Fragrance, aligns well with the navamsa of Venus in which the Moon is exalted. It is then mentioned that the Brahmin loves the Yavanas (Mlecchas) and used to be connected with them. However, as a Brahmin, one should be involved in the Karam of Knowledge, Vedas, and Puja rituals. Unfortunately, this was not the work that the Brahmin did. This shows that one may not fulfill their duties and may get involved in doing something that is not favorable or fruitful in the long run, such as with Ketu in this Nakshatra — one may suddenly leave their ongoing and well-paying job to start a new business, leading to financial issues. In this case, the navamsa is the 5th navamsa, and as the 5th house is also the house of the heart, such natives will usually do as they feel like according to their wishes. Due to this, indulgence in the wrong activity may be present, similar to how the Brahmin, despite being rich and virtuous, was bound to sell wool due to his own likings.

In this navamsa, one has to correct the way of gathering resources and perform the actions necessary for the native and his family according to his qualifications. Lord Shiva then says that being from a Brahmin family, the native still consumed food of the Mlecchas, due to which his descendants became inferior. This symbolizes doing wrong actions for oneself and one's family. Seeking advice from family or performing karam for the benefit of the family will be the remedy in this case.

Furthermore, Lord Shiva mentions chanting of the Gayatri mantra one lakh times, followed by havan, etc. Then, the donation of cows is suggested, as Shiv Ji advises using one's resources (Taurus) for the right purposes and helping other people, especially the lower section of society (Capricorn Rashi).

In the above chart, Rahu is in sravana nakshatra Pada 2. The native is into corporate leasing but due to some conflicts from the one whom he took the lease, now they are suing him for wrong agreement and the matter is now being pushed in court.

Rahu being the dispositor of Mars who is the ruler of 3rd house (contracts) and 8th house (commission) is placed in 6th again being 3rd from it is creating issues for him and court cases.

It is also placed with Saturn, which again rules the sign of Aquarius. So, in one of the lectures, it was mentioned that Saturn in the 5th also gives problems from court cases and litigation.

In the navamsa chart, Rahu occupies the 11th house, being the lord of the 8th house. Additionally, Moon, along with Mars in the 12th in the sign of Gemini, is creating issues in paperwork and in difficult positions.

Rahu, carrying the base energy of Capricorn and going into Taurus navamsa, shows that the resources were not put in proper channels, and the trouble was bound to happen. However, this will get resolved in a year from now.

The karam of the native is such that he is going through mental agony because of resources. As mentioned earlier, you will get all the wealth, but in the end, you will feel it is not worth it, as the kids are never going to enjoy this and are incapable of any brilliance in life.

Shravana Nakshatra:

3rd Pada: Capricorn Rashi - Gemini Navamsa:

Lord Shiva says to Maa Parvati, there lived a Brahmin named Khanda Sharma in Kashmir Nagar, and his wife was known by the name Ganga, who had a harsh nature. Disobeying her husband's promise, she always sold ghee, oil, curd, buttermilk, and jaggery.

Further, Khanda Sharma also used to earn his living by selling horses, bulls, and metals every day. In this way, all his life passed, and Khanda Sharma died after attaining old age.

Eventually, after being born as a human, he was rich but was unable to beget children and attained his human form in the middle region of the country. As a result of his actions in the previous birth, he got the same woman from his previous birth as his wife in the current birth, and now he also suffers continuously from various bodily diseases, especially related to Vata dosha.

Being a Brahmin, he had renounced his religion (did not follow religion), due to which he became sonless, and his wife had stillbirths.

Lord Shiva now says the remedies: one-eighth part of the household income should be donated to a Brahmin. Ten thousand chants of Gayatri Mantra and one lakh chants of Shiva's shadakshari Mantra (Om Namah Shivay) should be done. Perform havan, marjana, and tarpan, etc. Feed fifty Brahmins with ghee and kheer and give dakshina according to as feasible, and then take a bath in Prayagraj along with the spouse, in the month of Magh. Donate Kushmanda and coconut along with Pancharatna in the middle of Gangaji in the proper manner. By doing so, his lineage will certainly prosper and all his diseases would be destroyed.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva starts by saying that the name of the Brahmin was Khanda, and in spite of such a divine name for his wife (Ganga), she had a harsh nature and did not pay heed to the good advice (Sagittarius) of her husband. Here, since the navamsa is of Gemini, which is the 6th navamsa of disputes and arguments, it resulted in a lot of fights and broken promises, as Gemini always does what he/she feels like instead of following someone else's orders. Such people will have problems with other people in the form of partnerships and friends, in which they have to compromise from their end, as this is the 6th navamsa that shows the debt of siblings, close relatives, and friends which has to be fulfilled by the native. Similar to the previous pada, the Brahmin did not do the work of a Brahmin and instead followed the path of a trader, due to which a lot of people who would have been helped if the work of a Brahmin were done did not get the support.

As the self-interests of the native became more and more, the Brahmin eventually deviated from his path and started following his interests of being a trader (Gemini). The curse of this Nakshatra is to be true to one's commitments and fulfill the promises.

The wife of the Brahmin broke the promise and the husband fell down from his own principles or the promises made to wife/others, as the 7th house has the Rashi of Sagittarius and Jupiter is debilitated in Capricorn. Due to this, there were troubles of childbirth and diseases in his next life. One should help others who cannot help themselves and do the karam in which the disputes and troubles of others get solved through the native.

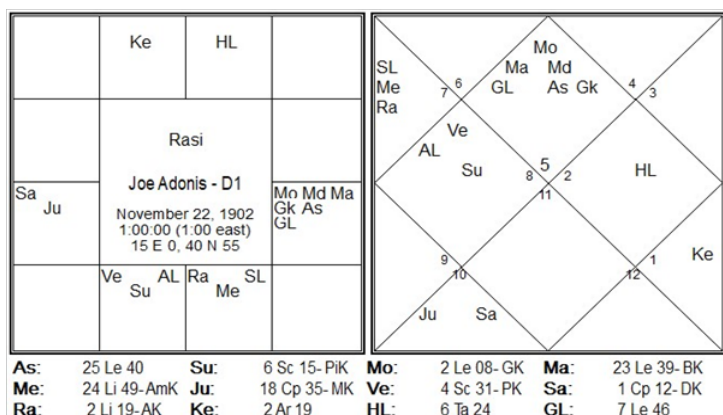

In his next life, he got the same wife as in the previous life, as the promises were broken before, which has to be corrected in this life. Similarly, one will get opportunities to solve the problems of others, but due to self-interests (Gemini), he/she will choose not to do so. One has to learn to correct the mistakes which have happened due to selfishness, as this is the 6th navamsa of Gemini.

One of the remedies said by Mahakaal is chanting the shadakshari Mantra of Shiv Ji (Gemini navamsa) and helping Brahmins and having a bath in the Ganga River in the month of Magh. These remedies are given as helping Brahmins will give direction to the native and increase morality, due to which the negative effects of Mercury will reduce. Similarly, donation of Khushmand and coconut has also been suggested, as it balances the kapha and the Earth element in the body.

He was an Italian-American mobster who played a significant role in the formation of the modern Cosa Nostra crime families in New York City. Jupiter, being the 5th lord placed in the 6th house — he had to go to jail and finally died of a heart attack. Being the 5th lord also indicated that he had bad relations with his children and a disturbed married life, as the significator of happiness is debilitated in the 6th and placed with the 7th lord.

So, Adonis was one of 115 suspected mobsters relocated to Serra de' Conti after the assassination in May of Pietro Scaglione, the public prosecutor of Palermo, Sicily. In late November 1971, Italian police forces transported Adonis to a small hillside shack near Ancona, Italy, for interrogation. During the lengthy questioning and some abusive treatment, Adonis suffered a heart attack and was taken to a regional hospital in Ancona, where he died several days later on November 26, 1971.

In the above chart, Mars is in Shravana Nakshatra Pada 3. The native has done all kinds of illegal activities and is involved in a gang that carries out killings after getting a contract. In simple words, this is a chart of a contract assassin.

He suffered financial loss as the child of the native got a rare type 1 diabetes disease, causing lots of financial problems and suffering for him.

Mars, being the 8th lord as well as the 3rd lord (contracts) — with Mercury, being the 10th lord and Saturn the natural karam karaka are placed in the third house — is creating issues for him and giving him these negative tendencies. Mars occupying the 10th navamsa is making him proficient in this negative trait. As told, the deeper reason is in this nakshatra of Sravana - the power is education, to know things and utilize the energy of education, but there is always a financial constraint associated with the nakshatra; there is a lack of support from parents or absence of a Guru, which made him go on the wrong track.

In navamsa, Mars occupies the 2nd house, while the dispositor, Mercury, is placed in the 4th, confirming the placement regarding the nature of work. Moon in the 8th, along with Gulika, is pushing him to do negative karam, and thereby earn through wrong means, and the karam is now affecting the child. The fruit of Mars is being allocated in the sign of Leo (children), where Mercury is placed.

Shravana Nakshatra:

4th Pada: Capricorn Rashi - Cancer navamsa:

Lord Shiva says to Mother Parvati – many clever people used to live in Yadavpur Nagar, to the west of Atak. Among them, there was a Brahmin named Siddhlal, and his wife's name was Devi. Devi was devoted, virtuous, sweet, and well-spoken. Siddhlal was a great thief and was always ready to steal. He used to support his wife, daughter, and servants only by stealing. Thus he spent his life and eventually passed away. Then Siddhlal's wife became Sati along with her husband, due to which she went to Satyalok and enjoyed continuous pleasures. When the strength of the good karmas of the previous birth diminished, he was born in a rare Brahmin family. Being devoid of sons and daughters, eventually, he left the work of a Brahmin and started doing the work of a Shudra. Because he had taken someone else's wealth in the past life, diseases arose in his body.

Lord Shiva now explains the remedies. He should spend one-eighth of his household wealth on auspicious work and donate a ten-colored cow. After donating a bed, he should fast on Ekadashi. Also, he should chant Gayatri Moola Mantra and Vishnu Mantra one lakh times each, sitting under Peepal and Bel trees, with full effort. One-tenth part of chanting should be done for havan, tarpan, and marjan. Then organise food for the Brahmins and also donate pitchers. By doing this, the lineage will undoubtedly increase and all the diseases will be destroyed. These true words of mine can never be false.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva starts the story by mentioning clever people in Yadavpur. Clever people are described as the navamsa Cancer (illegality, quickness) emanates from the foundational energies of Capricorn (Hard Work, Rashi representing the lower section of society). Lord Shiva then states that the Brahmin Siddhlal earned and provided for the family by stealing. As seen in previous padas, the native had often buried wealth, utilized the possessions of others, and engaged in Mleccha activities. Similarly, in this pada, one will attempt to fulfill desires through any means necessary, including lying, cheating, and creating troubles for others. Since Cancer represents emotions without logic, and the underlying energy is that of Capricorn, the native is involved in the lowly action of stealing, as mentioned by Lord Shiva.

As Cancer is ruled by Chandrama which is the quickest planet, the Brahmin is also trying to earn money as quickly as possible without much hard work. Similar to the previous Padas, the native is not bearing responsibilities for his work as a Brahmin and is using illegal means to obtain resources.

Lord Shiv mentions that the name of the wife of the Brahmin was Devi, as the navamsa falls in Cancer in which Jupiter is exalted (Guru). Additionally, this is the 7th navamsa of the Wife/Spouse. In this Pada, one will get support from others even in times of troubles, and due to the partner, many troubles will dissipate as Jupiter transitions from debilitation to exaltation rashi. Similarly, the native has performed good deeds for their partner/masses in a past life, which is why the Brahmin's wife remained devoted throughout the lifespan of the Brahmin. The curse of this Nakshatra involves using knowledge for wrong purposes and engaging in illegal activities that can cause a lot of mental tension and worries for the masses. For instance, if the Sun is in this Nakshatra, the native may show partiality among his employees, or he may use underhanded tricks to secure a promotion. A similar storyline may unfold in the life of the father.

Lord Shiva then mentions that Siddhlal takes a rare birth in a Brahmin family but is unable to beget children, which is why he starts the work of a Sudra again. This again reflects the previous theme of this Nakshatra, as the Brahmin is now doing the work of Sudra due to a lack of children (Jupiter). The remedy in this case would be to perform public service, which frees others of mental worries and provides guidance/resources to the masses for

In the above chart, Mars is in Shravana Nakshatra Pada 4. As the 5th and 10th lord, the native, being highly money-minded, set up a business involving car drivers, where multiple individuals work under him.

Due to his way of dealings and erratic behaviour, he is now not able to get any kind of help from father or mother.

In navamsa chart, Mars is placed in 12th house, debilitated, while the dispositor is placed in 2nd house of family and bliss with debilitated Venus with Gulika so the person has had a divorce and is now getting difficulty in 2nd marriage as well.

The key in this nakshatra is to stay humble, as mentioned. Many people misjudge the abilities of Vamana, considering his size. These natives prefer to stay humble even after studying day and night and acquiring knowledge, which no one can imagine. This quality holds true even in odd circumstances of life, and it is a major characteristic of all the Moon's nakshatras.

DHANISHTHA

Dhanishtha Nakshatra

To transform oneself

This is the third nakshatra of Mars, ruled by the Ashta Vasus, and moreover, it gives power to the eighth drishti of Mars, which is about transformation and going for the final fight.

In Sravana nakshatras, we had gained power using the blessings of Maa Saraswati through intelligence, and wealth followed due to knowledge. In Dhanishta, there are eight elements to give you power and energy as you learn how to use all the elements to gain power and move up in life.

As the name suggests, Dhan-Ishta means the star of wealth, and wealth is not only materialistic but also of power and connections. This is achieved by transforming and changing the regime.

The 8th aspect of Mars does the same; it changes everything in the house wherever it aspects by destroying the old and bringing the new significations in that house. For instance, Mars in the 3rd house aspects the 10th house with its 8th aspect, and you can see the native's career will transform completely, and the new career will give him power and fame.

The fame of Dhanishta is due to fights, transformative ability, and opposing the snobbery of the people in power, empowered by the 8 powers of nature. Whichever planet goes in this nakshatra is easily able to align and give results, while the Moon, being the most absorbent one, gives the best result of all the planets.

Imagine Jupiter acquiring Dhanishta; it aligns well with the Space element but does not do justice to the Earth element. In Dhanishta, the prominent side of the person with Jupiter will be wisdom, and wealth will follow due to this, rather than Mars in Dhanishta where wealth follows due to the Earth element.

The Ashta-Vasus are Sun, Moon, Earth, Fire, Water, Wind, Sky, and Nakshatras. Each of the eight Vasus works in sync to help each other, becoming the pattern of life for Dhanishta natives. They are not rigid about using a resource, as for never-ending fame, one requires help from all eight elements of nature.

One significant issue with this nakshatra is the grant of longevity. As you reach a stage in life with power, position, and money, you realise that longevity is necessary to enjoy all these blessings in one life. Nature has granted everything, but if longevity is short, all of this becomes useless. You cannot enjoy the things earned over time. Sometimes, when nature gives you everything, it takes away the most precious thing — life itself.

As discussed in the introduction, each Martian nakshatra suffers from this disorder of longevity. That's why the Ashta-Vasus are continuously prayed to for grant of longevity. If Mars is placed in a fiery sign in an afflicted state, the native may end his life due to the imbalance of fire, and the same goes for all the other signs. This will be evident in the examples of Dhanishta nakshatra.

There is an element for every planet in these nakshatras, and when you can deliver that energy, everything else falls into place. Nakshatras are the energy core of the zodiac; the more your planets align with these energies, the more capable they are of elevating you higher in life. When there is an energy mismatch between the energy of nakshatras and planets, troubles in life are experienced.

Dhanishta is not only about gaining power through hard work and struggle but also about enjoying the fruits of that labour. In the nakshatras of Sravana and Uttaraashada, we experienced only hard work and the attainment of positions, but the natives were never able to enjoy the power due to continuous hard work. In the end, it was always accompanied by sorrow. However, in Dhanishta, this represents the final push to clear the territory of Capricorn and move to another domain, Shatabhisha, where the blast occurs after a lot of pressure. Capricorn is all about pressure, while Aquarius is where the blast of pressure happens in small pieces, and this blast is a result of pressure released by the nakshatra of Dhanishta.

These people cannot have a normal life, as the karma assigned to them is to be ended by violence, a revolt. This is not necessarily achieved through physical violence, as Jupiter will do it in its own way by providing a revolting wisdom, while Mars may do it in a more bloodshed manner.

Dhanishta is also a star of symphony, not only related to music or chanting rhythms but also symbolised by the Mridang or Tabla, showing a clear connection with musical instruments.

All three nakshatras of Mars are about changing things for the better. In Mrigashira, the deity is Soma, where the journey of searching the unknown begins to explore what else one can get in life. In Chitra nakshatra, the energy of Vishwakarma is to make weapons and tools to chisel things for good, and in Dhanishta, it is the application for fame and recognition.

These natives have the curse of Shukra and Budh, which is about relationships and patterns, and they may face troubles with siblings and relations. However, these natives receive great support from the significations of the Moon.

The story of Ashta Vasus involves their roaming on Earth, but to gain more energy, the Vasus started exploiting the significations of Shukra — cow, women, and milk. As a law of nature, when we overuse any energy or its significations, we must pay back to the same energy source in various lifetimes. Similarly, when a planet occupies Dhanishta nakshatra, that planet has to pay back to the significations of Shukra in this lifetime.

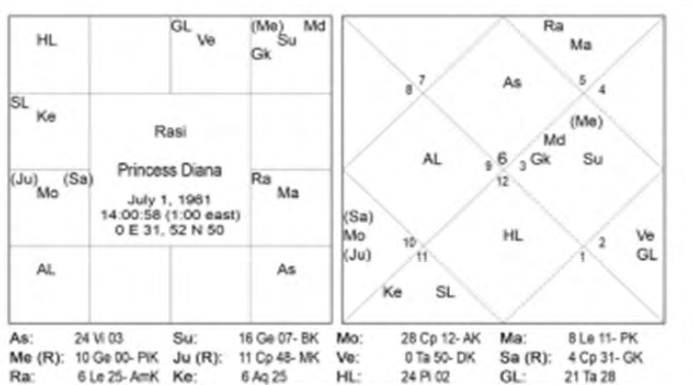

A pattern of sibling rivalry may be observed due to the curse of Dhanishta in the native's family, or there may be cases of mistaken identity about sex in the native's kids as a signification of Mercury. However, these natives have the blessings of Guru and Chandra very prominently in their lives.

Dhanishta nakshatra natives should observe fast on Ekadasi as Ekadasi tithi is ruled by Mars. They should avoid engaging in sexual activities or consuming yoghurt on this tithi. Donations to significations of Shukra, such as contributing to the marriage of a young girl, are recommended. However, they should avoid becoming mediators in any relationship, as these natives may be blamed for anything that goes wrong.

Not engaging in trading business and staying away from gossip or spreading rumours about anyone is advised, as this could harm their own married life significantly. These natives should follow traditions to remain wealthy, as many Dhanishta natives who departed from family traditions ended up becoming impoverished in life.

Let us see some of the examples of the Dhanishta nakshatra.

The chart above belongs to Princess Diana, with the Moon placed in Dhanishta nakshatra. Let's explore how the theme of Dhanishta nakshatra played out in her life. Her married life faced challenges from the beginning, experiencing difficulties and strain in relationships. Three nakshatras in the power centre of the zodiac brought her fame and wealth. However, being placed in the 5th house of power created trouble, as Virgos typically require control in relationships, authority, and fame. The media's obsession with Princess Diana led to the spread of various rumours, and the curse of Mercury, associated with Dhanishta, toppled her several times, contributing to her depression.

The same curse resulted in rivalry among her two sons. Despite breaking royal protocols repeatedly and going out of the conventional league to seek love, Princess Diana faced challenges. During the Mahadasa of unfortunate Jupiter placed in Sravana, she was in love with a Pakistani doctor. The 7th lord from lagna placed in the 5th house, debilitated in Sravana nakshatra, brought about negative episodes related to marriage, resulting in tension.

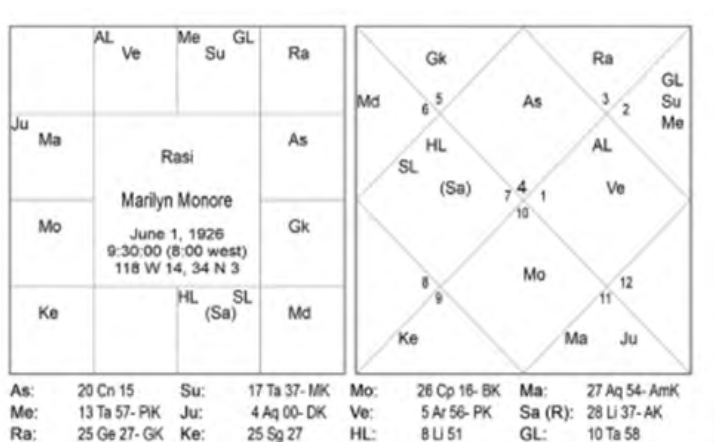

While Sravana nakshatra bestowed material wealth, it prevented her from truly enjoying it. Despite becoming a Princess, she was unable to relish her status, and her wealth seemed of little use. The 4th lord from lagna and the 6th lord from lagna, indicating trouble in property, vehicles, and peace, were poorly placed. Both were positioned with Rahu conjunct with Mars in the 12th house, suggesting violent accidents for the native. The dasa of the 2nd/7th lord along with the 6th/8th/12th lords became a deadly combination for her in life.

Examining Mars in the chart, it is placed in a fiery sign along with Rahu in a trik sthana, indicating a disbalance of Agni (fire) in her chart, contributing to a shortened life span.

In another example, the theme of life is replicated in Bhisma Pitamah from the Mahabharata era, born in Dhanishta nakshatra. The power of Mars in his life was so eruptive that he decided never to get married. The karma of Shukra was absent from his life, and the curse of Budha, carried over from a previous life, was evident. Excessive power sometimes leads to neglecting the middle way of negotiation in life. When one throws their weight around to display power, there are bound to be repercussions, as clearly shown in the life of Bhisma Pitamah.

Let's explore one more example, Marilyn Monroe.

She was born with the Moon in Dhanishta nakshatra, placed in the 7th house, which is not the most favourable position for the Moon, and nor is it so for that nakshatra. Being in the house of power and authority, she faced challenges from a young age, experiencing problems in sexuality, including a reported incident of rape at the age of 9. In 1949, when her Jupiter Mahadasha started (Jupiter placed in Dhanishta nakshatra), she began to rise in her career. However, being placed in the 8th house of the birth chart, it also gave rise to scandals and morality issues.

Monroe's troubled private life received significant attention. She struggled with addiction and mood disorders. Her marriages to Joe DiMaggio and Arthur Miller, both highly publicised, ended in divorce. On August 4, 1962, she died at the age of 36 from an overdose of barbiturates at her Los Angeles home, with her death ruled as a probable suicide.

Once again, in Marilyn Monroe's life, her married life faced challenges due to the influence of Mercury and interference from others. Despite her habit of taking control in her career and achieving success, she struggled to find love in her life. Examining Mars in her chart, placed in the 8th house of Aquarius, an airy sign, it contributed to mental and traumatic problems, ultimately leading to the shortening of her life span.

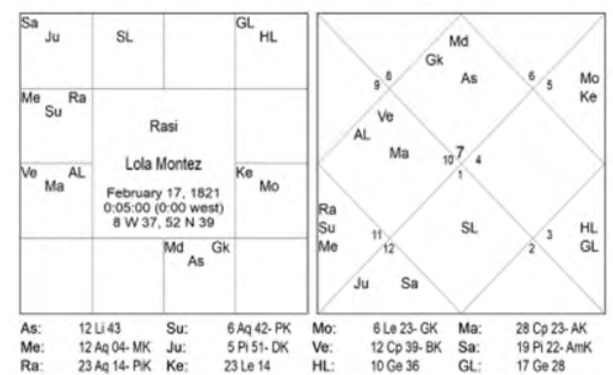

The Ashta Vasus of Dhanishta nakshatra were cursed by Maharishi Vashist to be born in mortal form. Since they requested a reprieve, only one of them had to return to Earth in the form of Bhisma Pitamah. Bhisma Pitamah had the boon of a long life and the ability to choose his day to leave the earth.

Dhanishta nakshatra still carries the curse of sudden endings and conspiracies by loved ones. These natives trust their partners to such an extent that they may struggle to comprehend how their partners could conspire to harm them or shorten their lives. Often, it is their partners, under the curse of Shukra, who end up causing harm and contributing to the premature ending of their lives.

In the case of the Vasus, their own mother liberated them from their mortal bodies, and in the instances related to Dhanishta nakshatra, deaths often occurred in mysterious circumstances. Age is a concern with this nakshatra, and activities seeking longevity should not be initiated during this period.

The Ashtavasus are continuously prayed to with the help of Agni in the Rig Veda to grant the boon of long life. The most effective remedy for this nakshatra is to chant Vasu Sukdam and pacify Mars based on individual charts. This involves balancing the right elements in the chart.

The chart provided above belongs to Lola Montez. It not only presents an interesting case but also vividly illustrates what Dhanishta nakshatra is capable of. In her chart, the seventh lord Mars is placed in Dhanishta nakshatra. Lola Montez experienced bad luck in her marriages, and her partners faced various misfortunes—some went mad, others became drunkards, and the last one lost his kingdom. These outcomes were attributed to the influence of Dhanishta nakshatra. The longevity of her partners was significantly affected, and Lola Montez utilised her sexuality with each of her partners to gain power, position, and fame.

An ordinary belly dancer became the power-controlling centre in Persia, and it came to a point where ordinary people started revolting and removed the King from the throne due to his love for the queen.

23rd Nakshatra - Dhanishta:

1st Pada: Capricorn Rasi - Leo Navamsa:

Lord Shiva said to Ma Parvati, “There was a city named Sundar Ganga in Panchanadadesh, where all the castes like Brahmins, Kshatriyas, Vaishyas, etc., coexisted. The residents were engaged in their respective work according to their varna. One Brahmin among them was involved in farming. Once, this Brahmin prepared his food in the field after sunset. However, his nephew stole a fourth part of the grain and when morning arrived, the Brahmin beat him with a stick and the nephew died. Eventually, after a long time, the brahmin died. The Yamadootas took him into the ocean of hell for 80 thousand years.

After undergoing several births in the yoni of animals, he eventually attained the human yoni. Despite being a clever orator and careful in his conduct, due to the sin of killing his nephew in the previous birth, he did not have a son and faced diseases.

Lord Shiva then explained the remedies. He should devote one-sixth part of his income to charitable work. With joy, the intelligent man should perform three lakh chants of Gayatri, Trimbak, and Dyo Shanti mantras. One-tenth of the chanting should be dedicated to havan, marjana, and tarpan. Subsequently, he should arrange food for fifty Brahmins with ghee, kheer, khaand, and laddus.

Donate a ten-coloured cow, sesame seeds, five utensils, and bulls. Craft an idol of your nephew with forty tola gold and place it on a silver and gold pedestal, and, O Shiva! Worship with these mantras:

Mantra:

O Suraradhya! Oh lord of the world! O Charachar Guro! Hey Hare! Oh Dayanidhe! Neglect the sins committed in my previous life.

O merciful Trimbak! O Tripurantaka! Please forgive me for the sin of killing my nephew out of ignorance.

After worshipping different Lokpals, offer forehead (Urad) as a sacrifice. To atone for past sins, give the worshipped idol to a Brahmin. By doing this, a son is assured to be born, all diseases are eradicated, and the birth of a girl child is prevented.

Deeper meaning

Lord Shiva begins the story in the city of Sundar Ganga in Panchanand Desh, which is due to the navamsa of Leo (representing the number Five - Panch). As Leo is the rashi of the King, a King's responsibility is to maintain one's kingdom with proper law and order without any partiality, discrimination, and treat every citizen of his kingdom equally. Hence, it is mentioned that people from different Varnas lived in the city and did work according to their Varna. The Brahmin in this city was engaged in farming (work of a Shudra), which was a deviation from the expected conduct of his Varna. This signifies a disruption in the traditional family practices, eventually leading to problems in the Brahmin's upcoming generations.

Leo being the 8th navamsa indicates difficulties in continuing the karma performed by one's ancestors. The 8th navamsa is associated with transformation, which requires significant effort and immense pressure as one has to die in the 8th house in order to progress onto the 9th house. One usually becomes distracted, procrastinates, or struggles to bear responsibilities. Leo's nature is opposite to Saturn, and hardships may lead to distraction from the right actions as Leo is a lazy sign. The nakshatra suggests that hard work is essential for personal growth and clearing debts from past lives.

One has to bear a lot of hardships or perform a lot of hard work to complete the Karma of the Planet in this nakshatra pada, such as if Venus in this nakshatra pada, then the Marriage will take place after lot of difficulties, as the native is unable to comprise in the marriage, or is looking for someone who will do all the work on behalf of the native.

The stealing of food by the Brahmin's nephew implies insufficient resources provided by the Brahmin to his nephew, leading to difficulties in the nephew's life. One-fourth of the food stolen, signifying troublesome financial conditions, aligns with Scorpio being in the 4th house from Leo where the Moon is debilitated. Lord Shiva hints that the Brahmin did not provide help or resources to his nephew, despite having sufficient food as a result of his farming activities.

It is mentioned by Lord Shiv that he used to "always do farming", which indicates the nature of hoarding on the part of the Brahmin, and the fact of not sharing the food shows the quality of being a miser.

The theme of Dhanishta nakshatra involves bringing transformations in life to maintain traditional practices. Also, the native may face distractions and constant shifts in focus to gather resources or to fulfil desires, thus requiring self-control. Donations should be made where necessary, and helping those in need is essential, especially during emergencies, because in this story the troubles started from the 7th house of Aquarius.

The native will have to burn internally like Suryadev and make many sacrifices on his part so that a lot of other people (7th house) are able to fulfil their desires (Aquarius).

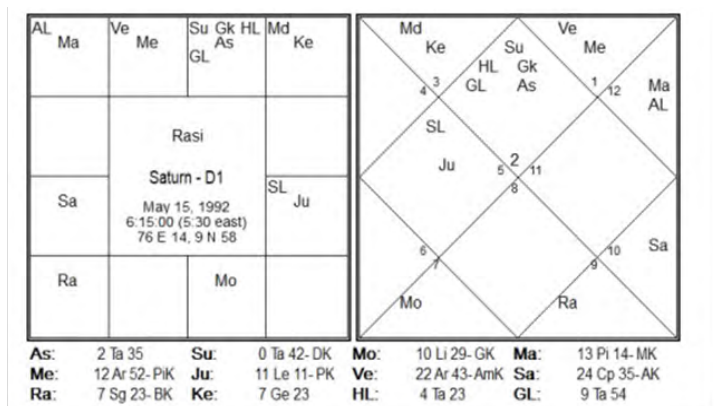

The fight between Rahu and Sun is of the King's seat and Equality and one should treat the relative/Jeev signified by the house containing this nakshatra pada with respect and also provide help whenever needed. Such as, if this Nakshatra Pada and its navamsa goes in the 8th house - one has to help their family by providing resources, medical help, etc., as well as deal with issues of inheritance. Also the relationship with one's in-laws can get spoiled due to a lack of resources or due to the native being unable to help them during the times of trouble.

In this pada, the sin of Jeev hatya (killing a living being) is indicated as it is the 8th Navamsa of death containing Leo (signifying immunity and soul). The native should perform havan for ancestors and make donations for sick children or in children's hospitals. The statue of the nephew made of gold should be donated to the Brahmin, accompanied by a mantra for forgiveness, as Brahmins can mitigate negative effects through their knowledge, rituals, and sadhana.

Additionally, as there was a killing of Jeev (Jupiter), one must offer help and make offerings to Jupiter to remove this curse.

Rasi:

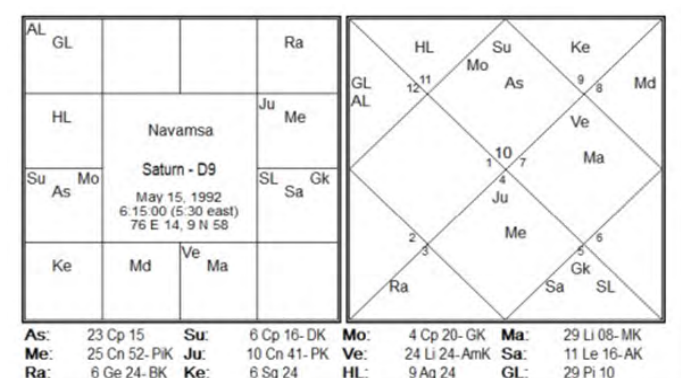

In the above chart, Saturn is in Dhanishta Nakshatra Pada 1. Saturn, being the significator of household life, causes constant trouble for the native in terms of marriage due to a high level of suspiciousness between the partners. Saturn is placed in the 9th, in 3rd position from the 7th house (which is ruled by Mars), and it goes into the Leo navamsa (4th navamsa). As a result, there is a lack of harmony, especially since it is positioned 8th from its base energy of Capricorn.

This is intentional karma and is reflected in the husband's behaviour. Despite knowing the spouse's loyalty, the husband still tends to create trouble. As mentioned earlier, these natives bear the curse of Shukra and Budh, affecting their relationships, patterns, and causing disturbances with siblings and other relations.

In the navamsa chart, Saturn, the lagna lord, is placed in the 8th house along with Gulika. This configuration suggests that the person should strive to maintain a peaceful relationship with their spouse. There appears to be an ego issue, and the native himself feels insecure about the possibility of the spouse outshining him. The conflict of energies, evident in this situation, is attributed to Mars, the ruler of this nakshatra.

Navamsa:

Sun conjunct Moon in Lagna is also creating a bitter-sweet relationship kind of combination and everything is run on compromise.

Rasi:

In the above chart, the Moon is in Dhanishta Nakshatra Pada 1. The central theme of her life revolves around her married life encountering challenges due to Mercury and external interference. Her inclination towards taking control in her career persisted, and even after achieving success, she struggled to find love in her life.

The 34th year proves to be challenging for Dhanishta natives, which is also reflected in her last film, “The Misfits” (1961), written by Miller specifically for Monroe. Despite the film’s production, her marriage with Miller disintegrated, leading to their divorce in 1961.

Navamsa:

In the navamsa chart as well, the Moon is in the 8th house, and its dispositor goes into the 6th house with Saturn and Mars. This combination intensifies the curse, both from the nakshatra and this planetary alignment, indicating a potential for sudden endings and conspiracies by loved ones. These natives tend to trust their partners deeply to the extent that they may find it difficult to comprehend how their partners could conspire to harm them, and such events in life are attributed to the curse of Shukra.

Monroe's health issues were evident as she was frequently absent from the set due to illnesses. In June 1962, she was fired from the film, and though later rehired, work never resumed.

After several months of seclusion, Monroe tragically passed away from an overdose of sleeping pills (barbiturates) in her Los Angeles home.

2nd Pada : Capricorn Rashi - Virgo Navamsa:

Lord Shiva says to Ma Parvati - In the west, there was a famous city of Yavana named Mahananda. Amongst the very clever Mlechchhas lived an intelligent brahmin. He always used to eat Mlechchha's food without any doubt, and instead of practising Sandhya worship, he engaged in gossip and harboured bad intentions. This Brahmin collected a lot of money, gems, elephants, etc., and after a long time, he died. He perished in a waterless country at the hands of a snake. Subsequently, on the orders of Yamraj, the messengers of Yama apprehended this Brahmin. After undergoing several births in the Yoni of animals, the Brahmin was eventually reborn as a human.

In his previous birth, he had forsaken Brahmin work, which is why he became bereft of sons and daughters. Neglecting the evening offering, he had consumed the grains of Mlechchha, resulting in different diseases in his body on a daily basis and constant unhappiness throughout his life.

Lord Shiva now explains the remedies - Let a beautiful house, filled with wealth and grains, be stocked with food and offered to the Brahmin. Perform one lakh chants of the basic mantra of Gayatri and one lakh chants of the mantra of Jataveda. Conduct Havan, Marjan, and Tarpan for the tenth part of the chanting. Subsequently, observe tri-maasi fast and fast on Sunday Saptami. Later, after adorning the Kapila cow with a calf with gold and clothes, donate it to the Brahmin in the form of Shiva in a proper manner. Then, donate the horse along with the umbrella and chevron.

By doing this, all diseases are soon eradicated, and the woman gets cured of infertility, eventually giving birth to a son.

Deeper meaning

Lord Shiva says that in the West, there is a foreign city named Mahananda. This is mentioned because this pada falls in the 9th navamsa, and since the base energy is of Saturn, the direction is considered to be the west. The term “Mahananda” means immense joy. The karaka of happiness is Jupiter, and Sagittarius falling in the 4th house of Jupiter’s exaltation supports this notion (Sagittarius will be 4th from Virgo - the 9th pada of Capricorn or the 2nd pada of Dhanishta). Then, Mahakaal explains that among the clever Mlecchas in the city, there was also a clever Brahmin. This is stated because Virgo is the sign of intellect, and as the 9th navamsa, the Brahmin's intellect is heightened. However, the intellect is confined to the material world itself due to the Rashi belonging to Mercury (Child). The individual is unable to comprehend the bigger picture in life and becomes entangled in materialistic pursuits on the earthly plane. This is evident in the Brahmin's story, where he accumulated significant wealth, gems, and other resources but neglected the duties of his Varna and harboured bad intentions. This pada signifies a tendency to disrespect and criticise elders, teachers, father, and guru, as Virgo is the sign associated with finding faults.

This pada, falling on the 9th navamsa of Virgo, indicates a lack of principles and a failure to fulfil responsibilities towards one's elders and seniors. This led the Brahmin to deviate from his principles and caused his downfall. The underlying theme of this Nakshatra is to rectify one's mistakes and adhere to principles that uplift rather than create disputes with others and foster selfishness.

As the Brahmin strayed from his duties, spreading negativity through his intentions and speech, he eventually faced the consequences. Bitten by a snake, he passed away due to the poison itself. This is symbolised by the 6th house from Virgo navamsa having Aquarius, signifying troubles associated with snakes (Rahu, the Karak of Snakes).

Lord Shiv then mentions that the Brahmin was not able to beget sons and daughters, indicating low self-esteem and inferiority complex within the Brahmin, due to his own past life misdeeds. The Brahmin neglected performing pujas and engaged in the work of Mlecchas. In practical terms, the native may experience challenges in receiving appreciation from bosses, obtaining promotions, and facing a negative societal image. These consequences stem from the native's karma of disrespecting elders, criticising others, and neglecting assigned responsibilities, as this pada falls in the 9th navamsa.

To solve these issues, Lord Shiv prescribes the remedy of donating a house filled with food and wealth to a Brahmin. This act is expected to establish principles, commitments, and good morals in the native's life, symbolised by Sagittarius being in the 4th house (Jupiter's exaltation house). Fasting on Saptami on Sundays is also recommended, as Saptami tithi embodies the energies of the 7th house, where Surya Dev is debilitated. Fasting on this day will uplift the native's morals and provide proper direction in life.

Furthermore, the donation of a horse (Surya Dev's Vahan) along with an umbrella and chevron is suggested. These items represent the 5th house of respect and vision. Notably, the 5th house from Virgo is Capricorn, reinforcing the theme of a lack of respect and vision due to which the Brahmin fell from his path. Performing these donations is believed to alleviate the curse of this Nakshatra.

Example:

Rasi:

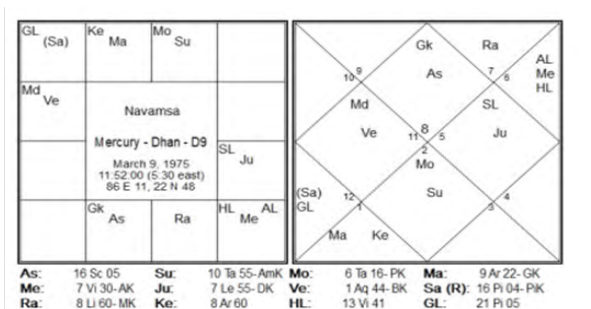

In the above chart, Mercury is in Dhanishta Nakshatra Pada 2. It is placed in the 8th house along with the 11th and 6th lord Mars, as well as the 2nd lord Moon.

As the story goes, the Brahmin swayed away from his duties, gave poison to others through his intentions and speech, and eventually was bitten by a snake, leading to his demise due to poison. Similarly, the native misguided his father and uncle, became ruthless (Virgo navamsa carrying the base energy of Capricorn being karma), and gained possession of the ancestral property.

He went on to start his own business eventually - let's check the navamsa to learn more.

Navamsa:

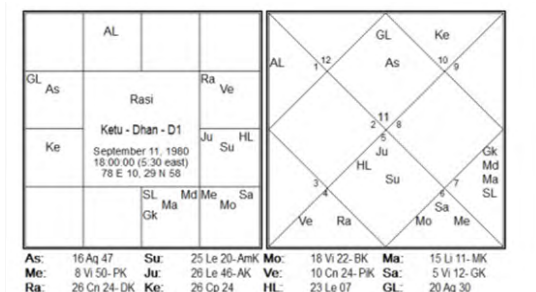

In the navamsa chart, Mercury is placed in the 11th house while the dispositor Rahu is in the 12th house, indicating that the curse will come from upper lokas. The native went into independent business.

Now his situation is such that he is grappling with multiple health issues and is taking various types of medicine depending upon the issue, making it difficult for him to sit and live peacefully.

As mentioned earlier, these natives should follow traditions to remain healthy and wealthy, as you will see many Dhanishta natives who went against family traditions and became paupers in life.

Example:

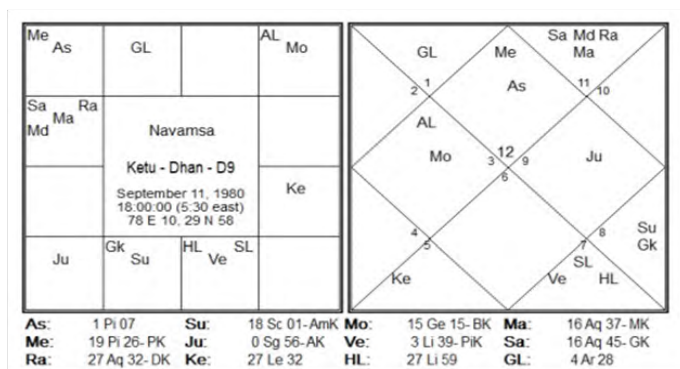

Rasi:

In this chart, Ketu is in Dhanishta Nakshatra Pada 1. As the 10th lord, Ketu is placed in the 12th house, so now he is associated with foreign clients to sell his SAAS software. However, due to some exceptional regulations, the regulatory authority has created issues for him to sell it further and even run/market ads for it.

As a consequence, the sales have dropped, leading to a 55% reduction in the workforce in order to prevent the business from sinking. Investors have started creating issues for him, and now he is in great trouble.

Navamsa:

In the navamsa chart, Ketu is in the 6th house in Leo navamsa. Troubles started in the 40th year, which is considered a challenging age here. Presently, it is becoming difficult as they are somehow trying to save it from bankruptcy.

Citrine stone was suggested, as well as chanting Durga Chalisa 5 times a day and offering Kheer to poor people. After these remedies, the native's issues with regulatory authorities (Leo navansh) are on the verge of being solved, and marketing under certain guidelines is being done to promote and get clients.

Dhanishta Nakshatra:

3rd Pada: Aquarius Rashi - Libra navamsa:

Lord Shiv says to Ma Parvati - Whatever Vedic or worldly work is done, man experiences the fruits of that work in this world and the next world. There lived a Kshatriya in the country of Saurashtra who used to kill deer and birds in the interest of his dharma or duty. One time he went to the Durmati forest, and there he killed a pregnant deer along with her two children. After bringing them, this evil spirit, along with his son and wife, ate them, and after attaining old age, he died. Eventually, he attained the body of different animals and thereafter he became a human being. Now, full of wealth, he resides in a pure country as a scholar, a virtuous person, an orator, and a royal servant. In his previous birth, he had killed many deer and many pregnant deer as well. Due to that sin, his progeny gets destroyed, and his body suffers from many diseases and very high fever.

Lord Shiv now explains the remedies - He should devote one-eighth of his household income to charitable work. One lakh chanting of Gayatri Moola Mantra should be done, one tenth of the chanting should be done for Havan, Marjan and Tarpan. Then make a deer of twenty tola gold along with the child and give it to the Brahmin in the form of Shiva. Donate a ten-varna cow (Dashvarnwali), especially a bed, plant a garden on the road, dig a well and feed laddus to a hundred Brahmins. By doing this, a son will definitely be born, all the diseases will be destroyed, the defect of infertility will be removed and a child will be born.

Deeper meaning

Lord Shiva first says that the karma, both good and bad, done in this life is experienced in this and upcoming lives as well. Such a statement is rarely made by Lord Shiva, as we have not encountered anything other than the story since Moola.

The reason for this statement is that now we are in the Rashi of Rahu Maharaj which is the natural 11th house of the chart, the house of desires and focus. Several times, one will face problems due to their excessive desires in life, which may lead them to commit actions that are illegal or use unwanted methods to fulfil their goals, harming others in the process. Hence, such actions should be avoided, and one should set limits on their desires, as Rahu does not have any limits, which can lead to a lot of troubles later on.

This is also the navamsa of Libra, which is the Rashi of materialistic things that can result in excessive physical and material desires. These desires should eventually be kept under control as much as possible.

Lord Shiv then says that the Kshatriya used to kill animals and birds in the interest of his duties.

This is mentioned due to the excessive desires of the Kshatriya, and as this is the 9th navamsa of Religion, Principals, and Duty, the Kshatriya started killing in the name of religion. However, this act is highly immoral, as a lot of animals got killed just for the pleasure of the Kshatriya. Eventually, a pregnant deer also had to leave her body along with her children. Notice how deer and birds are mentioned - Mars represents deer, and Mercury represents birds, which shows that the action (Mars) of the Kshatriya is being performed in the wrong way, solely due to the self-interest (Mercury) of the Kshatriya. The Kshatriya did not even have any regrets about killing animals and even consumed the meat with the whole family, showing extreme selfishness in fulfilling one's desires.

As mentioned before, Aquarius rashi has no limits in terms of desires, and in Libra navamsa, the desires are solely on the physical or material level, due to which physical beings (Jeev) were harmed. When any prominent planet occupies this Nakshatra, there will be a lot of greed or illegal activities done, and the native will become blind to understand anything other than his wishes. This will lead to harm coming to someone else, and eventually, there will be troubles for the native. In his next life, some of his wishes were fulfilled, but at the cost of the passing away of children and suffering from various bodily diseases and fever.

Lord Shiv says that the remedy is to donate the eighth portion of wealth, addressing the effects of the 8th house, as it will bring the influence of Ketu and help in limiting the desires of the native. Additionally, the donation of a gold idol of a deer is mentioned, which will reduce the malefic effects and actions of the native. Since Mars is the Karak of deer, offering the idol to the Brahmin (Jupiter) will calm down the malefic effects of Mars. Consequently, the native will be able to make right decisions and take appropriate actions in his life, ultimately freeing himself from the curse of this Nakshatra.

Example:

Rasi:

In the rasi chart, the Moon is in Dhanishta Pada 3. As the 4th lord, it goes into the 7th navamsa, indicating that the native is highly disturbed in terms of family life and mental health.

Having the Moon in the 11th house is also unfavourable for mental health, creating a situation similar to depression for the native.

The native appears to lack emotional attachment, whether with friends or relatives, since marriage. Despite taking significant responsibility for the family, married life is in shambles.

Navamsa:

As mentioned, if any prominent planet occupies this nakshatra, then in the past life there would have been a lot of greed or involvement in illegal activities. In this life, the native becomes blind to understanding anything other than their wishes, leading to harm to someone else and eventual personal troubles for the native.

This combination is also evident in the Navamsa chart where the Moon is in Lagna along with Lagna Lord Venus. Thus, the central theme of the native's life revolves around maintaining balance in relationships.

Moreover, since the Moon is the dispositor of Ketu, placed in the 10th house, the husband of the native has also been wrongly accused in various workplace situations over time (as the 10th lord). Additionally, Rahu in Capricorn reflects a similar theme.

Dhanishta Nakshatra:

4th Pada: Aquarius Rashi - Scorpio navamsa:

Lord Shiva said to Maa Parvati - Many people used to live in the famous city of Siddhpur, three yojanas south of Mathura. There lived a Chhipi (warrior class) Vaishnava named Gyanvallabha Balabhadra, who was wealthy. This Chhipi (warrior class) had three sons; among them, he respected only the youngest son and did not respect the other sons. The Mahashudra accumulated a lot of wealth, and then at the time of partition of wealth, there was discord amongst the brothers. A Brahmin was a friend of this Chhipi. Hearing this trouble, he came to the Chhipi's house. Due to his troubles, the Brahmin died, and then the Chhipi gave all his wealth to his youngest son. After a long period, the Chhipi died. Thereafter when he received a human form, he was born in the central region of the country, as a sickly man who was rich with grains. He was childless as well.

Lord Shiva now explains the remedies - He should donate one-sixth of his household wealth in charitable work and then donate a cow of ten colours to purify his sins. One lakh chants of Gayatri and Suryanarayan mantras should be done, one-tenth of the chanting should be done for Havan, Marjan, and Tarpan. He should also organise brahmin bhojan (for brahmins who follow Vedic lifestyle and rituals and read Vedas) for brahmins equalling 1/10th the number of jaap done in tarpan (i.e., bhojan for at least 10 brahmins). Then give Kushmand and coconut along with the Panchratnas to a Brahmin observing Satyavrata while standing in the middle of river Ganga.

Deeper Meaning

Mahakaal begins the story in the City of Siddhpur, which can be seen as the navamsa of Scorpio. Scorpio belongs to Ketu, who is the Karak of Liberation. Someone who is Siddh has attained the highest state of Knowledge and perfection both Physically and Spiritually. The name of the Hidden Vaishnava was Gyanvallabha Balabhadra - this is said because the Navamsa of Scorpio is hidden in the Zodiac, and since Balabhadra means Fortunate and Lucky - this Pada in the zodiac can give inherited wealth and resources as it is mentioned that the Vaishnava was quite wealthy. Since the base energy is of Aquarius (Fulfilment of desires and wealth) and goes into the Navamsa of Scorpio - one gets a lot of resources and wealth in the form of Inheritance. It is then mentioned that the Vaishnava did not respect his sons equally, which shows inequality and partiality - Practically you can see unequal division of wealth and inheritance as well as problems in career due to the Native himself, as this is the 10th Navamsa.

As the Vaishnava did not treat his children respectfully - such natives will make mistakes due to which others will get emotionally troubled within the family, and the native would have to take care of his family in the time of crisis - this is because the Moon, being the Karak of Family, and the 9th lord, is getting debilitated in the Navamsa. Lord Shiva then mentions the Vaishnava as Mahasudra, which is quite opposite to someone who is a Vaishnava - this is because the Vaishnava was not performing his duties properly and was involved in work which he should not do - as we can see that the Vaishnava made wealth through Business with his brother, then only the separation among the wealth would have happened. Dispute among Brothers is present as the 3rd house has Capricorn rashi in which Mars (Lagan Lord and 6th lord) is exalted, due to which there are fights among siblings - this again shows that the native is putting efforts into wrong actions in life such as following the wrong people, not listening to others' advice, and not treating everyone equally. Further into the story, the Vaishnava takes the wealth of his friend and uses it for his own family - this shows that this nakshatra Pada will get a lot of Inherited resources from others but will not be able to use it properly due to excessive greed - in this case, the Vaishnava should have stopped the discord and saved the Brahmin, but due to his own greediness of wealth, he was unable to save the wealth equally for him.

One should use wealth according to one's needs and distribute it among the family depending on the need. This was not done by the Vaishnava, as there was no liking for the elder sons, and he was always partial against them. Such a native should learn to treat everyone equally and offer donations depending on the needs of the person. Alternatively, one should donate the articles in the home that are not in use, such as donating old clothes to sweepers, cleaners, etc., as this will reduce the curse of this nakshatra.

Lord Shiva then explains the remedies in which the donation of the 6th portion is said to be done along with Gayatri Jaap, and then offering Panchratnas to a Brahmin while standing in River Ganga - all these remedies are for the trine of the 6th house, as Aries goes in the 6th house from Scorpio navamsa, Gayatri Jaap is for Leo in the 10th house, and donations of the Panchratnas are for Sagittarius. These remedies will give a new direction to the native's life and bring about new energy to take the existing responsibilities in his life.

Additionally, the river Ganga is also mentioned because Moon, being the 9th lord, is debilitated in the Lagna; hence, dipping oneself in the holy waters will reduce the curse of this Nakshatra.

In the rasi chart, Ketu is in Dhanishta Nakshatra Pada 4. The native is experiencing constant instability issues in the workplace as he has been trying hard to secure a job abroad. Despite having a Ph.D., the transition at the workplace has not yielded great results, and his career has stalled.

The native is making efforts to uplift himself, but due to a lack of motivation, he is unable to stabilise his position. This nakshatra pada is all about instability and transformations, as the native has created a situation of denial and gone against the fulfilment of wishes in the family, given its placement in the 2nd house.

Navamsa:

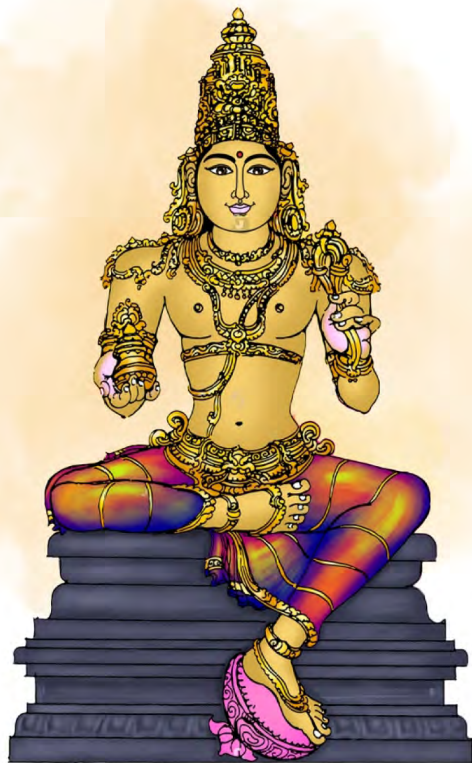

In navamsa, Ketu is placed in the 10th house, being the 10th lord, so directly the professional growth and progress of the native is becoming stagnant.

As mentioned, he should learn to treat everyone equally and offer donations depending on the need of the person (donations - Ketu).

Alternatively, one should donate the articles in the home which are not in use, such as donating old clothes to sweepers, cleaners, etc., as this will reduce the curse of this nakshatra.

SHATABHISHA

Shatabhisha Nakshatra

God of Water

This is the third nakshatra of Rahu placed in Aquarius, and the deity of this nakshatra is Varuna - the god of water. This star is also called the “100 healers” as the energy of Aquarius is all about masses. The pressure, which was in tremendous form in the sign of Capricorn, finally burst out in Aquarius, and Shatabhisha is the epitome of it. It shows that what you are not able to manage alone is done with the help of a group, networking, and friends.

The energy of Aquarius is not about centralised power, as in Capricorn, but distributed power with specialised skills focusing on one task at a time and contributing to a bigger cause. This is a star of the dark prince or leader of masses who manages to rule with the support of masses and network. Shatabhisha is a true power of masses, which shows that every single individual, when combined, can achieve any bigger task, even if that task is related to healing.

Shatabhisha is ruled by Varuna, who is a divine healer and creates an environment of healing. If you observe the symbol of this nakshatra, which is a circle, it represents the closed atmosphere of the universe. All three nakshatras of Rahu are related to the space element, and Varuna is the one who has placed all the nakshatras in the sky and made the circle of stars. The cluster of stars in Shatabhisha represents that the energy distribution in this nakshatra is not focused on one approach but involves multiple steps of healing.

Varuna is prayed along with Mitra, who is the ruler of Anuradha nakshatra in Rig Veda. Mitra and Varuna are both sons of Aditi and considered as Adityas, but the reason for their friendship is the support they provide to each other in completing tasks. Mitra is the spark, while Varuna is the ignition. When we understand the Anuradha nakshatra, we realise that Anuradha is related to batteries, as stated in Agastya Samhita.

संस्थाप्य मृण्मये पात्रे ताम्रपत्रं सुसंस्कृतम् ।

छादयेच्छिखिग्रीवेन चार्दाभिः काष्ठापांसुभिः ॥

दस्तालोष्टो निधात्वयः पारदाच्छादितस्ततः ।

संयोगाज्जायते तेजो मित्रावरुणसंज्ञितम् ॥

This shloka describes the formula to produce electricity using the process of electroplating in a simple manner. In an earthen pot, a copper plate is placed along with copper sulphate and wet sawdust. Placing a zinc sheet on top will produce energy with the name of Mitra-Varuna.

When this electricity was produced using the experiment, the obtained voltage was 1.2 volts. This voltage divides the water into two parts, which are positive and negative, called Mitra and Varuna energy. The last part of the shloka says that when you combine 100 of such earthen pots, it will create the energy of Mitra-Varuna. Essentially, this is building a large battery of 120 volts DC.

So the initial part of energy was developed by Mitra and then amplified by Varuna by connecting 100 of them in series. This is exactly why everywhere in Rig Veda, Mitra and Varuna are prayed together.

This nakshatra presents a problem related to instability when any retrograde planet occupies it. No planet is ever exalted in the sign of Aquarius, as the energy here is extremely high. This part of the zodiac acts like an amplifier of energy, and Shatabhisha nakshatra is the epitome of it. No planet can ever stay stable in it due to a continuous series of energy. This is why problems like rheumatism, nervous issues, and seizures are common features of this nakshatra on a physical level. The same results are experienced on the monetary and success levels. If your 11th or 2nd lord of income goes into this nakshatra, you cannot have a stable income; there will be fluctuations. It will depend on the nature of the planet to create stability.

One more process happens with this kind of battery: the water in such batteries will turn into life-giving oxygen.

This is the epitome of Rahu energy, as it gives us a clear idea that this part of the zodiac is filled with life-giving oxygen, technology, and results that are amplified 100 times in this nakshatra. This nakshatra will have troubles related to the Sun - which represents father, government, legality - and the Moon - representing emotions, motherland, house, and staying at one place.

Their life is always in trouble as these people hardly settle down. You will see their life pattern being troubled by their rebellious nature and their inclination to do things as they wish. These individuals build their own ecosystem and methods of breaking family curses. It is like a parallel government. Similarly, Varuna is considered equal to Indra, as Indra has no control over seas, but the underwater domain is ruled by Varuna. This domain is controlled by Varuna only. This is one of the luckiest nakshatras when it comes to making relationships, finding comfort, fostering innovation, and leading any radical change in society.

Shatabhisha nakshatra is like an elder sibling of the family who cannot afford to fail, as there is no backup for this nakshatra. If you observe the themes in this nakshatra, every example we have taken involves individuals who are either alone, and there is no backup for them. They are their own backup. These natives have taken responsibility for everyone, got blamed for every failure, but in the end, after a lot of hard work, persistence, and facing numerous challenges, these natives have survived and thrived.

Shatabhisha nakshatra, like all of these Rahu nakshatras, has to go through the pain of heartbreak, emotional damages, numerous insults, and blame games. Finally, when they succeed, they hardly have any emotion left in them. This is a life story of any of the Rahu Nakshatras.

All of this is necessary to bring you to the level of a Dark Prince. There is a reason it is called the Dark Prince, as you need to be emotionally so unavailable even for yourself that people feel like you are the real demon. Everyone will say that you have changed, but no one understands why. Shatabhisha nakshatra natives become so cold that they do not react instantly, but slowly, in a hundred ways, they attack you, slowly depleting you completely, like a substance in acid.

Interestingly, all of the acid attacks have prominent Shatabhisha nakshatra.

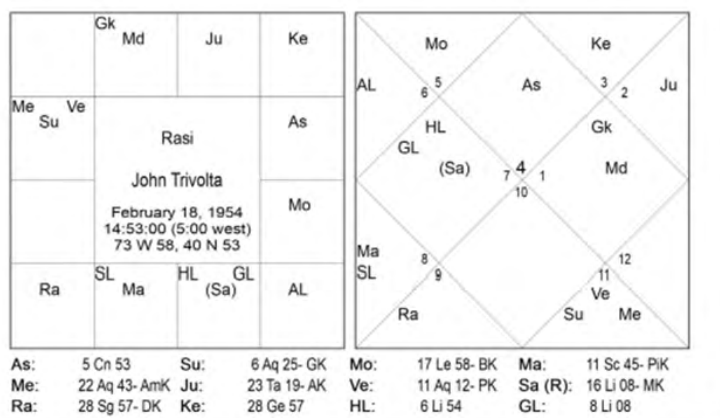

This nakshatra is about secretive groups, vigilante-like Batman, detectives, and healers with extraordinary capacity—individuals who go the extra mile in solving problems through unorthodox methods. It means whichever planet comes into this nakshatra has to now resolve issues using the energy of Shatabhisha nakshatra. It cannot be done in a normal, old run-of-the-mill way; there will be an element of Shatabhisha in this particular planet.

Planets which are malefic by nature will perform extraordinarily well in this nakshatra if they own evil houses. On the other hand, if any planet which is mridu (soft) in nature occupies this nakshatra, it learns the lessons of life in a hard way. For instance, one of the famous actors in the West, John Travolta has Shukra in Shatabhisha nakshatra placed in the 8th house. The chart is given below.

Rasi:

His fourth lord, Shukra, which governs vehicles, houses, and mother, is placed in the eighth house of the birth chart in Shatabhisha nakshatra. Shukra is a soft planet and owns a very special house of mental peace, while it also governs the eleventh house of gains and friend circles. If we look at his relationships, vehicles, and house, we will have a clear idea of how the energy of the eighth house Venus in Satabhisha nakshatra is working in his chart.

He married three times, and of all three times, his wives died, two of them due to breast cancer, and one of them due to seizures.

Shukra, being the significator of a wife, created instability in his life related to relationships, as he had to continuously attend marriage counselling to maintain stability in the marriage.

He is known to fly aeroplanes and owns four of them. This is again a result of two planets: Saturn is exalted in the 4th house, and Venus is placed in Shatabhisha nakshatra, which is known for flying. Being an 11th lord as well and placed in the 8th house, the dasa of Jupiter this time was good for his career but bad for his personal life, especially for the health of his wife. On one hand, Shukra is giving him every luxury to enjoy but taking away life partners by giving diseases, creating incurable illnesses.

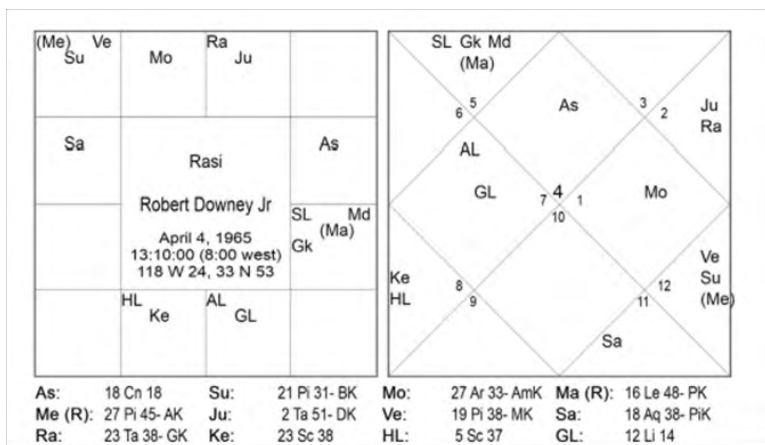

Let's look at another example for this nakshatra.

Example:

The chart below belongs to Iron Man - Robert Downey Jr, a wonderful actor who has Saturn in Satabhisha nakshatra, which is the lord of the 7th and 8th houses. Saturn is the planet that governs our profession in life.

During the dasa of Jupiter-Saturn from 2007 to 2010, he gained fame for portraying the character of Iron Man. Additionally, during this time period, he also starred in two movies on Sherlock Holmes, and interestingly, one of the movie's names was "Game of Shadows." As we all know, the significator of Iron is Saturn, and Iron Man became his iconic identity during this period.

Rasi:

In 2022, Robert Downey Jr. started his Saturn Mahadasha, and during this time, he did a movie based on the Atomic Bomb and Oppenheimer. This aligns well with the true theme of Shatabhisha nakshatra - releasing pressure. It's like nature provides us with opportunities based on our stars and their influences on our lives.

Where Dhanishta nakshatra had discipline and control, Shatabhisha is an uncontrolled ride. Imagine a person who is getting energy from the realms of the sky where everyone is trying to heal you and fulfil all your needs by creating an environment of healing.

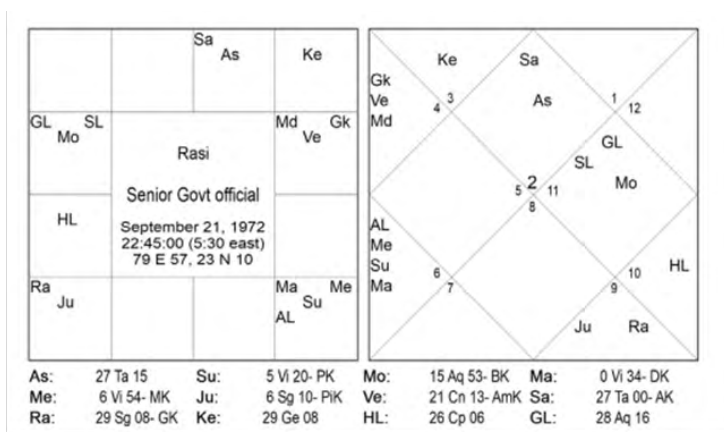

Any planet in this nakshatra, be it good or bad, comes here to become powerful and increase its potency by 100 times. Depending on whether the planet is considered beneficial or malefic, it will give you results. No planet is completely good or bad but has its areas of strength or weakness. As seen in the examples above, the same planet that gave wealth also took away partners' lives. The influence of Shatabhisha nakshatra can amplify both positive and challenging aspects of planetary energies.

This part of the zodiac is like vinegar. Just as the life of any food is preserved when placed in vinegar, vinegar is formed from the process of fermentation, which is the domain of Anuradha nakshatra. What vinegar does to food is preserve its life and increase its potency. Similarly, when a body part, such as the 4th lord, goes into Shatabhisha nakshatra, the environment may not be conducive for living beings, such as the mother. However, it is excellent for wealth, properties, and materialistic things. The influence of Shatabhisha nakshatra can enhance the potency and preservation of certain aspects of life.

Example:

Rasi:

The chart above belongs to a senior government official. If you see, the Moon is placed in Shatabhisha nakshatra in the 10th house. The Moon governs the career of the native, and, unsurprisingly, he was involved in the Namami Gange project to clean the river Ganga and later took charge of the Irrigation department in another state. He is using technology and implementing new ways of using water in the fields.

Despite the accomplishments, Shatabhisha being the nakshatra of instability, this native is still troubled by not getting enough status that he deserves. He faces challenges in getting along with bosses due to differences in opinions. Additionally, Moon being in Kendrum is not helping in this regard.

Currently he is running the Mercury Mahadasha, Mercury is debilitated in Navamsa and is creating dissatisfaction in work.

1st Pada: Aquarius Rashi - Sagittarius navamsa:

In Mathura, there lived an Ahir (caste of cattle-breeders) named Gopal, who earned his living from Godhan (cows). His wife was a very beautiful woman named Sati. Thousands of calves and bulls were always looked after at Gopal's house. Once, it rained during the winter season, and due to a lack of shelter, the cows and their calves suffered. Additionally, due to a lack of food, the cows, bulls, and their calves died. After this, after many days, Gopal also passed away.

Eventually, after going through different Yonis (life forms), he attained the human form. Despite being blessed with wealth, he suffers from diseases, and instead of having a son, he is born with a girl. In his previous birth, he had castrated the bulls, making them seedless, and because of that sin, his wife repeatedly miscarries in his current life.

Lord Shiva explains the remedies: The person should donate a thousand Ghats in the month of Magh. They should keep fasting continuously on Ekadashi and bathe in Triveni. Additionally, they should donate a Dashvarna cow and a bed. He should perform one lakh chants of the “Aakrishnen” Surya Mantra, and one-tenth of it should be offered as Havan, Marjan, and Tarpan. Thereafter, he should feed a hundred Brahmins with kheer, khaand, ghee, and curd. By following these remedies, one is undoubtedly freed from fever, and the lineage prospers.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva mentions an Ahir named Gopal who earned his living through cows, calves, and bulls. In this Navansh, one gets desires fulfilled through Jeev (Sagittarius), as Gopal takes care of the animals through which he eventually gains wealth. The name Gopal, meaning Cowherd, is suitable for his work, indicating immense knowledge regarding the same. However, it's important to note that this is the 11th Navansh of desire fulfilment, but it also gives rise to excessive greed, and one may resort to shortcuts to achieve their goals.

The narrative continues, stating that the animals passed away due to a lack of shelter and food, indicating that they were not nourished properly for a long time. This negligence suggests that the Ahir did not bear the responsibilities of the animals, leading to troubles with childbirth and diseases in his next life. The curse of this Nakshatra is irresponsibility and an excessive desire for enjoyment, causing troubles for others in their lives.

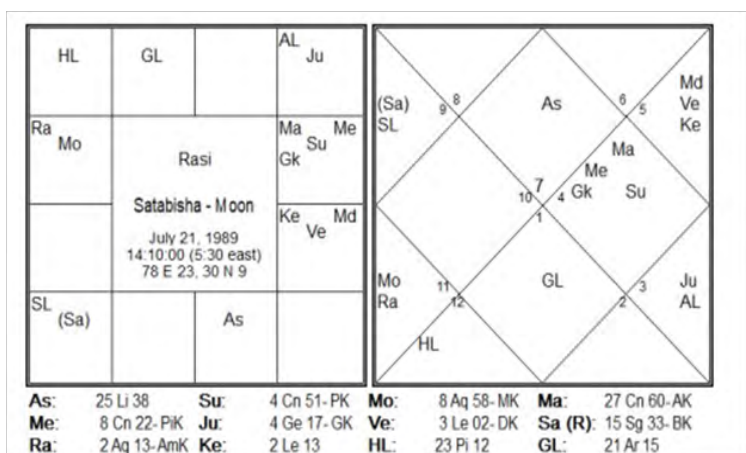

The reason for Gopal's neglect is explained as he was fulfilling his materialistic desires, already being wealthy. Hence, for such a long time, the animals did not receive nourishment. Additionally, one is reminded to provide emotional and physical nourishment to others. From Aquarius and Sagittarius Navamsa, the sign of Cancer goes into the 6th and 8th respectively, indicating a lack of nourishment and care for the respective significations in past lives. For instance, if Venus goes into this nakshatra, the native will have to provide for his wife.

Mahakaal further explains that the castration of the bulls, seen as the 5th from Sagittarius is Aries, indicates troubles with childbirth. The remedy for this Nakshatra would be to help animals and continuously donate and aid all living beings for their betterment, depending on the house this Pada falls in. This aligns with Lord Shiva's mention of donation to Brahmins in the remedial section, particularly associated with Sagittarius.

Mars is the karaka of invalidity, and when Aries goes into the 5th house, it signifies a destruction of the ability to have children for the animals. Therefore, helping disabled children or mothers who are going through troubles, such as widowed individuals or single mothers, will help reduce the curse of this Nakshatra.

Example:

Rasi:

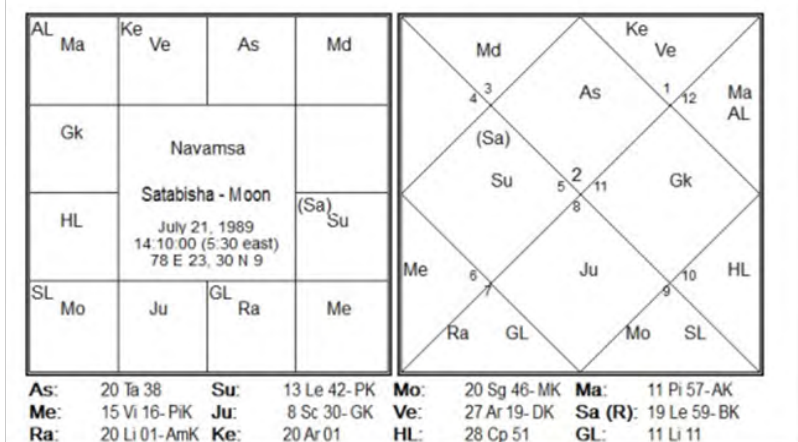

In this chart, Moon being the 10th lord is placed in Satabhisha Nakshatra Pada 1.

The happiness and mental peace in the chart is missing as the girl, after marriage, faced problems related to bedroom life as her husband was very aggressive.

One more thing to notice in her case is that Venus is in the 11th house with Mandi and Gulika.

This also shows that happiness from relationships will be missing

Navamsa:

In the Navamsa chart as well, the Moon is placed in the 8th house, with its dispositor Jupiter in the 7th house. This indicates that the partner has excessive desires and an increased inclination towards intimacy, but this is only causing troubles and harassment to the native and is creating a dent in marital happiness. The essence of the nakshatra emphasises maintaining a boundary, and instead of being immoral and gimmicky about it. The Navamsa chart, being a microscopic analysis of marriage, highlights these challenges in more detail.

Shatabhisha Nakshatra:

2nd Pada: Aquarius Rashi - Capricorn Navamsa:

Lord Shiva narrates to Ma Parvati the story of a man known as Mrigari who lived in Madhya Pradesh. Mrigari was a greedy hunter, indulging in hunting and killing birds every day to sell their meat and support his family. His life passed in this manner, and he eventually died due to old age.

After coming out of hell, Mrigari reincarnated first in the form of an eagle, then a camel, and finally a fox. Eventually, in his human birth, he was endowed with wealth and grains. However, in this life as well, he continued to kill many birds. Due to the same sins committed in his previous birth, diseases arose in his body.

In his prior life, Mrigari had killed deers and their young ones, and as a result of this sin, his sons died in his current life. Furthermore, his wife became Kakavandya and gave birth to a girl, experiencing the defect of Vadhyatvadosh.

Lord Shiva provides remedies for the sins. The native should invest one-sixth part of his house in charitable work. Chant one lakh mantras Gayatri and Jatavedase, and one-tenth part of the chanting should be done for havan, marjana, and tarpan. He should donate ten cows, especially donate gold, listen to the story of Harivanshpuran, observe Ekadashi vrat, and provide food to a hundred Brahmins. Additionally, he should give dakshina according to his capacity.

By following these remedies, the lineage prospers, and the Vandhyatva defect is removed. The Kakavandhya woman attains a son, resolving the issues related to infertility.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva begins the story by mentioning a Mrigari (Hunter), and this can be understood through the Navansh of Capricorn, where Mars gets exalted, and Mars is the Karak of Fighting. It is highlighted that Mrigari was a greedy hunter. The base energy is associated with Aquarius, and since the Rashi of Capricorn possesses the quality of hoarding and holding on to things, Mrigari continued killing animals and birds daily and was unable to let go of this habit.

Capricorn, being the 12th Navansh of donations and letting go, suggests a theme of relinquishing, but in Mrigari's case, he fails to let go of his desires (Aquarius) for killing due to excessive greed. Similarly, the theme of this Nakshatra is hoarding excessive resources through wrong actions and tightly holding onto them to the detriment of others, akin to Mrigari killing animals for his personal benefit. It's worth noting that Aquarius goes into the 2nd house from the Navansh, indicating an obsession over gathering resources.

Lord Shiva also mentions that Mrigari continued the killing for a long time, indicating extreme stubbornness and selfishness. The narrative reveals that Mrigari had no feelings for the animals, as young animals were killed along with their mothers. In the astrological context, the 4th house of emotions has Aries, which is logically focused on survival. The 11th house has Scorpio, indicating unearned gains, and the exalted Mars in Capricorn shows harm done to close ones or masses due to selfishness.

Individuals with prominent planets in this nakshatra pada may face difficulties related to the significations due to excessive desires and committing illegal actions to achieve their desires. For instance, if Saturn is in this nakshatra, the native might engage in backbiting or politics to secure their position at work, avoiding any potential threat. Similarly, if Venus is in this nakshatra, it suggests a mindset of collecting resources without sharing them with one's own relatives and family during times of need.

Many times, these effects are observed to impact the native himself. For instance, Venus in this Pada can indicate similar qualities in both the wife and the native, and the suffering may affect both. However, the influence can work in the opposite manner as well, depending on the specific combinations in the chart.

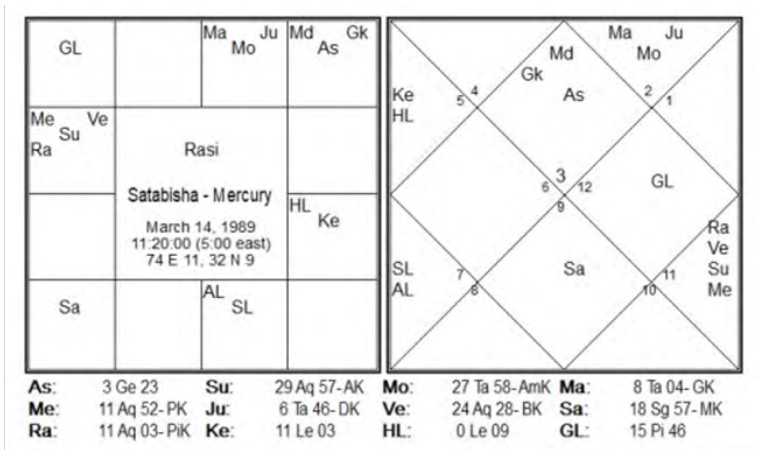

The mention of birds is significant because Gemini goes to the 6th house of disputes, and since Gemini is the rashi of the subconscious brain, the native becomes extremely selfish due to the desires of earning wealth. The remedy in this Pada is to let go and contribute to society by helping those in base survival-level situations, such as homeless people, old individuals, handicapped children, etc., on a regular basis. The mistake made by Mrigari was killing excessive birds and deer. Individuals with such tendencies may not find satisfaction even when they have everything in life. In such cases, it is advised to only keep what one can use and then donate the rest.

One of the mentioned remedies is the donation of 1/6th part of wealth to charitable work. This remedy is suggested to reduce the negative effects of the 6th house (Mercury/Mars), allowing the wealth to be directed back to society, benefiting needy individuals or animals.

Example:

Rasi:

In the Example chart, Mercury is in Satabhisha Nakshatra Pada 2. Mercury serves as the Lagna Lord and the 4th Lord.

Additionally, Mercury is a signifier of communication and advertisements, contributing to aspects related to marketing in the individual's life.

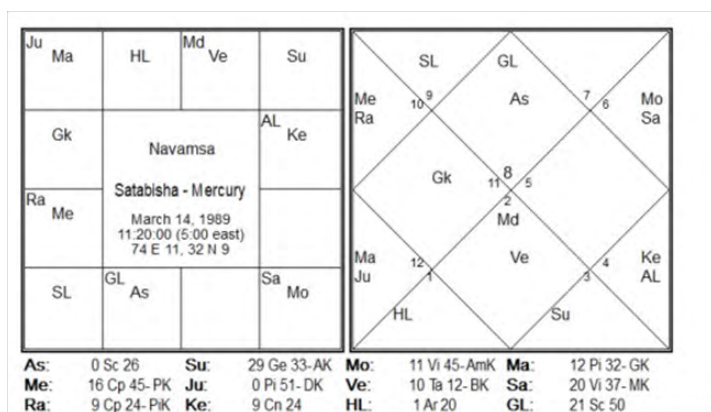

In the given scenario, the native, represented by Mercury in Satabhisha Nakshatra Pada 2, is engaged in advertising on a digital platform. However, there are ethical concerns as the individual is involved in creating false campaigns or generating false viewership on platforms like YouTube and Facebook for clients. The native seems to prioritise personal financial gains over integrity in the promotion of the products.

The mention of creating campaigns under someone in the Navamsa of Capricorn suggests conflicting actions, and the use of others' names (Mercury) for personal gain. This behaviour reflects a lack of ethical considerations and a focus solely on monetary interests.

And as Lord Shiv clearly states that due to the sin he committed in his previous birth, he has diseases in his body so you can see how the karam is getting manifested here.

Navamsa:

In the Navamsa chart, Mercury is positioned in the 3rd house along with Rahu in Capricorn.

The dispositor Saturn is placed with the Moon in the 11th house. This combination suggests that the native is experiencing a lack of peace of mind, particularly since the 11th house has a Moon-Saturn conjunction in the Navamsa sign of Virgo.

The continuous tension and stress have led the native to develop a stomach ailment. Overthinking has caused inflammation in the colon, resulting in extreme discomfort. The influence of Saturn in Virgo Navamsa is also contributing to gastric issues. This physical manifestation of stress-related ailments emphasises the importance of maintaining mental and emotional well-being.

Shatabhisha Nakshatra:

3rd Pada : Aquarius Rashi - Aquarius Navansh:

Lord Shiva narrates to Ma Parvati about individuals in Dhurandhar city near Gomti where many virtuous men lived. Among them was a Brahmin who neglected his sacred duties (Brahmakarma). He was a gambler and drunkard who also visited prostitutes and blasphemed the scriptures. After the Brahmin's death, he was reborn in a human form in a sacred land, but his body carried diseases as a consequence of the sins committed in his previous life. In that past life, the Brahmin was involved in regular gambling and had intimate relations with a prostitute, leading to the destruction of his lineage in the current life.

Lord Shiva now provides remedies for the Brahmin who, due to past sins, is afflicted with diseases in his current life. The native is advised to devote one-sixth part of his house to virtuous deeds. He is instructed to chant the “Vishnorrat” mantra one lakh times, with one-tenth of the chanting allocated for Havan, Marjan, and Tarpan. Additionally, the native should provide food to fifty Brahmins.

Further remedies include gifting a cow with its calf, adorned with gold horns and silk clothes, to the best Brahmin. The native is also instructed to make an idol of Sri Vishnu along with Maa Lakshmi using forty tola gold, adorning it with gems and pearls. Another idol of Lord Shiva is to be made with forty tola silver, adorned with various clothes and ornaments, and worshipped properly.

Lord Shiva continues by advising the native to worship the idols of Vishnu and Shiva separately with mantras, incense sticks, etc. The native is then instructed to personally give the worshipped idols to the chosen Brahmin and pay obeisance to Lord Vishnu and Lord Shiva, the givers of complete happiness. It is emphasised that by performing these actions, all sins will be destroyed, diseases will be eradicated, and the lineage will soon prosper.

Mantra:

Hey Garud-dhwaj! Hey Devesh! Hey Bhoothnath!
Hey Dayanidhe! Hey Dayasagar! Please forgive the sins committed by me in my past life!

Om Sudarshanaay Namaha; Om Trishulaay Namaha; Om Garudaay Namaha; Om Bhairavaay Namaha; Om Jayaay Namaha; Om Vijayaay Namaha; Om Batukaay Namaha; Om Kaalbhairavaay Namaha;

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva mentions that despite being born as a Brahmin, the person never engaged in the work typical of Brahmins but consistently indulged in wrongful activities such as prostitution and consuming alcohol. This illustrates that the native possessed resources and knowledge from past lives, indicating virtuous actions (Good Karam) that led to the Brahmin birth. However, due to excessive desires and lust, the native failed to fulfil the intended Karam. This tendency is reflected in both the energies of the Rashi and the Navamsa, both belonging to Rahu. Any prominent planet in this Pada is likely to face similar challenges of succumbing to excessive desires, leading to engagement in illegal activities to achieve goals and desires. The story symbolises obsession and selfish desires, attempting to fulfil one's aspirations through shortcuts and self-indulgence. The Nakshatra's theme revolves around deviating from goals through shortcuts and illegal activities, resulting in later-life troubles. The desire to achieve planetary agendas through shortcuts becomes a prominent theme; for instance, Mars in this Pada suggests an inclination towards gaining property through illegal means, disregarding existing rules. Additionally, the relationship with a brother may be strained as the native is unwilling to shoulder responsibilities for the brother.

In this Pada, it is a Vargottama Navamsa, clarifying the planets' agendas and explaining why the Brahmin took extreme steps to fulfil his desires. The remedy in this case is to contribute to society by donating items associated with the planet placed in this Pada, which will help control excessive desires.

Lord Shiva suggested giving food to Brahmins, as it instils principles in one's life, leading to the adoption of rules and regulations that may have been lacking. Additionally, the worship of Lord Vishnu, Goddess Lakshmi, and Shiva is recommended with idols made of gold and proper rituals. Gold is recommended because it symbolises the Sun and Jupiter, bringing morality and direction to the native. This, in turn, will counteract excessive desires, bring the native's life under control, and foster adherence to rules and duties.

Shatabhisha Nakshatra:

4th Pada: Aquarius Rashi - Pisces Navansh:

Lord Shiva said to Maa Parvati - in Hemantnagar, five miles north of Mathurapur, lived many people. Among them was a Vaishya named Sukarma, who amassed wealth through buying and selling. His wife, Parvati, was youthful and beautiful. As Sukarma reached late adulthood, he faced financial struggles and took a loan of five hundred rupees from a Brahmin for business. Unfortunately, he didn't repay the Brahmin, spending the money on food and drinks. Over time, Sukarma died in Mathura, attaining a place in heaven. There, he enjoyed celestial fruits with his family until his merits were exhausted, leading to his rebirth as a wealthy individual in a beautiful country. However, due to not returning the Brahmin's wealth in his past life, he faced challenges in begetting a son.

Lord Shiva now provides remedies. One should allocate one-sixth of their house for charitable work. Perform one lakh chants of the “Aakrishnen” mantra with one-tenth of the chanting dedicated to Havan, Marjan, and Tarpan rituals. Listen to the story of Harivanshpuran, worship Durga and Lord Shiva according to rituals with Durga paath, and feed Brahmins. Additionally, donate a ten-coloured cow, and particularly a bed.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva starts the story by mentioning the Vaishya whose name is Sukarma - “Su” means Good, hence Sukarma means someone who is performing Karam, which is helping him and others to grow in life. Since he is a Vaishya, such a name indicates business/trading done through honest means, which is helpful for himself as well as others. However, being a Vaishya, his business and trade started declining. It is mentioned that he eventually became devoid of wealth. But why? This is because the Vaishya did not use the right means for business or engaged in cheating, due to which he lost the trust of others, and hence, his trade did not work.

The Navamsa in this Pada is Pisces, which shows trust and faith towards someone. Still, since the base energies come from Aquarius, there is a distrust due to the actions of the Vaishya, such as the misuse of resources or lying for personal gains. This quality is further illustrated as the Vaishya took a loan from a Brahmin (Jupiter) and did not give it back. The money was spent in the wrong way for enjoyment and not his business. This symbolises that the Vaishya did not want to work hard and was looking for shortcuts for personal gain through deceit and breaking trust. Someone will only give you money when there is complete trust between two people.

The theme of this Nakshatra is using resources in the wrong manner through spending for personal enjoyment and deceiving through words or breaking trust. Note that this is the 2nd Navamsa of Speech and Resources. One should be very cautious about what to say and what promises to make in this Pada, as well as not spend one's resources in the wrong manner. Venus gets exalted in this Navansh, which increases the desires for luxury, and Mercury being debilitated shows wrong communication and information given to others, as happened in the story, as said by Lord Shiva.

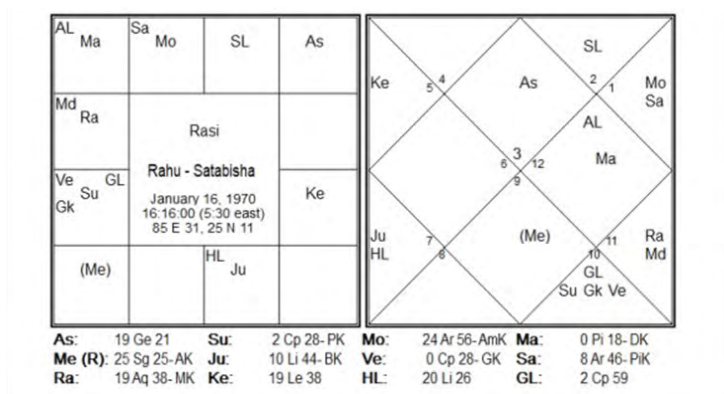

One of the remedies is to constantly help the significations of Mercury by giving food to birds, helping small children through donations of money, books, medicines, as well as helping transgenders. One should return what belongs to others and not take undue advantage of someone's trust, as eventually, the same Karam will come back to you in some other way.

Lord Shiva then mentions one remedy: to worship Maa Durga with proper rituals. Maa Durga is the swaroop of Rahu Maharaj, and performing the same remedy will control all desires and negative effects, eventually defeating Mahishasura. Additionally, donations to Brahmins are mentioned, similar to the other Padas.

Example:

Rasi:

In the above chart, Rahu is in Satabhisha Nakshatra Pada 4. The native's sibling is not following the proper spending way in the business, creating losses. Also, servants are asking for more daily wages compared to what other farmers are paying them, and they are not doing the daily work properly.

In this Nakshatra Pada, the base energy of Rahu falls from Aquarius to Pisces Navansh, being the 2nd navamsa. The resource allocation and misuse are clearly evident, as the dispositor of Aquarius, Saturn, is also debilitated in the 11th with the Moon. As mentioned, having the Moon in the 11th is unwelcome, as emotional agony concerning siblings will be a constant theme for this native.

In the Navamsa chart, Rahu is in Lagna, while the dispositor is debilitated in the 11th, along with the 3rd lord as well as the 6th lord. Thus, the rift and powerplay can be clearly seen. Planets in Pisces navamsa will always create unforeseen troubles, and it would be no surprise if these issues have originated from the relatives.

PURVA BHADRAPADA

Purva Bhadrapada Nakshatra

Satisfy wisdom and create a trust

This Nakshatra has three padas lying in Aquarius, while one pada lies in Pisces. Purvabhadra pada is ruled by Jupiter. Once you master the energy of Shatabhisha and satisfy the intellectual wisdom and ego of Shatabhisha, you will require knowledge and wealth to heal yourself on an emotional level. Imagine someone who has taken everything from this universe after a lot of fights and risen above everyone else. That person has to become shrewd to the core. How can you pacify that energy of Shatabhisha and make him interested in having faith and trust in people? This is a difficult task, and this is exactly what Purvabhadra Nakshatra does here to create trust.

The deity is Aja-Ekpada, a form of Rudra and Agni. The pair of Purva and Uttara is ruled by Rudras. Whenever any Nakshatra is ruled by Rudras, there is a storm of energy in these Nakshatras, as Rudras are capable of bringing sudden changes in the native's life. The other Nakshatras where Rudras are deities are Ashlesha, Ardra, and Mula.

Each of the Rudras controls the atmosphere on a different level. Ajaikapada is also interpreted as the unborn one. Imagine a fire in the sky that is present but not visible - a lightning thunderbolt, that is your Ajaikapada.

The energy of this Nakshatra is to raise your conscious level and be liberated from any sort of materialistic desire, focusing on liberation. Ekapada's signification is being immovable, but this is not the case, as Ekapada is also the vehicle of Agni, carrying Agni to different realms and gods, as the upper parts contain the Trimurti. The symbolism is to focus more on the head part rather than on the feet, being more spiritual and content rather than materialistic and running around to get things done by a sudden strike of energy.

You will find these natives working in complete silence and then suddenly appearing like lightning to get things done. This Nakshatra is ruled by Jupiter, where the primary motivation is liberation and wisdom, and this comes to them as a flash.

The work of Agni is to distribute offerings made in it to different gods, signifying how one havan kund delivers to various gods. As in Capricorn, we were doing havan for power, that was the process, the karma. But in Aquarius, the second part of the havan is being done by moving up in space using the energy of Shatabhisha, while Purvabhadra is for the distribution of offerings to gods.

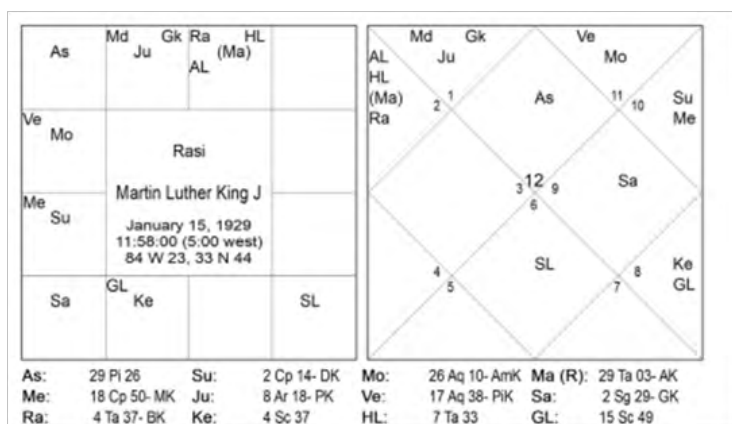

Purvabhadra natives have problems related to sexuality and maintaining balance in their life. You will see the natives of Purvabhadra being extremely intelligent and focusing on wisdom and learning rather than thinking about a materialistic point of view. Natural benefic planets work extremely well in this Nakshatra, while natural malefics struggle to cope up with the energy of this Nakshatra.

These natives require a lot of free time to think and sort out the distribution of time issues in their life, as being idle gives them the energy to be sorted internally. Regular work is not one of their best features. Negotiators, policy makers, and lawyers who are adept in the division of wealth and property usually have Purvabhadra Nakshatra, as their intellectual level is best utilised in convincing people.

Example:

Rasi:

The chart above belongs to Martin Luther King Jr., the leader who ignited the American civil rights movement. Moon is in Purvabhadra Nakshatra. He was born into a family of priests and could have easily enjoyed his life as a pastor. However, he refused to accept the post and chose to focus on liberation, as this is the primary motivation for this Nakshatra - that everyone should be treated equally.

The work of this Nakshatra, as explained in the paragraph, is to make sure Rahu's energy, who is an outcast and has accepted his fate, is given trust and confidence that the world equally belongs to them. The snobbery of the upper rich class will not work, and reservations will not work, but only the talented will go further from here. This is exactly what Martin Luther King Jr. did in his speeches; he made his community aware of the conditions they were living in. He brought back consciousness to the dead society, stating that this segregation is not acceptable at all. Similar to what a lightning thunderstorm does in the sky by breaking the buildup tension of ions so everyone knows there is a charge, no one would have expected a single movement to bring such radical changes to American society.

On the other hand, Martin Luther King Jr. was constantly hounded for his extramarital affairs, as this Nakshatra has a problem with morality and addressing sexual issues. He was never ashamed when his affairs were brought out in the open by the FBI. He simply stated that he travels 25-27 days in a month, and sex is a great way to relieve stress.

Another great saint of India, Ramkrishna

Paramhans, had Moon in Purvabhadra, but his views on sexuality were of a nature that Vivekananda thought would be misunderstood, and these thoughts are not of the masses. Even his marriage was never consummated, even when he was living with his wife until the last moment.

We talk about sexuality and not talk about the founder of Playboy — how can that happen? The chart below belongs to the founder of Playboy, Hugh Hefner, with his Moon in Purvabhadra Nakshatra.

Everyone knows this man as the Editor-in-Chief for Playboy, but there is another side to it that I wanted to bring out. It is easy to blame people, throw shit at others, but who am I to even say a bad word about anyone else? No one is born perfect in this world, and no one will ever be. Sometimes, I laugh at people who blame and look down on others as if they are saints in life.

Every person you will meet will have many sides to them, and we need to see all of them. Hugh Hefner was a supporter of various humanitarian causes and donated generously to various issues. His attempt to bring sexuality out in the open was to let people be liberated from censorship.

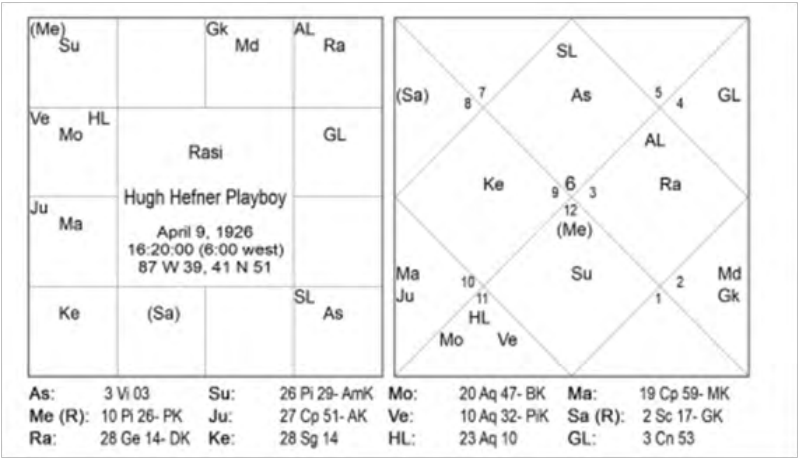

“Hef” says that most of what he does is related to his childhood. He was raised in a typical Midwestern American Methodist Puritan home where there was no outward show of love or emotion, not so much as a kiss on the cheek. He did feel that he was loved, but there was simply no demonstration.

He was a great supporter of the civil rights movement and supporting the cause of LGBT, continuously spreading this message via magazines as well. Martin Luther King and Hugh Hefner both were fighting for equality and principles but chose their own ways.

Example:

Rasi:

The difference lies in the Moon placement. Hugh has his Moon in Ashtam Navamsa, which is a house related to sex, occult, and hidden activities, while Martin Luther King had his Moon in the third Navamsa, which is about courage, travelling, fights, and speeches.

The same Nakshatra placement gives different results based on Navamsa and Nakshatra Padas.

1st Pada: Aquarius Rashi - Aries Navansh:

Lord Shiva said to Goddess Parvati - In Madhurapuri lived a Shudra named Sevadas, who earned his living by making and selling vegetables. Devoted to Sri Vishnu, he associated with virtuous saints and was of peaceful nature. His wife's name was Radhika, and he followed the conduct of his clan, serving sages and Brahmins. Always ready to do business with his priest's money, he lived this way for many years.

After several years, the priest returned, and Sevadas, along with his family, showed utmost respect. On the fourth day, during mealtime, the Brahmin was poisoned by Sevadas' wife, leading to his death. Sevadas was unaware of this. The Brahmin's death caused an outcry in every house. Hearing the commotion, Sevadas left Madhurapuri and went to Prayagraj, where he stubbornly left his body.

Later, Sevadas's Shudra wife also left Madhurapuri and came to Prayagraj. For her purpose, she left her body and became Sati. They resided in heaven together for thousands of years. When their virtues diminished, they attained human forms. In this birth, they were born into a family among the Shudra caste. Due to the trap of their previous birth, Sevadas married the same wife from his previous birth. In this life, he became a rich and respected scholar, gaining fame and intelligence among his caste.

However, due to the sin of his wife poisoning a Brahmin in their previous birth, she menstruates but does not give birth to a child in this life. This is the consequence of her past actions, and they continue to live with the effects of their previous births.

Lord Shiva explains the remedies - He should devote one-eighth part of his house to charitable work. Then he should chant Gayatri with Jataveda and three lakhs of Trimbak Mantra with effort. Listen to the story of Harivansh Purana with his wife.

Then, in a pure square pot adorned with Yoni of leaves, perform Dashansh Havan, Marjan, and Tarpan according to the ritual. Then make an idol of a Brahmin of sixty tolas of gold, and worship it with clothes, ornaments, and bedding according to the ritual. Also worship it with fragrant flowers using the mantras mentioned below.

Mantra:

O God! O Lord of the universe! You are the doer of all causes, the witness of the three worlds. Protect me from the terrible sin of brahma-hatya.

ॐ Chakradharaya Namah, ॐ Trimbakaya Namah, ॐ Gadadharaya Namah, ॐ Shula-Hastaya Namah, ॐ Sharnga-Hastaya Namah, ॐ Shankha-Hastaya Namah.

With these mantras, worship sages Sanaka, Sanatkumar, Sanand, and Sanatan with various kinds of laddu and fruits. Then give the worshipped idol to the Brahmin. Afterwards, clothe a ten-coloured cow along with a bull in silk and donate them to a learned, ascetic Brahmin. Always observe a fast on Sunday Saptami. By doing this, one daughter and two sons are born, and all diseases are destroyed.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva begins the story by stating that the native was a Sudra, yet he engaged in the work of a Brahmin by dedicating himself to the worship of Lord Vishnu. This Pada falls in the Navamsa of Aries, emphasising the focus on survival through earning wealth, given the base energy of Aquarius, representing wealth and fulfilment of desires. Lord Shiva suggests that one should devote themselves to devotion when basic needs are met, but in the Sudra's life, this was not the case.

The Pada falls in the 3rd Navansh, requiring hard work and discipline, and this is also the Maran Karan sthaan for Jupiter, whose work the Sudra was performing. The Sudra was engaging in the work of the 9th house when ideally, he should have been focused on fulfilling basic desires (from Aquarius Rashi to Aries Navamsa) for himself and his family.

It is mentioned that the Sudra associated himself with Brahmins and saints when he should have been working to gather resources. The name of the Sudra was Sevadas, possibly influenced by Saturn's debilitation in Aries Navamsa, indicating physical hard work and bearing pressure in daily life, which Sevadas avoided.

The theme of this Nakshatra involves using other people's money for personal use, avoiding responsibilities for tasks, laziness, and procrastination. Lord Shiva notes that Sevadas was always ready to do business with the money of the priest, ultimately leading to the priest's poisoning by Sevadas's wife. The Priest's money should not have been used for business, and such actions eventually turned into poison, leading to the Brahmin's demise.

The story highlights the consequences of earning through improper means, warning against partnerships or commissions obtained in invalid ways. Escapism is evident as Sevadas, instead of bearing responsibilities, left the area for another place. Lord Shiva suggests the remedy of fasting on Sunday on Saptami, combining the energies of Sun and Saturn, given that Sun is exalted in Aries.

Similar to previous Padas, donations to Brahmins are recommended with proper rituals and mantras as a remedy for the challenges associated with this Pada.

Example:

Rasi:

In this chart, Mars is in Purva Bhadrapada Nakshatra Pada 1. The native is not following a proper routine and has now fallen into wrong habits. The energy of this nakshatra is to raise one's conscious level and be liberated from any sort of materialistic desire, focusing on liberation. The native has been involved in multiple relationships since the beginning of his adolescence. Every time he faced a relationship break-up, he turned to alcohol and cigarettes. Gradually, he became completely addicted to alcohol and cigarettes.

Saturn, the dispositor of Aquarius, is placed in the 8th house in Gemini, aspecting the 2nd house, which is making him use inappropriate language. Sun and Venus in Scorpio in Lagna, while the dispositor Mars in the 4th house is debilitated, is contributing to his continuous involvement in the same destructive process.

In Navamsa, Mars goes into the 10th house, being the dispositor of the 5th house where Rahu, the 8th lord, is placed. The situation has deteriorated to the point where he has started engaging in these behaviours at home in front of his parents. Additionally, he has begun verbally abusing his parents, causing significant harm to his studies and raising concerns among his parents. (The same can be confirmed from Lagna being in Vishaka - refer to Part 2 to correlate better.)

In this Nakshatra Pada, there is a story of extremity due to compulsive disorders and emotional setbacks. The transition from the basic energy of Aquarius to Aries Navamsa indicates a struggle for existence and understanding the true reality. The need is to accept it and move on, but the boy, unfortunately, sought the support of intoxicants to survive in the Aries Navamsa.

Purva Bhadrapada Nakshatra:

2nd Pada: Aquarius Rashi - Taurus Navansh:

Lord Shiva says to Goddess Parvati, "Through religion, a son is born, through religion one attains Lakshmi. Diseases are destroyed by religion; hence, a person should follow religious principles."

There once lived a Brahmin in Kampilya Nagar, rich in Vedas and a successful entrepreneur, with a devoted wife. One day, the Brahmin's daughter visited with her son, and he treated her with great respect. After some time, the Brahmin's house was burgled, and everyone accused the Brahmin's daughter's son of stealing the gold. In despair, the son consumed poison and took his own life. Later, the Brahmin also passed away, and his wife became Sati. Due to the influence of Sati, he went to Satyalok but returned to the human world when his virtues diminished. Eventually, he became a human being, a clever and royal minister full of wealth. In the previous life, the Brahmin falsely accused his grandson, resulting in the grandson taking his own life. Hence in this life, the Brahmin is unable to have sons, and only daughters are born to him. He suffers from a continuous and high fever and faces numerous enemies, leading to a lack of happiness.

Lord Shiva provides remedies, advising the Brahmin to devote one-sixth part of his house to virtuous deeds. Chanting of three mantras - "Gayatri," "Trimbak," and "Srivate" - should be done, with one-tenth of the chanting performed in Havan. One-tenth part of Havan should be done for Tarpan, one-tenth part of for to Marjan, cows equalling one-tenth part of Marjan should be donated, and brahmins equalling one-tenth part of donation of cows should be fed with devotion. To purify sins from previous births, donate Kushmand and coconut, along with Panchratna, in the middle of the Ganges. Gift a beautiful white young bull to a Brahmin, adorned with bells and clothes, and especially also donate a bed. Following these remedies will result in the birth of a son, the alleviation of diseases, and freedom from continuous fever.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva initiates the Pada by emphasising the significance of religion and the attainment of a son and Lakshmi. Religion, represented by the 9th house in the chart, is related to principles, law, and higher knowledge, underscores the importance of following a set of rules and regulations for personal and societal betterment. Adherence to principles leads to the upliftment of one's soul, fostering mental and spiritual growth, as symbolised by Sagittarius, which also represents heights. Following principles, associated with Jupiter, serves as a means to control excessive desires on a daily basis.

Lord Shiva then mentions that the Brahmin possessed knowledge of the Vedas while also being an entrepreneur. However, this is deemed contradictory, as a Brahmin is not supposed to engage in the work of a Sudra or Vaishya. This contradiction implies that the Brahmin was not focused on the welfare of society and Puja but harboured desires for wealth accumulation through business activities, characteristic of a Vaishya. Given that the Navamsa is of Taurus, symbolising resources, there was an overwhelming desire to amass wealth and resources through means contradictory to one's own dharma or principles. Despite being born as a Brahmin, the individual engaged in Vaishya work (business).

Subsequently, it is mentioned that when the Brahmin's grandson came to stay, the family experienced a burglary incident, wrongly blamed on the grandson. The Brahmin, influenced solely by external factors that were not present during the incident, reveals the extent of his excessive desires for wealth and resources. This is evident in the Brahmin's lack of belief in the words of his own family, leading to harsh words and accusations. Tragically, due to the Brahmin's harsh words, his grandson committed suicide, causing immense troubles for the Brahmin. The underlying theme of this Nakshatra involves making money and accumulating resources through illegal means, resulting in family issues related to wealth.

Furthermore, it is emphasised that one should speak carefully, as harsh and misplaced words can significantly affect others, as evidenced by the Brahmin's impact on his own grandson. This Nakshatra, being the 4th Navamsa of family, emotions, and home, indicates that due to the Brahmin's desires, his family suffered immensely. The remedy for this Pada involves learning to take care of one's family, enduring difficulties, and fulfilling responsibilities, even if challenging.

Trusting family members and ensuring they have proper resources should be a priority in the native's life to alleviate the curse of this Nakshatra. Since the Brahmin's family happiness was taken away due to his words, Lord Shiva mentions that in the next human life, the Brahmin did not find happiness and was unable to beget a son. One of the mentioned remedies is the donation of a bull to a Brahmin, symbolising Taurus. In modern times, regular donations of food and important resources to Brahmins can also serve as effective remedies.

Rasi:

In the Rasi chart, Saturn is positioned in Purva Bhadrapada Nakshatra Pada 2. As Saturn signifies household life and family as the 2nd lord, the native entered into a relationship. Saturn then goes into the 5th navamsa, and as the relationship progressed, there was a desire to marry. However, the native's mother did not approve of the marriage.

As a result, the individual decided to leave home for the sake of the marriage and started living separately from her mother. This decision caused significant emotional pain and struggles for the native's family. The challenging situation arose due to the conflict between the native's desire for marriage and the mother's disapproval, leading to a separation that impacted the family dynamics.

Navamsa:

In the Navamsa chart, Saturn is positioned in the 3rd house of initiatives, while its dispositor, Venus, is conjunct Ketu, indicating emotional turmoil. Venus, being the 8th lord, suggests the likelihood of chronic or unsolvable problems occurring after marriage, including disputes with the husband or issues related to inheritance. The narrative unfolds with the sister-in-law of the native filing a case against the husband, specifically regarding the share of the property.

Additionally, the 12th lord is in the 3rd house, while the 3rd lord is in the 2nd house, forming a circuit. In this Nakshatra Pada, the story revolves around emotional turmoil arising from selfish desires and erratic decisions. The consequences of these decisions are manifesting in the form of legal disputes and challenges, particularly related to property matters. The interconnected positions of the planets in the Navamsa chart indicate a complex web of issues tied to emotions, decisions, and familial relationships.

Purva Bhadrapada Nakshatra:

3rd Pada: Aquarius Rashi - Gemini Navansh:

Lord Shiva spoke to Ma Parvati, narrating the story of a Brahmin named Dayasharma residing in Gaandhaarnagar. Dayasharma was constantly engrossed in consuming alcohol and found satisfaction in the company of a prostitute. He indulged in the food of Mlechchhas and was engrossed in living a lifestyle akin to them. Owing to his attachment with lowly women, he did not earn wealth through righteous means, he insulted his parents, and neglected the performance of Shraddha. After a considerable period, he passed away.

In his next human birth in a beautiful country, Dayasharma, despite being wealthy, faced the inability to beget a son and continue his lineage. The reason behind this was traced back to his previous birth, where he had renounced Brahminhood, and the sins incurred led to the untimely deaths of his sons. His evil nature in the past birth also led him to abandon his elderly parents, resulting in diseases afflicting his current body, and his wife suffering from Kak Vandhyatva Dosha along with wound diseases.

Lord Shiva proceeds to explain the remedies for Dayasharma. He advises spending one-eighth of the family's wealth in virtuous deeds. Additionally, Dayasharma should have an idol of Lord Shiva crafted from twenty tola gold and worship it with specific mantras to seek redemption and mitigate the consequences of his past actions.

Mantra

O Ganaadhyaksh! O Sureshaan! O destroyer of all troubles! O remover of sorrow! Nullify the sins committed in my previous birth!

In this way, after worshipping the idol with various offerings such as scent, flowers, incense, naivedya, betel leaves, etc., give them to the ascetic Brahmins who are learned in the Vedas. Thereafter, donate a Kapila cow by covering its horns with gold. Then, one lakh chanting of the Ganesh Mantra should be performed, and one tenth of the chanting should be allocated for havan, marjana, and tarpan. Food should be given to a hundred Vedapathi Shrotriya Brahmins. By doing this, one gets a son soon.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva begins the story by mentioning a Brahmin who never used to follow his Karmas but instead was engrossed in his own selfish desires and pleasures of alcohol, women, and the food of Mlecchas. The Navansh in this Pada is of Gemini, which is a very selfish Rashi. Since the base energy is of Aquarius, there is excessive selfishness within the native due to which he is unable to follow good morals. Notice that the Navansh of this Pada is the 5th Navamsa of Ego, Morals, Regulation, and Maintenance.

In spite of being a Brahmin, he is not continuing the Brahmin work of his previous generations and is instead getting indulged in immoral activities due to his own selfishness. The name of the Brahmin was Dayasharma - Daya means compassion and sympathy, but this was completely opposite to his own actions. Hence, the remedy in this case would be to show compassion and help the masses instead of working for just one's own selfish desires.

Since he was born in a Brahmin family, he already had wealth and decided not to continue his lineage work, which has been passed down by his ancestors (5th Navansh). Thus, he married a Mleccha and did not care for his parents and insulted them due to his own overinflated ego. Since the 5th house represents one's ego, and the base energy of the rashi was Aquarius, the Brahmin was blinded by his own surroundings as he had wealth and was able to enjoy all the materialistic pleasures. He stopped caring for his ancestors and parents as he left them and did not perform their Shraddh.

Note that from Gemini, Scorpio goes into the 6th house, indicating unsolvable troubles due to not following the daily routine. In this case, the Brahmin suffered from childbirth issues and diseases. The theme of this Nakshatra is selfishness and indulgence in illegal activities for personal benefit. Similarly, verbal abuse and lying are also qualities that the native may have or face from other people depending on the combinations. One should learn to control their subconscious brain and thoughts as the brain (5th Navamsa) is highly active and constantly occupied with different thoughts related to gain and fulfilment of desires, due to which the native faces immense troubles later on in their life.

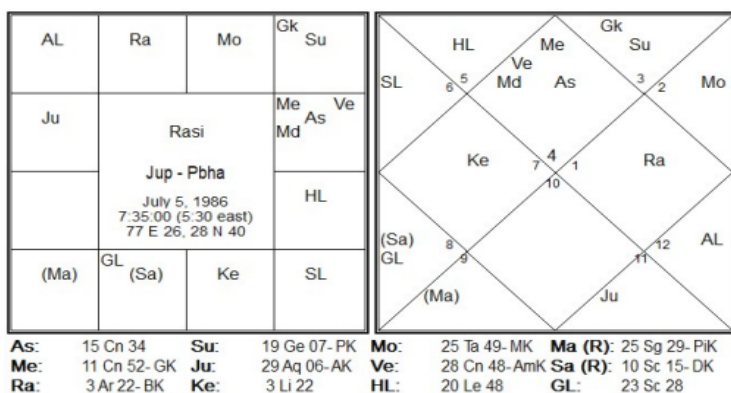

One should learn to speak politely and respect elders (5th Navansh) along with giving back to society through performing mantras or, in today's world, through education, learning, donation of books, and helping and guiding children. The 5th house is also of mantras and puja, and all the pending pujas should be done by the native himself if any rituals or puja were stopped within the family.

Lord Shiva mentions the worship of Lord Shiva with Mantras due to the 5th Navansh representing Mantras and Gemini representing Communication. Similarly, the Mantra of Lord Ganesha is said to be performed, as it will decrease the excessive desires of the native and will eventually solve the chronic problems (Scorpio) within the life of the native by balancing the energies of Rahu. Donation of food to Brahmins is recommended, as it will bring about a proper direction, and the native will receive guidance for his betterment.

Example:

Rasi:

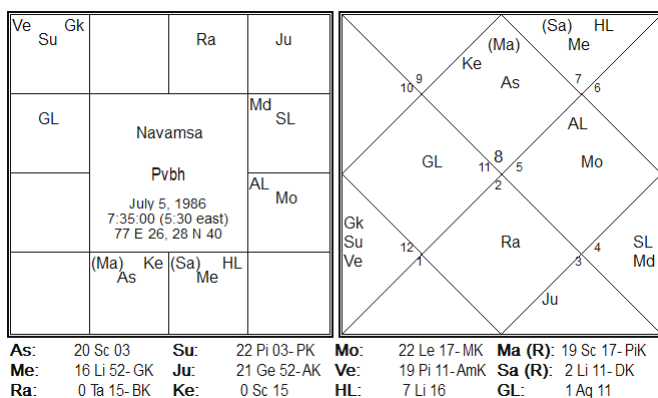

In the above chart, Jupiter is in Purva Bhadrapada Nakshatra Pada 3. Jupiter serves as the 6th lord and 9th lord, also acting as the significator for morality. The native inherited the ancestral business as the sole child living with parents. Others were studying, and in the absence of a will, he became the owner of the business. Jupiter, being in the 8th house, and the dispositor Saturn (representing profession) placed in the 5th house contributed to this acquisition in an unearned manner.

In the navamsa chart, Jupiter is placed in Gemini (Siblings) in the 8th house, indicating that the native is earning his regular income (being the 2nd lord), which he was supposed to distribute among all siblings.

The sole remedy suggested was that he should give his sister what she deserves from the business honestly, and his problems would vanish. Initially reluctant, the native agreed when his wife insisted.

Navamsa:

In a month, the wife of the native conceived, and that too without IVF (as the 5th lord was going into the 8th, indicating a blockage that was occurring). As mentioned, planets have specific tasks and orders for us. When we follow them, our life becomes easier.

4th Pada: Pisces Rashi - Cancer Navamsa

Lord Shiva said to Goddess Parvati - Many people used to reside in the famous Balabhadrapur on the banks of the beautiful Gomti River in Madhya Pradesh. Among them lived a Brahmin who was always ready for combat, neglecting his Brahminical duties and criticising other Brahmins. He had two wives, and except for one, he kept the other woman content with food, clothes, utensils, and jewellery. His elder wife gave birth to many sons. This Brahmin frequently engaged in hunting in the dense forest, killing deer and consuming them. This unrighteous Brahmin also maliciously set fire to the forest, resulting in the merciless killing of many deer and birds. After completing his entire life, he died, and later on, his unfaithful wife also passed away. Eventually, he took the form of a human being.

In this life, he is in the central region of the country, residing as a wealthy Vaishya (businessman) and a servant of good men who, being virtuous and sonless, had abandoned Brahmakarma in his previous birth and had taken up weapons. Consequently, he did not have a son, and many daughters were born to him. Due to the sins committed in his previous birth by setting fire to the place of birds or the forest and also killing deer, he constantly suffers from fever in his body.

Lord Shiva now explains the remedies - one lakh chants of Gopal Ji's mantra should be done, and one-tenth part of the chanting should be allocated for Havan, Marjan, and Tarpan. Always meditate on Gopal Ji and chant the name of Gopal. Also, donate the Shaligram stone adorned with white clothes, gold, and silver to a Shrotriya Brahmin. Later, donate land and cows and feed the Brahmins and also donate oilseeds. By doing this, a son is born, all diseases are destroyed, and infertility is also resolved.

Deeper meaning

Lord Shiva begins the story by mentioning Balabhadrapur, where "Balabhadra" means fortunate and lucky. This Pada is associated with the Cancer Navamsa, and further, Jupiter gets exalted in Cancer. This signifies that one who is lucky will have certain desires fulfilled in the form of resources. Lord Shiva elaborates on the Brahmin in the story, highlighting that in earlier days, Brahmins already possessed wealth and resources by birth and were respected throughout the country.

The sign of Cancer, lacking rules and regulations, operates purely from emotions. When both the Rashi and Navansh belong to watery signs, this emotional quality is further heightened. The Brahmin's neglect of Brahmin work shows misdirection in life, as Mars, the Karak of action and the 10th lord from Cancer Navamsa, is debilitated. Additionally, since the base energy is Pisces, representing faith and trust, the Brahmin is unable to believe or listen to anyone else's words and follows what he feels is

Despite getting married twice, the Brahmin did not treat both his wives equally and mistreated his elder wife. Although the elder wife gave birth to many sons, she was not treated properly, symbolising mistreatment of one's own family members and a lack of support and resources for one's family and the masses (Cancer). Pisces, being the sign of donation and giving, highlights that the Brahmin did not donate or give to his close family members (Cancer) and engaged in immoral activities, such as killing birds and deer.

Notice how the debilitated 10th lord Mars is affecting the karma of the native, who is performing neech actions that impact the masses as well. For a Brahmin, hunting is strictly prohibited, but he still proceeded to hunt, symbolising violence and anger within the family, potentially leading to disputes over property matters. In this Pada, the theme revolves around not treating everyone equally and engaging in immoral activities, resulting in mental disturbance and a lack of happiness within one's close family.

The lesson conveyed is the importance of treating everyone equally, avoiding immoral activities, and supporting one's family at all times. Giving back to the family and the masses, instead of taking from them, is emphasised. By doing so, one can reduce the curse associated with this nakshatra and bring about greater harmony and contentment in life.

After the Brahmin passed away, in his next life, he was reborn as a Vaishya due to his karma of killing and mistreating his family. Lord Shiva also mentions that he set fire (Mars) to the place of birds and animals, which again shows anger issues, violence, and a lack of morality and sympathy for others. The narrative underscores the importance of helping the masses both physically and emotionally and resolving problems and disputes within one's family. It emphasises bearing the responsibilities required for a harmonious and ethical life.

One of the remedies suggested by Lord Shiva is to worship Gopal Ji. This recommendation is based on the debilitation of Mercury in Pisces and the Pada falling on the Cancer Navamsa. Gopal Ji represents Lord Krishna (Cancer) in his child form. Worshipping Gopal Ji on a daily basis is believed to address morality issues and enable one to make correct decisions for oneself and one's family. Eventually, the negative implications of this nakshatra are expected to diminish.

In this chart, Saturn is in Purva Bhadrapada Nakshatra Pada 4, serving as the 9th and 10th Lord. The native is encountering challenges related to sexuality. As mentioned, Purva Bhadrapada's energy is about being extremely intelligent and focusing on wisdom and learning rather than a materialistic point of view. Natural benefic planets work well in this nakshatra, while natural malefics may struggle to cope with its energy.

The native became involved in a relationship early in life, and now faces challenges with the current partner. This difficulty arises because the native is unable to move on from a previous person who was spiritually inclined. The energy exchange with the previous person left a lasting mark on the native.

This situation is also reflected in Jupiter, which is in the 8th house (related to sexuality) and goes into the 5th navamsa of relationships (Jupiter in Virgo navamsa). The placement of Jupiter in this configuration may contribute to the complexities and challenges the native is experiencing in the realm of relationships, particularly related to sexuality and emotional attachments.

In the D9 chart, Saturn is placed in the 12th house in the sign of Cancer. The dispositor of Saturn is conjunct Jupiter and is aspected by the dispositor of the Lagna Lord. This intense desire is hindering the native's performance in matters related to the bedroom life.

As previously mentioned in the lectures, Venus, Ketu, and especially Ketu are associated with the 7th house. In this case, it indicates that the native is seeking a soul connection, which appears to be missing. The complex interplay of planetary positions in the D9 chart is influencing the native's experiences in intimate matters, contributing to challenges and the yearning for a deeper, more profound connection.

UTTARABHADRAPAD

Uttara Bhadrapada Nakshatra

Satisfy wisdom and Ego

This is the second part of the Bhadrapad nakshatra, and here also, the deity Ahir Budhanya is one of the eleven Rudras, one of the serpents who stays in water in the sky. While Purvabhadra ruled the fire in the sky, Uttarabhadra represents a combination of thunder and rain in the sky. This nakshatra is ruled by Saturn and placed in the watery sign of Pisces. Pisces is a watery sign but also represents the open sky, which is completely in sync with the energy of Uttarabhadra nakshatra, where Rudra is placed. Once you master the energy of Purvabhadra nakshatra, which is about principles, liberation, and living forever, you will notice that in Purvabhadra, you had a thundercloud to make sure everyone noticed your actions. With Uttarabhadra, it's time to downpour wisdom in the form of emotion and knowledge.

All three nakshatras of Saturn - Pushya, Anuradha, and Uttarabhadra - are related to change to increase the longevity of knowledge. It is only in Moksha signs where Saturn feels to work, based on

Ahir Budhanya's nakshatra is one of the most intensified nakshatras, as this nakshatra holds the key for liberation. You should ask yourself, what is the key for liberation? And the only answer is knowledge. Imagine getting hold of the knowledge of all the tantra, mantra, and sacred chants, something which is kept hidden from everyone.

These natives, whenever they create something, will not do it for the common people and must keep it hidden from the masses, as they are blessed with secrets and knowledge. When these people find their comfort zone, the skin in which they are comfortable, there is no one more powerful than them. But again, all of their efforts and work are due to only one primary motivation: change, and to perform actions that will result in liberation and peace to everyone, like rain does to the earth.

The energy of this nakshatra comes from the sky, and here the primary desire is to be free from the bondage of any kind. But imagine a Saturn nakshatra's desire is to be free from bondage - Saturn, a significator of bondage, is ruling in all three houses of water signs where the objective is to find peace. For this, Saturn nakshatra brings balance by helping you to be content or limit your desires. You have seen power in Capricorn, being immortal and having the status of a god in Aquarius, and now, to be free, you need to be humble, as the burden of being equivalent to a god is not an easy task. Saturn helps you become humble here. Good planets in this nakshatra help you easily let go of things, while malefic planets in this nakshatra have a lot of ego, and this ego becomes the root cause of their unhappiness. The Rudra of rain helps you get cleansed from sins, and there is a theme in this nakshatra which you will see in the lives of these natives. Whichever planet goes into this nakshatra, initially in life, these natives struggle a lot for the significations of these planets, as the energy of Ahirbudhnya will let you first mature about these significations. It is like before giving you a Ferrari, nature will first give you an old Maruti to drive.

Once a person becomes extremely humble, the deity Ahirbudhnya grants the native specialized knowledge of tantra, mantra, and secrets of the universe. It's like someone is downpouring upon you from the sky so you can deliver to the world and rise up in life. Their rise in life is almost sudden due to this knowledge.

Their knowledge becomes like a norm for other people, but most of their knowledge is either hidden or encoded. Even the manuscript written by Ahirbudhnya was kept as a secret. When any planet in this nakshatra is supported by the nakshatra lord, it can produce some of the most intensifying secrets of the universe. This nakshatra offers a bird's eye view, continuously observing everyone else, but not with a habit of control. Rather, everyone becomes dependent on these natives, just as everyone depends on rain for crops. Ahirbudhnya is prayed to for rains as well as for knowledge.

Example:

Rasi:

The chart above belongs to Bill Gates. The Moon is in Uttarabhadra nakshatra, and the nakshatra dispositor is exalted and Moon is aspected by an exalted planet, Mercury. He became a norm in the industry and controls everything in the tech industry. His most troublesome years were when he was the most controlling and not letting go, as this was the effect of Mars' aspect on the Moon, making him combative in his speech.

However, his image changed, and he made more money the moment he decided to let it go and step down from Microsoft. Imagine how hard it would be for someone to create something and then let it go. The ego of Mars had to shut down, and it was all happening to make him humble so that nature could give him something big and precious.

The Dasha of the Moon started in 2009, and it was in 2006 when Gates decided to step down from Microsoft and focus more on philanthropy. The transition took three years, and it was exactly at the start of the Moon Mahadasha that Gates became more involved in charity work rather than business operations. His wealth doubled in six years since he took leave from office, as this nakshatra is not about control but about overseeing everything.

There is a famous quote by Jim Carrey: ‘Everyone should be rich and famous, and then they will know that it’s not what it takes to be happy.’ Bill Gates admitted that after stepping down, he found the meaning of life. The same person who was controlling, competitive, and not ready to listen to anyone suddenly backed off and decided to take a leave. Now, you understand that real power is not in winning arguments but in working on yourself and finding your own peace and liberation. This could have happened in the Dasha of the Moon only, as his mindset changed completely from businessman to philanthropist.

This nakshatra holds the key for backup in life, as these natives have a habit of saving resources and keeping them for bad times. These natives tend to invest in the signification of the planet more to get saved from bad times as a shelter, such as Bill Gates investing in seed banks in case of catastrophe.

Uttarabhadra carries the energy of AhirBudhnya, and this energy is not suited for every planet. We usually take the Moon’s nakshatra as important because Chandrma absorbs the quality of any nakshatra and delivers without any resistance. However, other planets in the same nakshatra add their agenda and flavor while delivering the results. For example, Shukra in Uttarabhadra nakshatra will give you wealth from a foreign land and donations. Your spouse will become an important person to initiate you into the wealth-making process, but at the same time, the health of the spouse will suffer.

Natives of Uttarabhadra nakshatra are often too concerned about health issues. They either keep researching new health techniques or medicines, or some secret recipe that can keep them healthy forever. Purvabhadra was about achieving liberation, but what will you do once liberation is achieved? The first thing that any country, group, or ethnicity does is to preserve their heritage, uplift the downtrodden, and address problems. This is exactly what this nakshatra does. Handling liberation is not an easy task, as malefics in this nakshatra can spoil the freedom.

26th Nakshatra: Uttara Bhadrapada:

1st Pada: Pisces Rashi - Leo Navansh:

Lord Shiv says to Ma Parvati - There lived a Kshatriya in the city of Ujjain. He used to engage in prostitution, and was a trader by profession. His wife was of fallen character and an adulteress. This Kshatriya collected many buffaloes, chariots and horses through business and every day he used to eat goat meat. One day, at the time of Shraddha, he spoke in a bad manner to a Brahmin and after hearing those words, his priest passed away, and after a long time, the Kshatriya also passed away.

Then, after attaining the human form in the most sacred and beautiful country, he followed the conduct of his clan and became a worshipper of the Guru. Here many sons were born to him but they died, now due to severe disease in the body he suffers continuously. Man has to suffer the consequences of his past deeds.

Lord Shiv now explains the remedies - Make an idol of the Brahmin of forty tola gold and adorn it with different types of clothes and gems. Worship it with these mantras properly:

Mantra

He Devadeva! Hey Mahadeva! O Bhuvna-Palak! O Dayanidhe! Please forgive all the sins committed by me in my past life!

He Dev! You are the saviour of your devotees! I will always worship you and I surrender in your lotus feet!

Install the idol in the middle of the altar decorated with Suvitana (beautiful canopy) behind! Worship with Gandhapushpadi and chant the following:

Mantras:

Om Shivay Namah, Om Haraya Namah, Om Trimbakaya Namah, Om Kapardine Namah, Om Bhavay Namah, Om Shankaraya Namah, Om Shashishekharai Namah, Om Ugraaya Namah, Om Ugrarupaya Namah, Om Ahirbudhnyaya Namah, Om Mahadevaya Namah.

Worship the idol with Gandhapushpadi. Then chant “Om Namah Shivaya” mantra one lakh times and perform Havan, Tarpan and Marjan. Afterwards, adorn it with gold and gems and give a Kapila cow to the Brahmin and donate a bed. Finally, worship the idol and give it to the Brahmin in the form of Shiva according to the Vedic method and feed the Brahmins. Then pray to the Guru, bow down repeatedly at the feet of Brahma, Vishnu, Mahesh and the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Then circumambulate, bow, prostrate and immerse the God who brings auspiciousness in the entire work. By doing so, sons and grandsons increase, all diseases are destroyed and an infertile woman undoubtedly attains the a son, this is my true word and cannot be contradicted.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva starts the story by mentioning a Kshatriya and his indulgence in prostitution and trading. As this is the Navamsa of Leo from Pisces, the Kshatriya is unable to maintain his daily routine of protecting the land and fighting wars but instead becomes overindulged in materialistic pleasures. It is also mentioned that the Kshatriya was involved in trading, which is the work of a Vaishya. As this is the 6th Navamsa of daily routine and hard work/service, the Kshatriya did not perform the hard work necessary. Leo, in the 6th House from Pisces, is a very lazy sign, due to which he chose the easier method to earn and enjoy. Lord Shiva also mentions that consumption of goat meat was done, and disrespect to Brahmins was also done, symbolizing a lot of ego issues with this Pada due to the birth privileges of the native. Both Pisces and Leo are sattvic rashis, but due to the 6th Navamsa, a lot of invalid activities were performed without a sense of morality (Leo). Leo also represents seniors, and one of the issues these natives will face is disputes and distrust from seniors, as well as not getting appreciation from a boss/father and in the workplace due to one's past life karma of disrespecting seniors. From Leo, Sun being debilitated in the 3rd house of communication shows verbal insults and saying harsh and negative words without thinking much about one's reputation and lineage (Sun). This is a prominent pattern with this Pada. The remedy would be to introspect yourself first through meditation or yoga on a daily basis instead of criticizing (6th Navamsa) and blaming others for your own problems.

The theme of this Nakshatra is deviating from one's daily routine, which leads to irregularity in lifestyle, wrong activities, ego issues, and verbal troubles with father or seniors. Hence, the remedy would be to sacrifice and devote additional time and work for others without complaining or arguing, even if the situation seems partial to you, as this is the past karma that has been done, and you are paying the debt (6th Navamsa) in this life. For instance, with Venus in this Pada, you have to serve your spouse and may not get proper respect from them, but the moment you stop complaining and start helping your partner in performing daily activities and appreciating him/her for every small thing, your marriage problems will also go away. However, if someone's Mars, being the 7th Lord, is in this Pada, then you have to purchase property or land for your spouse or help your spouse's brother without expectation instead. See how the signification and the story change depending on the combination.

Lord Shiva mentions that in the next life, although the Kshatriya worshipped his Guru, he still experienced the results of the karma of his past life. Regardless of your current karma, all the actions of your past life will eventually come back to you, as they are the debts you have to pay in this life, and further corrections can be made through remedies depending on the actual karma. Here, the Kshatriya started worshipping his Guru, but it's not mentioned anywhere that he served other people or helped his seniors, due to which he had to go through the consequences of his actions from his past life. As the sense of direction and morals were missing in the life of the Kshatriya and later on, the Brahmin passed away, Lord Shiva mentioned making an idol of the Brahmin and donating it after worshipping it with all the proper rituals and mantras, thus eventually reducing all the negative effects.

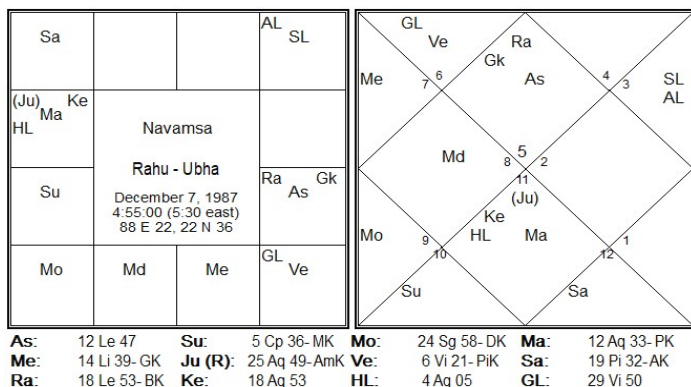

Example:

Rasi:

In the Rasi chart, Rahu is in Uttara Bhadrapada Nakshatra Pada 1. Rahu, being the 4th lord, led to the native being accused of destroying the peace in the family and showing disrespect towards the father, as Rahu moves into Leo Navamsa. The person got into a fight with his father and, in the process, hit him as well. The storyline for this Pada goes on to say that one day, at the time of Shraddha, he spoke a bad word to a Brahmin. After hearing that bad word, his priest died, and after a long time, he also passed away. This incident happened in front of the entire family, and the reputation and honour of the father were severely damaged in front of everyone.

Navamsa:

In the Navamsa chart, Rahu is in Leo, while the dispositor is in the 6th, being the Sun (representing the father). After this incident, the native's father, feeling dishonoured, forced him to leave the house and did not give any share of the inheritance to the native himself.

Later on, after marriage, the native often got into misunderstandings with his partner, leading to frequent turmoil in the relationship between the husband and wife.

Rahu in the Lagna of D9 gave direct results and karmic reactions, particularly impacting the relationship area of life.

Uttara Bhadrapada Nakshatra:

2nd Pada: Pisces Rashi - Virgo Navansh:

Lord Shiv said to Ma Parvati - There lived a Kayastha in Pratisthan Nagar. This Kayastha was diligent in his work, patient, calm and a worshipper of the Goddess. He had a rich Vaishya friend - one day this Kayastha came to this Vaishya's house and the friend treated him with great respect; this Kayastha stayed in the Vaishya's house for a month. Vaishya's wife was soft-spoken, beautiful, and had big eyes. Owing to her virtues, the Kayastha eventually fell in love with her. Then the Kayastha left the Vaishya's house and went to his own house, followed by the Vaishya's wife who also went to the Kayastha's house. Then there was a conflict between the Vaishya and Kayastha and eventually after a long period of time, Kayastha died due to old age. Eventually he attained the life of a human being. In his previous life, he left his wife and had sexual intercourse with his friend's wife and because of that sin, he does not beget any son. The first daughter born to him became a widow due to the previous sins, it was also doubtful whether the Kayastha would have a son, and he also suffered from constant fever. He suffers from pain in the legs, thighs, waist, and anus; his wife miscarries frequently.

Lord Shiv now explains the remedial part - He should devote one-sixth part of his house to virtuous deeds. Then one lakh chanting of Gayatri Moola Mantra should be done, one tenth of the chanting should be done for Havan, Marjan, and Tarpan. Feed sixty brahmins with kheer and sugar, and donate land to the best of his ability after donation of a cow. And get a step well and a pond built along the roads. Doing this undoubtedly increases the lineage. And all the fever gets destroyed, and he begets a son with the longevity of a 100 years.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva starts the story by mentioning the Kayastha and his diligent work and worship. This is said because the Navamsa of Virgo is associated with daily routines, and since the base energy is of Pisces, the Kayastha is involved in living his daily routine by worshipping his work and the Goddess (Virgo represents Devi, and Pisces shows devotion and faith). Eventually, when the Kayastha went to his Vaishya friend's house, he started an extramarital affair with the Vaishya's wife, despite already being married. The Vaishya had immense trust in the Kayastha, but due to the extramarital affair, the Kayastha broke the trust of his friend as well as created a lot of troubles for his own family and that of his friend.

This Nakshatra pada falls in the 7th Navamsa of marriage and relationships, which shows troubles and disputes between partners. Since Virgo is the sign of Mercury, along with its exaltation as well, the Kayastha focused on the desires of his five senses (Mercury) instead of trust and morals (Jupiter - who is opposite to Mercury), which is why he chose to have relationships outside his marriage. The theme of this Nakshatra is the breaking of trust of others due to one's own selfish desires, and facing problems, disputes, and fights from partners/public. The immoral activity of having a physical relationship outside the marriage, despite having everything in his own possession, is what caused so much trouble for the Vaishya and Kayastha's own family. Due to such actions, the Kayastha faced diseases and pain in the body, which is again signified by the Navamsa of Virgo. One should control his own five senses (Mercury) and his excessive desires for materialistic pleasures in this pada, and refrain from breaking anyone's trust, as Venus becomes exalted in the Rashi but debilitated in the Navamsa chart, showing immoral actions with a partner or within relationships/business. Hence, nature will take similar tests with you regarding the same significations, depending on the planet placed in this pada. For example, Jupiter in this pada shows that one has to face obstacles as he will not be able to fulfill his promises to father/guru and eventually has to make a lot of sacrifices in order to do so.

Lord Shiva explains one of the remedies as building a pond and well. Both constructions involve storing water, and eventually, that water will be used by the masses for their benefit. Hence, Shiv Ji is suggesting making constant donations to the public to solve their problems on a regular basis, as eventually, it will reduce your debt (Virgo) towards the public/partner (7th Navamsa) and the negative effects of this pada will eventually go away.

Mercury, being the lord of the 3rd house, and the Moon, being the 4th lord placed in the 12th house and debilitated, with the dispositor Jupiter aspecting the Lagna, gave him a wonderful opportunity to teach and educate children. However, all he was doing was making money off them. In the Navamsa chart, Mercury is placed in the 3rd house along with Gulika. Jupiter is placed in Aquarius, while the dispositor Saturn is in Leo and the co-dispositor Rahu is in the 11th house. Therefore, the karma is coming towards children and family, as the children are not doing well in education and their health is also being affected.

Uttara Bhadrapada Nakshatra:

3rd Pada: Pisces Rashi - Libra Navamsa:

Lord Shiv says to Ma Parvati - In the centre of the Naimisharanya country there is Uttam Mishrakpur. Damodar, a prince, lived there. His wife's name was Vanshamati. He was dissolute, cunning, rich and proud of his wealth. Leaving his wife, he was living or spending time with other women and every day was consuming deer meat. Taking the form of the dragon (vyadhrup), he used to go hunting and kill deer and their offspring there. In this way he spent his life and in old age he passed away.

Eventually he was born in the Form of the Human. Due to the good deeds of the last birth he bears wealth, and due to his sin of killing deer and their offspring — his wife has stillbirths. In his last birth, he had a physical relationship with a brahmini — due to that his body aches constantly.

Lord Shiv now explains the remedies - He has to chant the vaidik mantra of Shivji one lakh times, then chant “ॐ नमः शिवाय” 2 lakh times. After this, make an idol of the Shiv ji of 40 tolas of gold and invoke Lord Shiva in it. The idol is to be worshipped with gandh, flowers, sandal, dhoop, deep, naivaidya, etc., finally the idol is to be immersed. Then in a beautiful havan kunda, havan, marjan, and tarpan, etc., should be done amounting to 1/10 of the jaap. Thereafter, donate a calf with a young cow, after adorning their horns with gold. Finally, feed laddus and milk to brahmins. By doing this, he will soon beget a son and all his diseases will be destroyed.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva starts the story by mentioning a prince named Damodar, indicating a royal birth status and an inheritance of assets (wealth, land, etc.) due to his birth family. This is mentioned as this Pada falls in the 8th Navamsa of inheritance and unearned gains, having the Rashi of Libra, which signifies wealth and luxury. However, similar to the previous Pada, Damodar got involved with other women and was overly involved in materialistic pleasures, neglecting his duties as a prince. The 8th house is also the house of Nija-Dosha (intentional mistakes), and since the Rashi is Libra in the 8th house, Damodar intentionally had relationships outside his marriage and did not follow any rules and principles in his life.

The sign of Pisces is the exaltation of Venus, and the Navamsa Rashi is also of Venus, showing a lot of ego within the native. This led to Damodar being proud of his wealth. He also consumed deer meat, showing the effect of Sun's debilitation in Libra and performing activities without morals. The Sun is the Karaka of the soul and being debilitated in the 8th Navamsa, Damodar performed neech karam by killing animals and consuming their meat, despite having the title of a prince. The theme of this Nakshatra is misusing one's resources and inherited wealth, as well as making intentional mistakes due to excessive desires for materialistic pleasures.

One should remember that even the inheritance one receives is due to their own past life karma, and it will eventually get depleted. One has to face the consequences of the present karma that is being done, as happened with Damodar in his next life. This Pada also shows hidden relationships and troubles with business partners due to money, but all this is due to the excessive desires of the native himself, as he is blinded by his ego and the title or resources he has in this life due to his family/ inheritance. The remedy in this Pada is to use the inherited resources for the betterment of others and learn to be grateful for what you have in this life, instead of seeking additional pleasures.

Many times, you will not know or understand the value of something until you lose it, as some people are not even able to sit properly due to their health issues. If every morning you are able to fold your hands and pray to God, be thankful for the same instead of running here and there for personal satisfaction. Another remedy is to provide constant support to your spouse through any obstacles he/ she faces, even if you have to make a lot of sacrifices for yourself. One of the remedies mentioned by Lord Shiva is worshipping Shiva Ji himself, as eventually, your dissatisfaction and excessive desires will come under control.

In the Rasi chart, Jupiter is in Uttara Bhadrapada Nakshatra Pada 3. The native made poor choices in life regarding relationships. Despite being married, he engaged in an extramarital affair. Whenever his wife was away, he would invite his extramarital partner to their home. He spent a great amount of money on her, as her lifestyle was extravagant. One day, his wife returned home early and discovered them together. The ensuing chaos was unexplainable.

Even though the native felt liberated by engaging in these activities, the debt he created, being in the nakshatra of Saturn (which symbolises householder life), led to him fighting court cases. Also, after his wife left, he experienced sudden losses in his business. When you go against morality and cheat in a way that leads the other person to question your choices and situations, you are bound to face the resulting sufferings in an unimaginable way.

Uttara Bhadrapada Nakshatra:

4th Pada: Pisces Rashi - Scorpio Navansh:

Lord Shiv says that there lived a vaishya in Agrapur Nagar, his name was Dandas and he had a wife named Gopika. This Gopika was of blemished character — once upon a time a rich Bhramin came to the house of the Vaishya where he kept crores of mudras and then went to Nepal. After reaching there Brahmin died and the vaishya enjoyed the entire wealth of the brahmin. Later, due to a havoc epidemic, the old Vaishya along with his wife and son died.

Eventually the Vaishya was born as a human being, he had indomitable strength and was very wealthy, but devoid of sons and daughters due the sins of his past life.

Lord Shiv now explains the remedies - He should perform five lakh chants of the Gayatri Moolmantra. Havan, marjan, and the tarpan should be done amounting to 1/10 of the chanting. After that, he is to make an idol of the brahmin with four hundred tola gold and then adorn that idol with the precious stones & clothes. Worship the idol with beautiful flowers, sandalwood, incense lamp, naivedya, etc., and give that idol to the Brahmin. Then, donate a kapila cow whose horns are adorned with gold and hooves with silver. Thereafter, feed the brahmin ghee and kheer. In the month of the Magh, bathe in Prayagraj with his wife and donate 100 cows and 100 pots/matakas filled with ghee. By doing this definitely, a son will be born and he will get rid of all the diseases.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva starts the story by mentioning a Vaishya named Dandas and his wife Gopika. It is further mentioned that Gopika was not of good character. The name Gopika means cowherdess, and this is significant because the Navamsa is of Scorpio and the Rashi of Taurus falls in the 7th house. Despite Lord Shiva's comments about the character of his wife, no further implication is made. This shows that since one's wife is seen from the 7th house, the outlook and desires of the Vaishya himself were focused on earning wealth and gaining resources, and his wife supported him even during his wrongdoings due to their materialistic desires.

When the Brahmin friend left a hefty amount of wealth in the house of the Vaishya, it was never returned, as his wife Gopika likely dissuaded the Vaishya from doing so, and he listened to her wrong advice. Since the Navamsa is of Scorpio and it is also the 9th Navamsa, it shows a huge amount of unearned wealth (Scorpio). The 9th house belongs to Jupiter, and since Jupiter has the quality of expansion, the Vaishya received resources from someone else in a large quantity. But due to the same wealth, the Vaishya broke his principles (9th Navamsa) and eventually suffered the consequences in his next life.

The theme of this Nakshatra is that of following principles and using one's inheritance in the right manner. In this story, the wealth can be anything and not necessarily money, as it will depend on the combination of the chart. The wealth should have been returned to the family of the Brahmin, but the Vaishya decided not to do so. There will be challenges where one has to make a choice of keeping the trust of someone and not engaging in any immoral activity which will create troubles later on, as the Brahmin gave such an amount of wealth because he trusted the Vaishya immensely.

One should not break the trust of someone by any means in this nakshatra, nor listen to anyone's advice that suggests doing so, as eventually it will cause chronic troubles (Scorpio). Even in partnerships, one should not use illegal means or use the resources of others without permission, as that will also create the same troubles. For instance, with Jupiter in this Nakshatra, troubles of the stomach and spine will occur because the native himself did not keep the trust of his father/guru by not paying tuition fees or by seeking knowledge in invalid ways. Now, if Jupiter becomes the 6th lord, then it indicates knowledge of medicines, and the native has to serve one's guru and father during times of trouble.

The remedy that should be followed is to return resources back to people who are the rightful owners, and not to misuse any resource just because you have the ability to do so. Additionally, Lord Shiva advises donating to Brahmins and worshipping the idol of the Brahmin, as that will bring principles and morals within the native, enhancing the effect of Jupiter. Helping orphan children (Scorpio in 9th Navamsa) by making regular donations to them will also be fruitful.

Rasi:

In the Rasi chart, Mars is in Uttara Bhadrpada Nakshatra Pada 4. Being placed in the 6th house of employment, the native started his professional life in 2015. He is always anxious (Scorpio Navamsa) about whether his company might fire him (Pisces Rasi, scared of losses). He constantly lives with this unnecessary anxiety.

Navamsa:

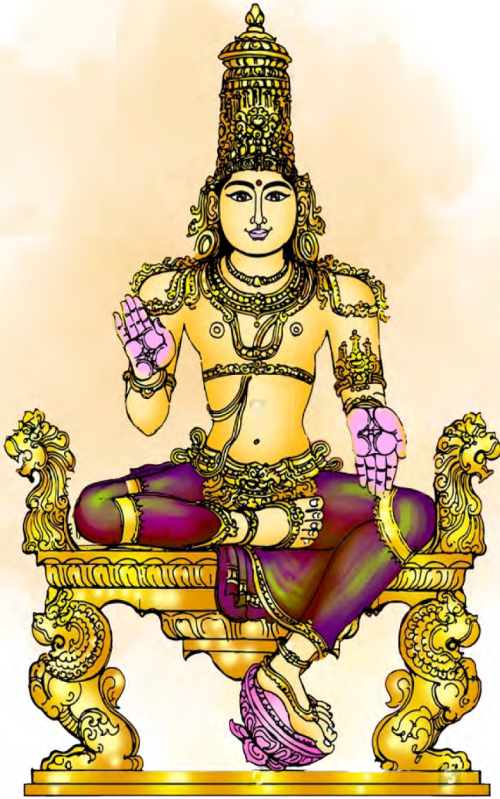

In the Navamsa, Mars is in Scorpio Navamsa, and Scorpio is the sign of death. Depending on the number of breaths we take, our life is getting shorter, and by taking antioxidants, we tend to reverse the process of aging. Similarly, Indra consumes drinks that control anxiety and cool his head enough to deal with so much pressure.

As mentioned earlier, knowledge of this nakshatra becomes like a norm for other people, but most of their knowledge either these natives hide or encode secretly. Even the manuscript written by Ahirbudhnya was kept as a secret, as any planet in this Nakshatra, when supported by the Nakshatra lord, can produce some of the most intensifying secrets of the universe.

Therefore, the native kept a significant burden of secrets, especially in relation to relationships. Mars, being the Lagna Lord going into Scorpio Navamsa, shows that the native will lisp while they speak, as they have been entrusted with great secrets. These natives suffer from issues of Ketu, speaking less and worrying more internally.

REVATI

Revati Nakshatra

Connect to Different Realms

This is the final nakshatra, ruled by Mercury, with Pushan as its deity. With this last nakshatra, the cycle of human birth and death comes to an end, and a cycle is completed. This nakshatra is related to travel; whenever any planet enters this nakshatra, the native grows in life after a change of place, and it can be vice versa if malefics come to this nakshatra.

The nakshatra is bound to bestow spiritual wealth and master the art of being alone, giving direction and purpose to many in life by generating a belief system in them. Imagine if you have to travel somewhere in life, you need to trust a map or someone who has visited that place before. But in the world of spiritual journeys, whom are you going to trust? This nakshatra has the quality of guiding people who have directed many in their lives.

Revati natives are often misunderstood, as these natives only share what they experience in life, which might not be written ever before. This is an unknown space where faith is most important, and it is generated only by Shukra, the planet exalted here.

This nakshatra tends to give wealth in a creative manner. For these natives, making money is not as important as satisfaction in their work and getting paid for it. When someone asked Van Gogh, 'How much do you get for making these paintings?' He replied, 'What I am supposed to get, I usually get while making the painting.' It is the process of creation that these natives enjoy, and that is why this nakshatra is closely related to art and creativity. These natives have a particular skill to think of the unknown and then create something that looks simple, yet is stunning.

Pushan, the great navigator, helps them connect to different realms and get inspired in their work. That is why one of the remedies for this nakshatra is to travel for inspiration; with every journey, these natives bring more creative abundance into their lives.

The biggest problem for anyone in creative works is money. Many artists, poets, and writers die in poverty, as most of these people are beyond the mental capacity of a normal human being and are misunderstood by many. Gurudev Rabindranath Tagore, who had the Moon in Revati, is a prime example. When you read his book and see the way he paints a picture in half a stanza of any place, you feel like you are in that scene. However, he had to go through a lot of mental torture by opponents, as very few people are able to understand these geniuses.

and gets exalted here. When beauty meets words, it feels appreciated and completed. Art meets money; this nakshatra is the epitome of Shukra's exaltation, which brings both wealth and creativity when Venus is placed in it. However, when this nakshatra is occupied by Mars, Rahu, or other malefics, it keeps you in an active state to the point that you desire control over creativity rather than allowing a free flow of unorganised work.

The true genius in these natives emerges when they let go of ego and control in their work, allowing their genius to flow. Pushan is also known as the protector of flocks and herds. Imagine a person taking goats out for grazing but strictly controlling them to walk in a straight line, enforcing discipline on them. The goats will not enjoy the grazing. Similarly, with creativity, you can't impose discipline. Discipline is good in the army for tasks that have a standard operating procedure, but can final liberation be achieved in the same manner?

There are many ways to be liberated and to show creativity; there are no rules for spirituality and creativity, only guidelines. This is what Pushan does: provides an area of guidelines for creativity, and then you are free to go. When you are in the sky's open space, which is Pisces, there are no strict roads but corridors in the air to travel. This will help you to reach from point A to point B. The best navigators are those who help you reach your destination while allowing you to discover yourself on the journey and keep guiding you from time to time.

27th Nakshatra: Revati:

1st Pada: Pisces Rashi - Sagittarius Navansh:

Lord Shiv said to Ma Parvati, In Vaidandpur there lived a hunter named Sevak and his wife was bitter-speaking. Sevak was very ruthless and killed deer every day and he earned his daily bread and butter by selling deer meat. In this way all his life passed and he eventually passed away during old age. Eventually after taking several births in the Yoni of animals, he finally got the Yoni of a Human. He had donated water in his previous birth, hence he became rich; he did not get a son due to the karam of killing deer.

Although many sons were born to him, they died, and diseases and fever frequently arose in his body.

Lord Shiv now explains the remedies — He should devote one-sixth part of his house to virtuous deeds. Gayatri, “Om Namah Shivay”, and “Jatavedase” mantras should be chanted three lakh times, and one-tenth of the chanting should be done for Havan, Tarpan, and Marjan, and brahmins amounting to one-tenth of the tarpan should be given food. After this, decorate a ten-coloured cow and a beautiful bull and donate it. Make a garland of twenty tola gold beads (along with Meru bead) and give it to a Brahmin and then donate a bed. By doing this, one gets a son, all the diseases are destroyed, and even the kakavandhya woman gets a child.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva starts the story by mentioning a hunter named Sevak. 'Sevak' means servant, which is fitting as this Pada falls in the 10th Navamsa and has the Rashi of Sagittarius, indicating a duty (Karma) towards serving beings (Jeev in Sagittarius). However, Sevak was doing the opposite by engaging in the lowly act (Neech Karam) of killing animals and trading their meat for money. Since Jupiter gets debilitated in the 10th house, Sagittarius going into the 10th Navamsa will show a similar effect of harming beings, in this case, deer. Deer are mentioned because Mars, the significator (Karak) of deer, is exalted in the 10th house, showing wrongful actions (Mars) being carried out. One quality present in this Pada is the lack of appreciation from others, as Lord Shiva mentions that his wife (7th house) had a bitter speech. This is due to the sign of Gemini being in the 7th house from Sagittarius, indicating selfishness within the wife and from the public, which is why appreciation will be missing from others. This also shows extreme stubbornness in this Pada, as Sevak followed his own principles without guidance from others. One must have good morals in this Nakshatra and realise that they have a debt towards serving other people physically. The theme of this Nakshatra is to serve beings, be it father, guru, animals, or the lower sections of society who cannot help themselves, as the native has harmed beings in a previous life.

One should be available to one's elders during times of trouble and provide physical help to anyone in need. The native will often encounter opportunities where a decision to help must be made. This can also indicate the need to provide guidance and support to others during difficult times, as Sagittarius is the Rashi of the guru.

Lord Shiva also mentions that in a past life, he had donated water, symbolising giving mental peace and food to others, and this practice should be continued by the native in his present life as well. The donation of water is mentioned because the 4th house (Moon) from Sagittarius has Pisces, representing donations to the masses (4th house). Lord Shiva suggests one of the remedies as donating one-sixth portion of wealth, signifying the 6th house of corrections and eventually clearing the debt carried by the native. Note that the 6th house also has the Rashi of Taurus, the signifier of resources and wealth, hence the recommendation for donation.

In this chart, the Sun is in Revati Nakshatra Pada 1, being the 2nd lord and placed in the 9th house along with Mercury, the lord of the 3rd and 12th houses.

The native is somewhat of a miser, as indicated by the debilitated 12th lord, but is also a doctor. The native earns not only from clients but also receives incentives from medical companies for recommending medicines, among other things.

As the ruler of the 2nd house, the Sun's placement in the 6th Navamsa suggests that the native is earning through morally questionable means, without considering the long-term effects the medicines might have on patients.

Navamsa:

In the Navamsa chart, the Sun is placed in the 5th house with Gulika in Sagittarius, while its dispositor, Jupiter, also rules the 8th house. The native is experiencing issues related to inheritance, which are the result of pending karma. This involves making money by instilling fear of disease in people, as the Sun occupies the 6th Navamsa. The same chart has also been correlated with the story of Mrigashira Pada 4 in the Nakshatra Part 1 book; refer to it for further details.

Revati Nakshatra:

2nd Pada: Pisces Rashi - Capricorn Navamsa:

Lord Shiv said to Ma Parvati, there lived a rich Brahmin with sons and grandchildren and no knowledge of Vedas in Sripur Nagar. He used to buy and sell buffaloes, bulls, clothes, chamars, elephants and horses while being busy in Vaishya work. He collected a lot of money from this business. Once, his guru came to his house. He treated the Guru with great respect. After staying for a month, Guruji went to Haridwar to take a bath. Later the Guru's son came and after giving his and his father's idol adorned with golden gems to this Brahmin, he went to Haridwar and gave up his life there. Then the Brahmin spent the money he received by selling these two idols. In this way, after a long time, the Brahmin passed away. Eventually after going through Yoni's of animals, the Brahmin took birth in the Yoni of a Human. Here, in the most holy city of Ayodhya, he was born in a family of Brahmins. The Brahmin was good looking, knowledgeable, fond of God and temples, but indulged in debauchery with other women. One daughter and two sons were born to him, but all three died and no son was born. His beautiful wife has become a Kakvandhya and says unpleasant words to him.

Lord Shiv now explains the remedial measures, first listen to the story of Harivanshpuran and recite the name of Gopal Ji (kirtan). The, chant Santan Gopal Mantra and Gayatri Mantra two lakh times. One tenth of the chanting should be done for Havan, Marjan, and Tarpan. Thereafter, plant a Tulsi garden and worship Lord Vishnu at its centre. Then, donate a ten-varna cow and a bed and then feed a hundred Brahmins. Make an Idol of Lord Vishnu out of forty tolas of Gold and give it to the Brahmins after worshipping it with proper rituals. By doing this, there is no doubt that the lineage continues.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva begins the story by mentioning a Brahmin who was wealthy and from a good lineage but lacked knowledge of the Vedas. A Brahmin's primary duty is to understand the holy scriptures, but in this case, the Brahmin did not undertake the necessary hard work and chose a shortcut for his daily earnings through trading, adopting the role of a Vaishya. This is because the Navamsa for this Pada is the 11th Navamsa, which signifies the fulfillment of desires. Although the Brahmin had wealth and lineage, he also took shortcuts and deviated from the path of his duty (the 11th House also represents shortcuts). The sign of Capricorn represents the lower section of society, leading the Brahmin's actions towards trading. As the story progresses, Lord Shiva mentions that the Brahmin's guru and later his son gave the Brahmin an idol of the guru. This act was meant to signify immense trust and faith from the guru to the Brahmin. However, despite this faith, the Brahmin broke his guru's trust by selling the idols and continuing down the path of a Vaishya. The idol was intended for the Brahmin to perform daily rituals and worship, as it contained the energy of his guru, who would eventually leave his physical body. Instead, the Brahmin chose to profit from it.

The theme of this Nakshatra revolves around taking shortcuts and improper methods to fulfill desires, neglecting one's responsibilities when needed. One might also face challenges due to broken trust or commitments, as exemplified by the Brahmin breaking his guru's trust. Laziness and a lack of hard work are other themes of this Nakshatra. The remedy involves avoiding shortcuts or illegal means to complete daily tasks and maintaining trust and commitments, even if it requires significant personal sacrifice. Capricorn, symbolized by muddy waters, suggests that progress may be slow, but steady movement will lead to reaching one's destination. Giving back to the lower sections of society and fulfilling their needs, such as through regular donations to domestic workers, security guards, cleaners, construction workers, crows, etc., will mitigate the negative effects of this Nakshatra. In Capricorn's Navamsa, Virgo falls in the 9th house of the guru, indicating a debt to the guru and the importance of daily worship or rituals (Virgo signifies daily routines). Remedies in the sign of Capricorn yield results over time, akin to walking in muddy waters. Lord Shiva suggests planting Tulsi trees and worshipping Lord Vishnu (Mercury) as remedies to reduce the debt to the guru and alleviate the adverse effects of this Nakshatra. It's to be noted that Jupiter is debilitated in Capricorn, and Virgo, being the 9th from Capricorn, highlights the guru's debt.

In the Rasi chart, Venus is in Revati Nakshatra Pada 2. The native is deeply involved in intimate aspects of life and, at a young age, developed unhealthy habits related to bedroom pleasures. The native confirmed that he feels the need to watch adult content every night before sleeping, without which he finds it difficult to fall asleep.

The native also tends to avoid giving money to others, even when asked, due to Venus being in Capricorn Navamsa. Even on the occasions when he does donate, he acts pretentiously and makes sure everyone knows about his act of giving.

In the Navamsa chart, Venus, as the 6th lord, is placed in the 9th house along with the Sun and Saturn. His partner exhibited a lack of interest in continuing their relationship, showing no concern for the native. This situation deeply upset the native, and he struggled to move past the memories of his partner. In the past, he even resorted to self-harm by cutting his hand due to relationship issues.

The conjunction of Saturn and the Sun, along with the affliction to Venus, significantly impacted him, leading to severe consequences. He was advised to make donations as a remedy, after which the situation between him and his partner began to improve.

Revati Nakshatra:

3rd Pada: Pisces Rashi - Aquarius Navansh:

Lord Shiva said to Ma Parvati, many people lived in Maniknagar, among them there lived a salt maker, who used to make salt every day. He used to earn his living by selling salt every day. One day, a Brahmin friend of this salt maker came to his house with money and gems and he honoured his friend with great respect. This salt maker's wife was wicked, fickle, and adulterous. The Brahmin stayed in the Salt Maker's house for a month. The wicked woman of this salt-maker secretly mixed poison in the food and gave it to the Brahmin. Then at midnight after the Brahmin died, they threw the Brahmin in the river and took away all his wealth. Taking that money, Lavankar started spending it with his wife and sons. Later, when he grew old, he died of this sin, followed by his wicked and adulterous wife. Eventually after several births in animal Yoni, the Saltmaker took birth in the Yoni of a Human. He was rich in wealth (since he died in Kurukshetra in his previous birth), but childless due to the karam of brahma-hatya in his past life. Disease arises in his body regularly and his wife has stillbirths.

Lord Shiv now explains the remedies — First he should offer the eighth part of his house to the Brahmin. Then chant the three mantras 'Gayatri', 'Jatavedase' and 'Tryambakam Yajamahe' three lakh times. Then one tenth of the Japa should be performed in the square Yonikund, in accordance with all rituals. One tenth of the Havan should be performed as Tarpan and one tenth of Tarpan should be performed in Marjan. Then he should offer a cow with the calf adorned with gold and clothes to the Brahmin - feed them and give them a Kushmanda. By doing so, a son is born.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva begins the story by mentioning a Salt Maker. Salt is an essential ingredient necessary for everyone, regardless of caste, creed, and gender. The duty of the Salt Maker was to provide salt, an essential ingredient, to the masses on a daily basis. This symbolises that the duty in this Pada is to provide necessary resources to the masses daily without much expectation, as salt is readily available and affordable. This being the 12th Navamsa of donations and having the Rashi of Aquarius, which signifies excess in nature and humanitarian work, shows service to others by constantly offering necessary resources through one's own skills/ideas.

Despite all this, one may not receive appreciation or may face issues of underpayment and financial problems, depending on the chart's combination. It is then mentioned that the Salt Maker's wife was not of good character. This statement is made because the Salt Maker did not take his responsibilities seriously and failed to maintain a cordial relationship with his wife. Aquarius (Navamsa) and Leo (7th house) are the Rashis of Sun and Rahu - both are kings but with completely different ideologies. Leo, the sign of maintenance, being in the 7th house, gives the effect of Sun's debilitation, leading to troubles in the Salt Maker's married life and an inability to maintain a good and loving relationship. This strained the relationship, and such individuals will face opposition from the public due to their irregular or unconventional ways of doing things, as well as troubles from their partner. One of the remedies would be to compromise or sacrifice for one's spouse by constantly supporting him/her.

Then, Lord Shiva mentions the Brahmin friend coming to the saltmaker with money and gems. This was because the Brahmin friend had a lot of trust in the saltmaker, with the base energy coming from the Rashi of Pisces. Eventually, the saltmaker's wife poisoned the food, leading to the Brahmin's death. Although the saltmaker was unaware of the poison, he eventually supported his wife and helped her dispose of the Brahmin's body. This symbolises the lowly act (Neech Karam) of killing and harming others (Sun's debilitation in the 7th house) for personal gain (Aquarius Navamsa). The theme of this Nakshatra Pada is to control excessive desires for wealth and resources and to refrain from illegal activities for personal gain, as such acts will ultimately lead to poison. The Rashi of Aquarius, associated with Rahu, the significator of poison, was used negatively in this case. One should not hesitate to give resources to others, as what you provide or donate could be essential to them, given the special energy of Aquarius and its connection to Rahu.

Similar to the previous Pada, this Pada also emphasises the theme of breaking trust. One should avoid such actions in their life, as it is easy to break trust for personal gains, but building someone's trust takes time and effort. The trust of individuals represented by the planet in this Pada should never be broken, no matter the difficulty. For example, Venus indicates dissatisfaction in marriage, leading one to seek other options or break marital commitments. However, doing so will eventually lead to rare diseases and troubles with money and partners.

One remedy is to make regular donations for your ancestors, light a diya (sesame oil), and ask for forgiveness and liberation for your ancestors. This will reduce the poison (excessive desires), and the negative effects will gradually dissipate. Lord Shiva suggests donating one-eighth of one's house to the Brahmin as a remedy for the act of Brahma Hatya (killing a Brahmin), related to the 8th house (longevity), since the Brahmin's longevity was taken away through the act of killing. When the Brahmin uses the land of the saltmaker, the negative effects of Brahma Hatya will deplete. This is noted as Virgo falls in the 8th house from the Aquarius Navamsa, indicating a debt due to killing/death. The presence of Jupiter (Brahmin) in Virgo (8th house) and Scorpio (death) in the 10th house (Karma) further supports this remedy.

In the Rasi chart, Ketu is in Revati Nakshatra Pada 3. The native was born into a middle-class family. He was very devoted to his parents and family, with the dispositor Jupiter (representing parents) placed with Venus (representing family) in the 10th house of duty. While working an ordinary job, he took care of everyone in the family. His business began to thrive after he got married, noticeable by Ketu in the 7th house and dispositor Jupiter in the 10th with the 9th lord Venus, who is the dispositor of the exalted Moon as well. However, since Ketu is in Aquarius Navamsa, being 12th from its sign occupied (Pisces in D1), he distanced himself from his family and neglected his siblings and parents. He started living in a separate house, abandoning his life's principle of taking care of his family.

Navamsa:

The earlier story conveyed a deeper meaning—that one should not refrain from giving resources to others, as what you can provide or donate could be crucial for them, given the unique energy of Aquarius associated with Rahu. It emphasises the theme of breaking trust, advising against such actions in life, as breaking trust for personal gain is easy, but building trust requires time and effort. The trust of individuals represented by the planet in this Pada should never be broken, regardless of the difficulty. For example, Venus indicates dissatisfaction in marriage, leading one to seek other options or break marital commitments, but such actions will eventually lead to rare diseases and financial and relational troubles.

The combination of Saturn and Moon with Ketu in the 12th led to the native's only child going abroad for studies and deciding not to return, severing all ties with his parents.

This action caused the native's wife to pass away from depression. Now, the native is concerned about how to continue with life, as he is left with no family. The curse manifested in the native's chart exactly as described by Lord Shiva.

Revati Nakshatra:

4th Pada: Pisces Rashi - Pisces Navansh:

Lord Shiv said to Ma Parvati, A Kshatriya named Chandra Sharma lived in Alarki Puri, and his wife's name was Devi. He practised Kshatriya dharma and was rich and brave - a Brahmin named Krishnadas was his priest. This Kshatriya donated the land to that priest, then after many days when there was a dispute, he demanded tax for that land from the Brahmin. Hearing this, the Brahmin said that he was not responsible for paying the taxes. The Kshatriya became angry after hearing the words of the Brahmin. The Kshatriya spoke bad words to the sagely Brahmin, then due to the dispute of land and because of the harsh words of the Kshatriya, the Brahmin died. Later, after many years, the Kshatriya also passed away. Eventually he took birth as a Human. He became rich in wealth and a servant of Brahmins between the Himalayas and Vindhyaachal. Due to the sin of a Brahmin who died in his previous birth for the sake of land, he does not have a son and even if he does, the child dies. His wife has become a Kakavandhya and is repeatedly bereaved of her son and her body repeatedly suffers from diseases and severe fever.

Lord Shiv now explains the remedial part - He should offer one-sixth part of his house's wealth to a Brahmin. Then, five lakh chants of Gayatri Moola Mantra should be done, one tenth part of the chanting should be done in havan, tenth part of havan should be offered as tarpan and tenth part of tarpan should be done as marjan, and then the donation of a cow should be done. An idol of a Brahmin made of twenty tola gold should be made and adorned with clothes and gems. The idol should be worshipped using scents, etc., with the following mantras:

Mantra

He Vasudev! He Jagannath! He lord who is kind to one seeking his refuge! Only you are capable of forgiving me for the sin of brahma-hatya that I committed in my previous birth!

Then, an altar should be made with ant-hill soil and Sarvatobhadra should be made on that altar with auspicious substances. Install the idol in the middle and worship it. Worship that idol with the above-mentioned mantras, adorn it with flowers and cover it with red cloth. After this, give it to a Brahmin in the form of Vishnu and then give food to the Brahmins and give them dakshina. Then, pay obeisance to the Brahmin who suggested the atonement.

Those people who read or listen to the Karmavipak Samhita, are freed from all of their sins. There is nothing better than this, I say this with all my heart.

Deeper Meaning

Lord Shiva mentions that the Kshatriya's name is Chandra Sharma, who lived in Alarki Puri. The reason for the name is that both the Rashi and the Navamsa are of watery signs. Mercury, being the 4th Lord from Pisces, is debilitated in the Lagna, and the involvement of the significations of the Moon (Land) is seen later in the story. The name of the place, Alarki, means wisdom, which is clearly reflected through both the Rashi and Navamsa belonging to Jupiter. Lord Shiva then mentions that the name of his priest was Krishnadas (again, the name of Chandrama - 9th from Pisces, Moon is getting debilitated). As the donation of land was made to the priest, and due to the war, monetary benefit was sought from the priest, but the priest was unable to pay the taxes. This shows that despite the Kshatriya being brave, he became selfish and sought monetary benefits due to the depletion of his resources from the war. This also shows a back-and-forth motion in life, as even after the donation, the Kshatriya asked for taxes. As mentioned in the beginning, Mercury being debilitated in Lagna with Gemini in the 4th house shows wrong decision-making due to selfishness related to one's own land (4th house).

Further, due to the harsh words and the dispute regarding the land, the Brahmin died. This symbolises a break of trust, as when you donate something, it should not be asked back by any means. Pisces is the Rashi of donations, but as Venus is exalted in this Rashi, one should always donate with full devotion and let go of that resource completely without any further expectations in mind. However, as we can see from the story, the Kshatriya did not do so. Troubles of communication, land, and property are seen through this Nakshatra Pada, as well as an inability to let go of something and having selfish desires for personal gains are themes of this Pada. Furthermore, while communicating, one should be extremely careful not to say anything that will break the trust and commitments/promises of someone else, as eventually, that karma will come back to you.

One of the remedies for this Nakshatra is to learn to let go and not expect anything in return, as well as to ensure that personal gains are not sought in a manner that harms others or breaks someone's trust. The Moon being debilitated in the 9th house indicates emotional pain inflicted upon the father and Guru. To mitigate this, one should regularly provide food for one's father and Guru, which will eventually reduce the malefic effects of this Nakshatra. Since this Pada is Vargottama, with both Rashi and Navamsa belonging to Jupiter, the agenda is clear: donations and helping others without expecting anything in return, as well as providing mental peace and comfort to one's Guru and Father. Lord Shiva suggests donating one-sixth of one's wealth to Brahmins due to the debt owed to the Guru.

A very specific remedy is provided: to create an altar using ant-hill soil and to worship with proper rituals. The reason of using the soil of ant-hill is because it is represented by Ketu and Rahu which represent both of our ancestors from maternal and paternal side. The rashi of Pisces also shows our ancestors and Pitris and when this rashi is afflicted it can lead to Daivik problems (unexplainable issues) - hence by taking the soil of an ant-hill and using it for the puja - the negatives effects which are coming from the 12th house eventually gets diminished.

By doing so, the native will gain a lot of patience, which will, in turn, increase their ability to bear pressure even in times of trouble. This is pertinent as the Kshatriya lost his calm due to the war, unable to bear the pressure of losing his wealth. Following this remedy will bring stability to one's life and eventually remove all the malefic effects of this Nakshatra Pada.

In the Rasi chart, Venus is in Revati Nakshatra Pada 4. As the 4th and 9th lord, the native works as a freelance technician on ships and is experiencing issues in the lower stomach. The native confirmed that he has a habit of throwing a lot of food into the sea due to not getting assignments and feeling fed up with the uncertainty in his career.

Venus, placed in the 2nd house, is also the dispositor of Jupiter (the significator of the stomach, which also represents the Sun), leading to the wasting of food as Venus is in the Pisces Navamsa.

In the Navamsa chart, Venus, the ruler of the 10th house, is placed in the 3rd house with the 6th lord Mercury debilitated, leading the native to consume food in large quantities. Additionally, the native repairs large machines as part of his work. The only remedy suggested during the consultation was to avoid wasting food and to serve food to others on Saptami Tithi. The native followed this advice for a certain period, and within two months, he secured a job at a well-established company in Norway.

As previously mentioned in this Nakshatra Pada, although the Kshatriya was brave, he became selfish and sought monetary benefits due to the depletion of his resources from the war. Thus, with Mercury's debilitation, being the ruler of Revati Nakshatra along with Venus, the native's duty was heightened in terms of valuing what he has, especially food, and to consume it in moderate quantities amidst emotional turmoil and uncertainty.

Nakshatra Activation Ages

Everything in this universe vibrates with a particular rhythm, it is the same for the nakshatras also. Every nakshatra gets activated or we can say gets awakened at a particular age to deliver its prominent results to the native. The effect of the active state of that nakshatra can be positive or negative in the respective ages. But the sole purpose for the nakshatras to give active results is to make the journey of our soul towards the right direction. The purpose is the same as to make the native understand the true self and get the soul ready for the final goal.

That is why when a nakshatra gets activated to give good results initially it might be seen as negative results but it only prepares the native for the Mukti. Also, make the native do something that produces good results in the long run or brings good results as per the karmic pattern of the native. In the end, the goal is the same for all the nakshatras to let you experience that you are the existential bliss.

Before that it is just a game and to make the game interesting and spectacular in worldly matters, sometimes it gives good results and sometimes gives negative results.

Moola Nakshatra

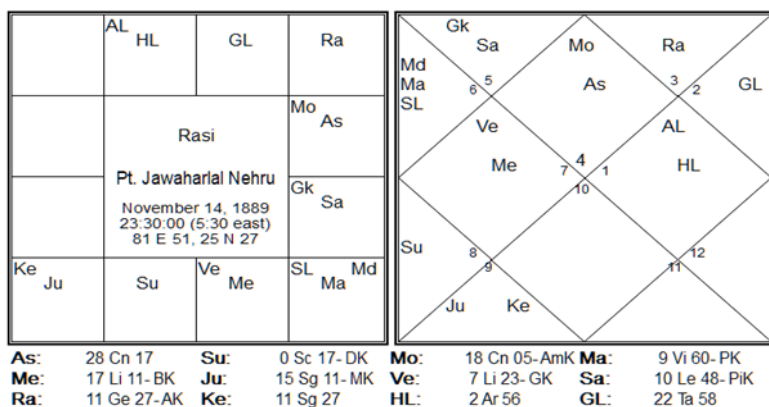

Good Ages- 35, 40

Bad Ages- 46, 25

At the age of 35 and 40, the nakshatra of Moola becomes active and gives good results. Let's discuss a few examples of the same.

Example-1 - Pt. Jawaharlal Nehru

The example chart below is of the 1st Prime Minister of India, Pt. Jawaharlal Nehru.

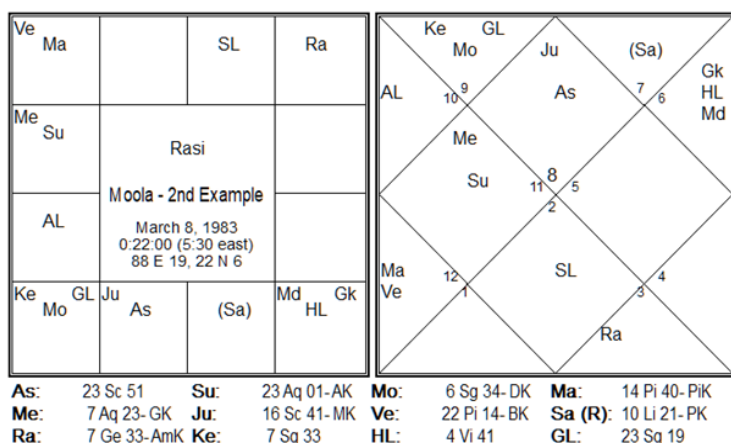

He has the 5th lord Ketu in the 6th house in the nakshatra of Moola. In 1929, at the age of 40, he got the support and power through Mahatma Gandhi and eventually became the president of the Indian National Congress for the first time in his life. Also from this same year, he became the supreme leader of the Indian independence movement when Gandhi ji moved towards a more spiritual role. In the same year his book “Letters from a Father to His Daughter” was also published.

5th house is the house of chair, position, and social status. 6th house is the house of competition. As the Moola got activated at age 40 to give good results, Ketu over there helped Pt. J. Nehru to get victory over the competition. Ketu made zero competition being placed in 6th as the 5th lord. It also gave help from the superior and made him the President of INC first time in his life. 5th house is also considered as the house of fame, 5th lord in Moola gave him fame in this year through his book, position, and social status.

Example-2

In the example chart below, the native has 9th lord Moon and Lagna lord Ketu in the 2nd house in the nakshatra of Moola.

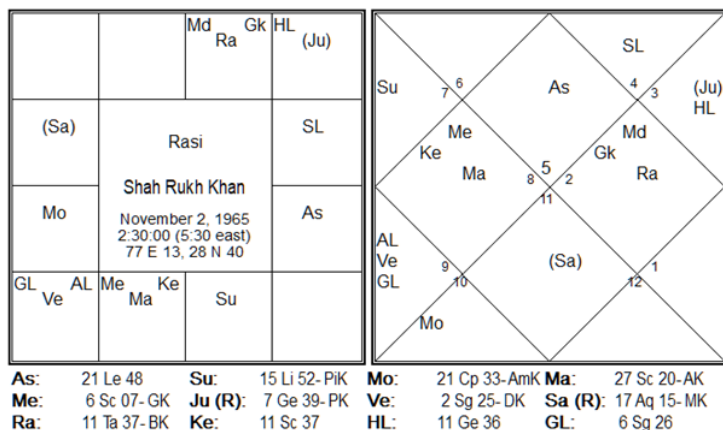

Something major related to 2nd house happened at the age of 35. The native faced a lot of struggles in his initial life and went through major setbacks in business. In his early 30's he had no money to start something new. But, at the age of 35, his ancestral property was sold which was in dispute and under court cases for several decades between his father and uncles. As the ancestral property was sold, the native got a certain amount of money as well as ancestral gold at age 35. Using this money he started his business again, and eventually got his career back on track.

In his chart, the Lagna lord (self) and the 9th lord Bhagya are in the 2nd house of family and finances. At the age of 35, Moola Nakshatra got activated and produced good results to give him some financial stability.

Example-3- Shah Rukh Khan

The example chart is of Shah Rukh Khan, one of the legendary actors in Indian cinema. He has the 10th and 3rd lord Venus placed in the 5th house in the nakshatra of Moola.

He was awarded the Padma Shri by the Government of India in 2005, at the age of 40 for his contributions towards Indian cinema. This is the fourth-highest civilian award in India.

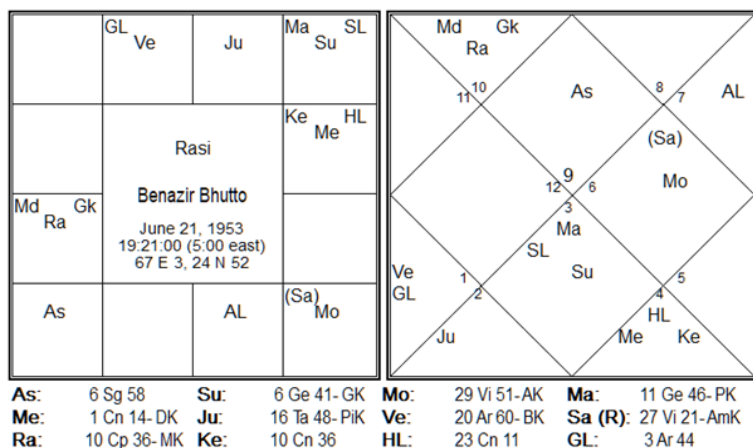

The 5th house is the house of social status, respect, and honour. The 10th lord (lord of profession) and the 3rd lord (lord of skills and name) were placed in Moola. As the age of 40 came, the nakshatra of Moola activated and gave good results. Shah Rukh Khan got honour and social respect at the same age. This is one of the best achievements in his life with respect to getting any government honour.

At the age of 46 and 25, the nakshatra of Moola becomes active and gives bad results. Let's discuss a few examples of the same.

Example-4- Benazir Bhutto

This is an interesting example of Moola nakshatra and activation. The chart below is of a Pakistani politician, the first woman leader of a Muslim nation in modern history. She served as the 11th and 13th prime minister of Pakistan. In a nation with a majority of Muslims, she was the first woman to be elected democratically to lead a democratic government.

In her chart, the Ascendant is rising in the nakshatra of Moola. In the year 1999, at the age of 46, the Lahore High Court convicted Bhutto for corruption, disqualified from holding public office and fined more than $8 million. Also, the court gave her a five-year prison sentence.

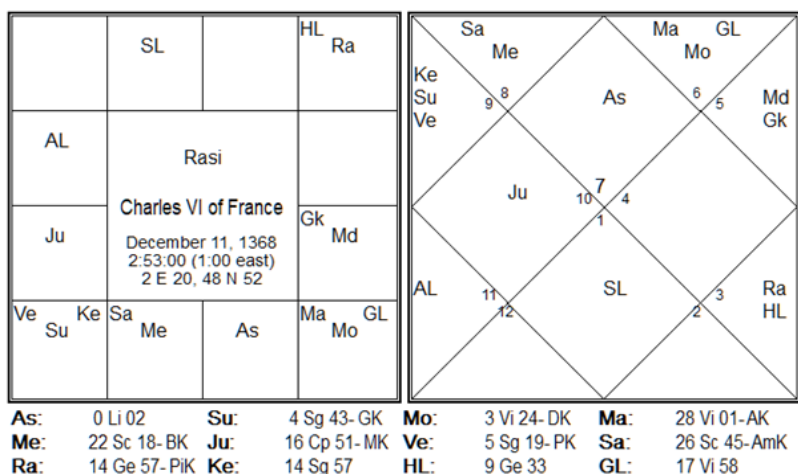

In her chart, the Lagna lord is in the 6th house, the house of debts, disease, and disputes and the nakshatra lord of Moola (rising nakshatra) is placed in the 8th house, the house of suffering and sudden problems. It is creating a 1st-6th-8th circuit. At her age of 46, as the nakshatra of Moola activated and produced bad results, the nakshatra lord also gave problematic results for her, as a result after having been twice elected prime minister and twice dismissed for alleged corruption and incompetence, she was found guilty for a third time on April 1999.

Example-5- Charles VI of France

The chart below is of Charles VI of France. He is well-known for having mental illness and experiencing psychotic episodes throughout his life.

(The DOB is taken as per the record of the Gregorian calendar)

In his chart, the Ascendant Lord Venus is placed in the 3rd house in the nakshatra of Moola with the Sun.

At the age of 25, in the year 1393, he started getting mental illness symptoms that continued throughout his life. In 1393, on a sudden day, he could not remember his name and did not know he was king. Also in this same year, he narrowly escaped death from burning. The ascendant shows the body and Dhishakti (An intellectual faculty to understand things and pay attention), and the 3rd house is the house of name and thinking pattern.

At the age of 25, the Lagna lord which is placed in Moola, in the 3rd house of name with the planet Sun that shows intelligence and memory power, produced bad results together for him with the activation of Moola. He started getting mental illness for the same. The situation was such that he even forgot his name (3rd house). As the major 2 planets were placed in Moola, it gave serious problems to him at age 25.

Purvashadha Nakshatra

Good Ages- 35, 42

Bad Ages- 40, 31

At the age of 35 and 42, the nakshatra of Purvashadha becomes active and gives good results. 40 and 31 are the bad years as the Nakshatra of Purvashadha creates problems in those years.

Example-1- Sachin Tendulkar

The chart below is of the greatest batsman in the history of cricket, Sachin Tendulkar. He has the Ascendant lord Moon which is also the Amatya Karak placed in the 6th house in the nakshatra of Purvashadha.

Sachin Tendulkar received the Bharat Ratna, India's highest civilian award in the year 2014, in this same year at his age of 42, he was announced ambassador of the ICC Cricket World Cup 2015 event. In this same year, he got the Cricketer of the Generation award at ESPNcricinfo awards. As the nakshatra of Lagna lord, Purvashadha activated to give good results, he got many recognitions in the same year.

The year 2003 end, and the beginning of 2004, the age of 31 was very challenging for him as he was getting back-to-back injuries. In this same year with a recent loss in the World Cup final that broke his dream at that time, he also got an ankle injury. Later that year a finger injury kept him away from the game. He was affected by a series of injuries since 2004. Overall, in his 31st year, he was struggling with injuries as his Lagna lord's nakshatra Purvashadha was activated and produced negative results for him.

Example-2- James Watson

Let me give you one more example of Purvashadha nakshatra activation. The example chart below is of James Dewey Watson, known as the father of DNA, an American geneticist and biophysicist who played a crucial role in the discovery of the molecular structure.

As Purvashadha activated in this year in his life, it brought many good results to him being his Ascendant rising nakshatra.

In this case, the 7th lord Mars is placed in the 3rd house in the nakshatra of Purvashadha. The nakshatra lord Venus is placed in the 12th house. The native runs a grocery shop in the locality.

Deepanshu Giri / 335

The 7th house is the house of marriage and companionship, the 3rd house is the house of interest and choice. At the age of 31st, he got involved with a married woman in his neighbourhood. But, one day everyone in the locality came to know about it as well as the Husband of the woman. As a result, the husband and a few of the neighbours beat the native severely and make him ostracized in the area. This incident brought a lot of shame and unpleasant situations to the native in his area. His reputation (the name 3rd house) came at a hard bottom as the nakshatra of Purvashadha gave bad results at the age 31st.

Uttarashadha Nakshatra

Bad Ages- 44, 38

The 36th and 33rd years are the good ages for the nakshatra of Uttarashadha. 38th and 44th are not the suitable years for Uttarashadha, as the nakshatra of Uttarashadha creates problems and obstructions in those years.

Example-1

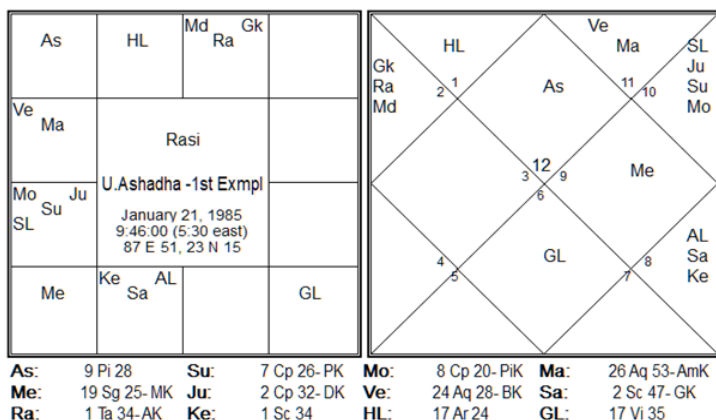

The example below is of a male native who has the Lagna Lord Jupiter, Sun, and Moon in the 11th house in the nakshatra of Uttarashadha. His life story is very interesting.

The native grew up in the economic hardship of family. He belongs to a backward village family in West Bengal. After his masters in Bengali Language Subject, he took private tuition as a profession. He tried hard with dedication to get a govt job but failed. Whatever he got by giving tuitions he managed to sustain his family with that amount with lots of difficulties.

In the time of COVID-19, in 2020 mid he got a sudden passion and hobby to plant trees. Every day he used to plant at least 2-3 trees in the village. After a few days suddenly he got a business proposal to get a Dealership of Medicine. Taking a risk, the native accepted that and within a few months, he started to generate a monthly profit of 30K-40K, which is a more profound amount compared to his tuition salary.

This made him successful in his area at the age of 36, in the year 2020-2021. Eventually, he managed to bring his family into an economically stable situation with this, compared to the economic conditions in the area where he resides.

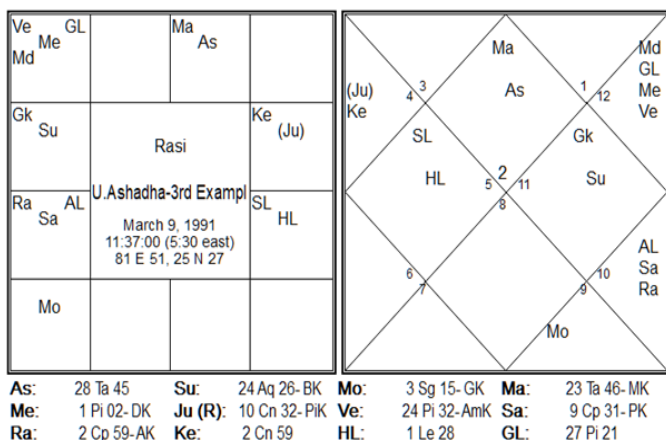

In his chart as the age 36th came, Uttarashadha nakshatra activated to give prominent results. In his chart, major planets are in the 11th house in

The native did love marriage going against the will of her family. After her marriage, she never had any good relationship with the in-laws. Also, she went through multiple miscarriages and the doctor said her health was not in such a state where she could get a normal childbirth. But her husband and family were not in such a financial state where they could afford it. In between, her relationship with her in-laws hit rock bottom. At the age of 38, suddenly one day her in-laws threw her out of the house. Her husband also could not help her and support her with the situation and eventually, she left the house of her husband and took shelter in an NGO.

At her age of 38th, the nakshatra of the 6th lord and 8th lord combined gave bad results to the native and the Lagna lord had no such strength to protect. This made her face a devastating situation in her life at the age of 38th when the nakshatra of Uttarashadha was activated. Unfortunately, this belongs to one of the charts where life is unfair and is all about suffering. We think we are suffering but the truth is there are people who are suffering much more than us. We should keep faith and gratitude for every little thing we get in life, as we can walk, sleep on our own bed, and have food every day.

The example below is the perfect example of where we can transform any situation in our life to blossom as a lotus. The chart below is of a female native who has Rahu and Saturn both placed in the 9th house in the nakshatra of Uttarashadha. Here Saturn is the 9th lord also.

In her 33rd year of life, just a few days after the 2023 birthday her father died suddenly due to cancer. This gave her immense mental and emotional pain. Eventually, she started to be involved in spiritual teachings and started to listen to spiritual videos and all. Slowly she progressed in her inner dimension and found a great peace within. Within a few months, her life was transformed completely after the death of her father at the age of 33.

In her chart, the 9th house has prominent planets in Uttarashadha. The Uttarashadha nakshatra got activated in 33 to give her good results. But initially, it made her ready for that through pain. Initially, it gave a major mental setback in her life, but she took that event to transform herself, and Uttarashadha at the 33 age helped her to see beyond. In her chart, Rahu is the Atmakarak placed in this nakshatra. When Atmakarak activates it clears our karmic pattern through challenges and suffering.

She was the person who never listened to any spiritual things but now she completely merged in devotion and thinking for spiritual progress every day as the nakshatra where Atmakarak is placed got activated to give prominent results and to give direction to her soul.

Shravan Nakshatra

Good Ages- 34, 59

Bad Ages- 43, 36

At the age of 34 and 59, the nakshatra of Shravan becomes active and gives good results. 43 and 36 are the bad years as the Nakshatra of Shravan creates problems in those years.

Example-1- Swami Vivekananda

The example chart below is of one of the most influential philosophers of India, Swami Vivekananda. In his chart, the 9th lord Mercury is placed in the Ascendant in the nakshatra of Shravan. The nakshatra lord is placed in the 9th house.

In 1896, when he was running his 34th year of life, his spiritual books Raja Yoga and Karma Yoga were published. These books became an instant success that gave him recognition and it was highly influential in the Western understanding of yoga.

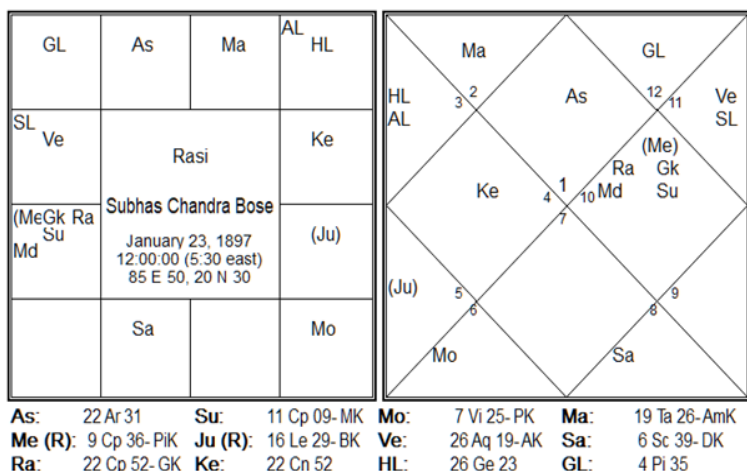

In his chart as the nakshatra of Shravan activated to give him good results, the mercury placed in this nakshatra gave him recognition and made him a well-versed writer. The planet of communication and writing, Mercury helped him to communicate with people of other religions through his books in this year as these books became famous in the West also. This is how the nakshatra of Shravan activated in his life at age 34 to make him do something extraordinary.

Example-2- Subhas Chandra Bose

In his chart, the 5th lord Sun is in Shravan nakshatra conjoined with Rahu. In 1939, at the age of 43, on account of his differences with Gandhi ji, Subhas Chandra Bose resigned from the Presidentship of the Congress (April 1939). After reelection in 1939, differences in opinion came between him and the Congress leaders, including Mahatma Gandhi. He was elected president this year over Gandhi ji's preferred candidate Pattabhi Sitaramayya. This eventually created such a situation where he found himself forced to resign from the Congress presidency.

Subhas Chandra Bose has the 5th lord (lord of position, chair) was placed in the Shravan nakshatra in the 10th house of work. At the age of 43, it was activated and produced bad results for him, where even after winning the election, he had to leave the position(5th). Rahu also gave him the result at the same time when he faced backbiting in his workplace and faced the politics within the group. Eventually, he left the congress and found a new party, ‘the Forward Bloc’.

Let’s move on to one more example of the Shravan Nakshatra activation Ages. In the chart below the Ascendant lord and 4th lord Jupiter is placed in the 2nd house in the nakshatra of Shravan.

The native is a philanthropist who provides free education to needy children in a few cases with a very nominal fee also he did not marry. His father was in a Govt job but died early. After his father's demise his mother used to get a pension using this, they sustained their daily household and expenses. At the age of 43, in 2003 end, his mother died with sudden health problems. After that the native faced financial struggles as a regular source of income stopped which was coming from the pension. Though he was doing great social work, but with an unfortunate event he faced suffering at his age of 43.

In his chart, the Lagna lord(self) and 4th lord(mother), Jupiter is placed in the 2nd house of family and finances, in the nakshatra of Shravan. In his life at the age of 43, as the nakshatra of Shravan activated to produce negative results it made him face problems in finances.

Let me give you one more example of Shravan Nakshatra activation. The example chart below is of a person who does all kinds of illegal activities. The native is involved in a gang that does killing after getting a contract. In simple words, this is a chart of a contract assassinator.

In his chart, the 8th lord Mars is placed in the 5th house in the nakshatra of Shravan and the nakshatra lord is going in the 12th house of losses. At the age of 36th, his daughter was diagnosed with type 1 diabetes. It causes a lot of problems and financial loss for him.

His 8th lord (the lord of suffering and sudden problems) was placed in the nakshatra of Shravan in the 5th house of children. The Shravan Nakshatra got activated in his 36th year but gave bad results in the 5th house. It created health problems for his daughter that caused him a great amount of pain.

Dhanishta Nakshatra

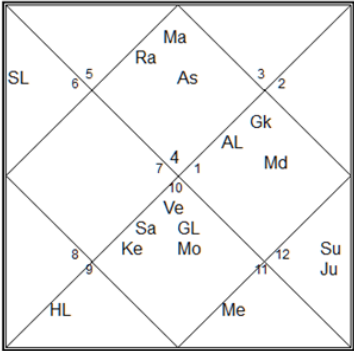

Good Ages- 48, 52

Bad Ages- 34, 40

At the age of 48 and 52, the nakshatra of Dhanishta becomes active and gives good results. 34 and 40 are the bad years as the Nakshatra of Dhanishta creates problems in those years.

Example-1

desire for marriage was fructified as the nakshatra of Dhanishta activated at the age of 48 to give him desired results.

Here in his case, the Lagna lord placed in this nakshatra and nakshatra lord is going into the Lagna shows something very important is going to happen with the activation of the nakshatra. As the 7th lord Saturn and natural karaka for marriage Venus both are also placed in this same nakshatra, it gave him good results in terms of marriage at the age of 48. This is how Dhanishta activated and produced good results in his case.

The native was a Govt employee. He used to work in the excise department far away from his homeland. But her mother's health started deteriorating from his mid-thirties and nobody was there in his paternal home to take care of his mother except a household help. After serving the govt for a few years he decided to leave the job and settle in the homeland with his mother and with the natives of the homeland. He took volunteer retirement and came back home to serve his mother in Moon Rahu Mars, at the age of 40.

But unfortunately, after some time his mother passed away. This was a devastating situation for him, he left his well-paying job to serve his mother but nature took away his mother. This broke his heart and the native went into depression after that. After some years he had to leave the homeland also due to memories and stuckness and settle somewhere else.

In this chart you can check the combinations, and how wonderfully it is going. The 2nd lord is in the 10th house debilitated with Rahu. This made him take the decision to leave his job for his family. Also, in the D10 chart, the 10th lord is in the 2nd house and debilitated.

At the age of 40, the 4th house was activated, where Saturn and Ketu are placed with A8, this shows some major transformation regarding mother and home at age 40. Also, at this same age, the 4th lord Nakshatra Dhanishta activated to produce a negative impact and as the Nakshatra lord is placed in the 10th house, it gave him bad results from all the aspects of mother, home, and profession. In this case, all the things like nakshatra activation, Vimshottari Dasha, BCP and House Code activated at age 40 and gave negative results in terms of profession and home (4-10) axis.

This is one of the most interesting cases in the activation series where the Planet placed in the nakshatra and nakshatra lord combined impacted the life of the native with its activation.

Shatabhisha Nakshatra

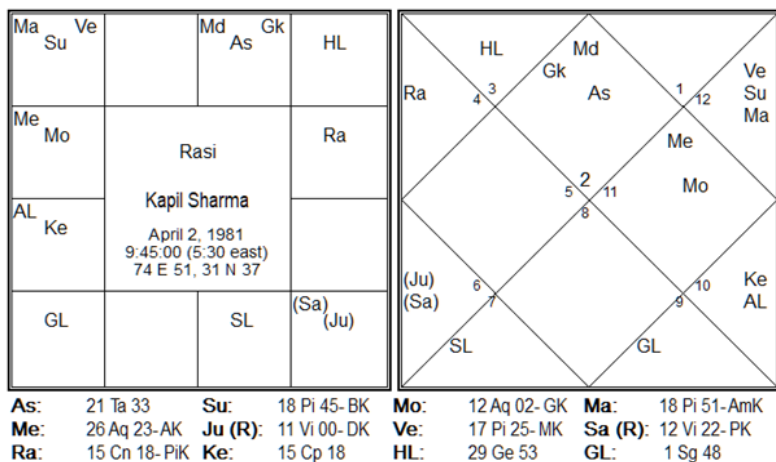

Good Ages- 35, 54

Bad Ages- 38, 44

The 35th and 54th years are the good ages for the nakshatra of Shatabhisha. 38th and 44th are not the suitable years for Shatabhisha, as the nakshatra of Shatabhisha creates problems and obstructions in those years.

Example-1- Kapil Sharma

The example chart below is of a famous Indian stand-up comedian, Kapil Sharma, who is a great comedian, TV anchor, actor and singer. Kapil Sharma has a multi-talented personality, also he is one of the most loved personalities amongst the audience.

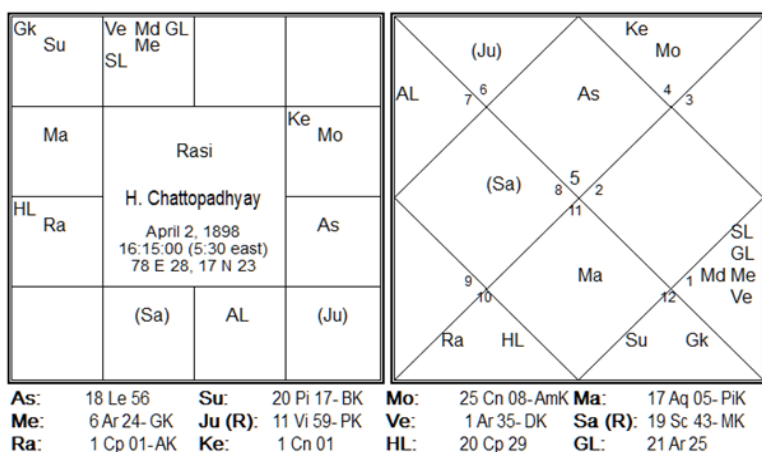

In his chart, the 3rd lord Moon is placed in the 10th house in the nakshatra of Shatabhisha. In his 35th year, he made his film debut in the Bollywood Film Industry. Also, at this same age, he began a new show on his own name (3rd house) titled “The Kapil Sharma Show” on Sony Entertainment Television. This show got a huge positive response from the viewers. Eventually, this show became one of the most-watched television shows in India.

In this case, the lord of the 3rd house, that shows, name, social media, television, starting something new, placed in the 10th house of work in the nakshatra of Shatabhisha. The nakshatra lord is placed in the 3rd house. As the Shatabhisha activated in his 35th years of life, to produce good results for him, it gave him major fame and made his name a prominent brand. This made him start a show completely based on his name. This is how in his chart the Shatabhisha Nakshatra had a major impact at his 35th age.

Example-2- Harindranath Chattopadhyay

Here is another example of Shatabhisha Nakshatra activation. The example chart is of Harindranath Chattopadhyay, who was an Indian poet, musician, actor, and politician.

In his chart the lord of 9th and 4th yogkarak Mars placed in the nakshatra of Shatabhisha. The 9th house shows bhagya and the 4th house shows land and people of the native land.

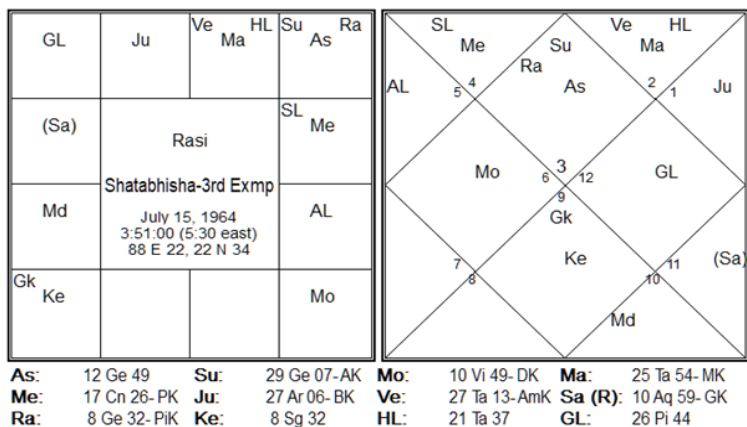

In, 1952, at the age of Harindranath Chattopadhyay won the hearts of the people and got elected as the first MP in Telugu heartland. He won from Vijayawada Lok Sabha constituency in Madras State as an independent candidate. He was a member of the 1st Lok Sabha of India.

The planet Mars placed in the nakshatra of Shatabhisha blessed him with success in the general election at the age of 54, as the Shatabhisha nakshatra activated at this age to give prominent results. Being the 9th and 4th lord Mars in this nakshatra and the nakshatra lord is placed in the 6th house of competition, both secure his victory in the election as it was the age of 54 when Shatabhisha nakshatra provided brilliant results to the native.

Example-3-

Let me give you one more example of Shatabhisha Nakshatra activation. In the chart below the 8th lord and 9th lord Saturn is placed in the 9th house in the nakshatra of Shatabhisha.

The native experienced a bad family incident in 2001 end, at the age of 38. At this age, the nakshatra of Shatabhisha activated and gave malefic results to the native. The father of the native died in 2001 end at the 38th age of the native with an unknown cause. The Saturn here is the Ganatikarak, which shows disease and disputes, placed in the 9th house of the father taking the energies of the 8th that is suffering and death. In the 38th year running in 2001 end, in the dasha of Jupiter- Saturn, it produced bad results for the native as the Shatabhisha activated to impact negatively.

Purva Bhadrapada Nakshatra

Good Ages- 56, 35

Bad Ages- 48, 43

The nakshatra of Purva Bhadrapada ruled by Jupiter activates at certain ages to give its prominent results. At the age of 56 and 35, this nakshatra get activated to manifest positive results for the native. On the other hand, at the age of 48 and 43, it creates suffering for the native wherever it falls in the chart.

Example-1

The example chart below is of a female native who is a professor of subject Psychology. In her chart, the 9th lord Venus is placed in the nakshatra of Purva Bhadrapada. In her life, the age of 35 was very prominent in terms of higher education and fulfilment.

Though she was a professor even before completing her PhD, she completed her PhD with great hurdles and breaks. Her 9th lord Venus being Atmakarak placed in P.Bhadrapada nakshatra. This shows something related to higher education and soul desire must have happened in her life with the activation of Purva Bhadrapada nakshatra.

After a lot of struggles, she was able to complete her PhD at the age of 35 in the year 1998. 9th lord Venus is house-wise debilitated in her chart, which is why it took so much sacrifice and patience to give results. But eventually, as the Purva Bhadrapada, the nakshatra of the 9th lord and Atmakarak activated to give good results, she completed her PhD.

Example-2- José Mourinho

Let me give you one more beautiful example of Purva Bhadrapada nakshatra activation. This example will make you understand how the nakshatra activation plays a crucial role in our life to change the direction at a certain point of time. This will also show how a nakshatra changes the good things to bad and bad things to good as per the karmic path.

The example chart below is of José Mourinho, one of the greatest ever football managers of all time, popularly known as 'The Special One'. He is one of the world's most accomplished football managers.

His Lagna lord Jupiter is placed in the 3rd house in Maran Karak sthan in Aquarius in Purva Bhadra Pada nakshatra. As Purba Bhadrapada gives bad results at age 48, and in his 48, in 2010 major transformation happened in his life. That year, he started on a very good note and won major trophies even UEFA Champions League with Inter Milan. Suddenly, in the same year, he left the club and joined the Real Madrid club.

Here in his case, the Lagna lord itself is placed in this nakshatra so it was a major event in his life. But, the Lagna lord Jupiter is in Maran Karan without strength that is why the decision eventually did not provide him any major benefits.

Example-3-

The chart below is of a female native, who has Lagna lord Sun placed in the 7th house in the nakshatra of Purva Bhadrapada. Also, the Moon is placed in the same nakshatra in the 7th house.

The native was in a happy married life, but after her childbirth, her life turned around. She faced an emotional turmoil in her marriage after her childbirth. She had a delayed childbirth, and after her childbirth, she started feeling that her husband got involved with someone else. She started feeling cheated at the age of 43 in 2017 end, when her Mercury Mahadasha and Rahu Antardasha started. Both the Mercury and Rahu are placed in the Lagna of the D9 chart. She actually got the proof when she got the proof, she decided to break the marriage and filed for divorce.

At the age of 43, in her chart, the nakshatra of Purva Bhadrapada was activated to produce the malefic results. The Lagna lord itself placed in this nakshatra shows some major suffering might come at this age. Also, the Moon placed here shows some emotional problems will be there. In her 43rd age both physically and mentally she faced struggle as she came to know about disloyalty from her spouse. This is how major planets placed in the nakshatra of Purva Bhadrapada, created problems in the native life at the age of 43.

Uttara Bhadrapada Nakshatra

Good Ages- 29, 51

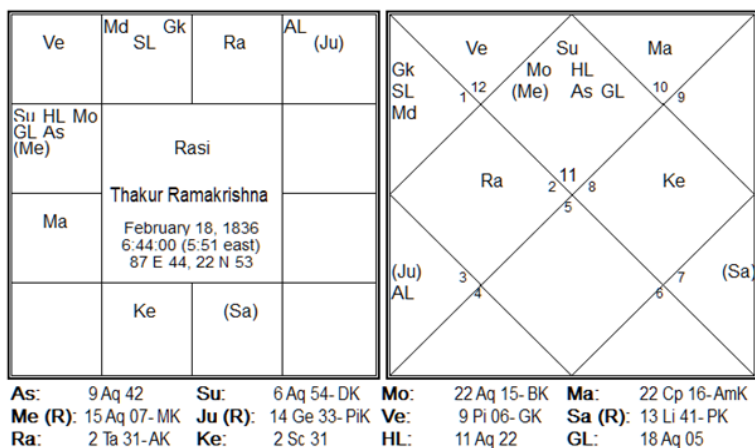

Bad Ages- 31, 25

For Uttara Bhadrapada nakshatra the favourable ages are 29th and 51st, where the Uttara Bhadrapada nakshatra provides good results to the native. The unfavourable ages are 31st and 25th where the Uttara Bhadrapada nakshatra creates suffering for the native.

Example-1- Ramakrishna Paramahansa

The example chart below is of Ramakrishna Paramahansa, who was an Indian mystic and saint. he is known for his deep devotion towards Maa Kali and his ability to experience mystical states. He is the guru of Swami Vivekananda, the most influential philosopher of India.

In the chart of Ramakrishna Paramahansa, the 9th lord Venus is placed in the Nakshatra of Uttara Bhadrapada in a special position of exaltation sign. The nakshatra lord Saturn is placed in the 9th house.

The nakshatra of Uttara Bhadrapada gives prominent results at the age of 29. At the age of 29, Towards the end of 1864, first time in his life he met a guru (9th house) named Tota Puri. A sannyasin named Totapuri came to Dakshineswar and offered to teach Ramakrishna the Advaita philosophy. Tota puri gave him initiation into the path of non-dualism. Through the help of his guru Tota Puri, Ramakrishna experienced Nirvikalpa Samadhi first time in his life at the age of 29. Totapuri stayed with Ramakrishna for nearly eleven months and instructed him further in the teachings of Advaita.

The 9th lord Venus in his chart is placed in this nakshatra. 9th lord shows higher philosophical knowledge and Guru. As the nakshatra of Uttara Bhadrapada was activated at the age of 29, the planet placed in this nakshatra gave beneficial results. Also, the Nakshatra lord Saturn is placed in the 9th house again in his chart, which again produces good results related to the 9th house. This made Ramakrishna meet a Guru and experience the Nirvikalpa Samadhi at age 29. As well as he got many higher teachings from his guru Tota Puri related to Advaita in this same age.

Example-2

As the Ascendant lord itself placed in Uttara Bhadrapada, some major life events happened in his life with the activation of U.Bhadrapada nakshatra.

The native married a person who is much wealthier than the native in 2021 end. But, after a few months of the marriage in 2022 mid at the age of 31, the wife of the native put a false case on him and asked for divorce with alimony.

The Lagna lord Mercury placed in the Maran Karak sthan made him take a wrong decision while choosing the partner. He went for the wrong parameter. This eventually brings a situation where he faced major problems and suffering in life at the age of 31 when the nakshatra of that Lagna lord and Venus (the karaka for spouse) activated to produce negative results for the native.

In his case, the 31st year of life was very frustrating where the Uttara Bhadrpada nakshatra made him suffer and changed the course of life.

Example-3- Steve Jobs

Here is another example of Uttara Bhadrpada nakshatra activation ages. The example chart below is of Steve Jobs, one of the most innovative men ever to exist, the co-founder of Apple Inc.

In his chart, the Moon is in the 8th house in the nakshatra of Uttara Bhadrapada. The Uttara Bhadrapada nakshatra activates at the age of 31 and gives negative results to the native.

In his 31st year, in 1985, Jobs left Apple after a long power struggle with the company's board. In September 1985, Jobs submitted a letter of resignation to the Apple Board. It was a major transformation in his life. On September 16, 1985, on this day, Steve Jobs resigned as chairman of Apple. It was an unexpected event in his life where he faced challenges from other board members and eventually had to leave his position. As, the Uttara Bhadrapada nakshatra activated in this age it impacted his life. The Moon placed over there in the 8th house of (sudden changes and transformation) made him go through mental pressure and new challenges.

He rejoined Apple in 1997. In his 51st year when the same nakshatra activated to provide good results at that age, Steve Jobs got good results from the 8th house as the Moon over there in the 8th house gave beneficial results. It produced great results in terms of research, again the domain of the 8th house. It was his 51st year, in 2005, Apple began work on the first iPhone.

This is how the same nakshatra Uttara Bhadrapada activated in his life in different time periods to give him different kinds of results that helped in both the way to progress in life and become a Legend.

Revati Nakshatra

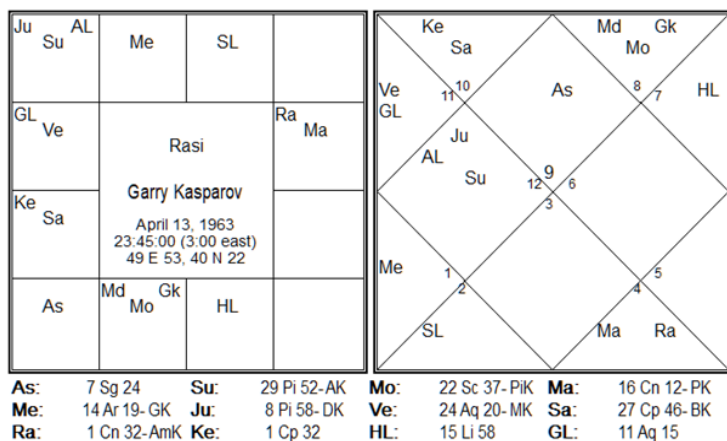

Good Ages- 21, 54

Bad Ages- 44, 31

The good ages for the Revati Nakshatra are 21 and 54. 44 and 31 are the two ages when natives with prominent Revati in their chart experience bad results regarding the placement of the nakshatra of Revati.

Example-1- Garry Kasparov

The example chart below is of a Russian chess grandmaster, and former World Chess Champion, Garry Kasparov, who is arguably the greatest chess player of all time.

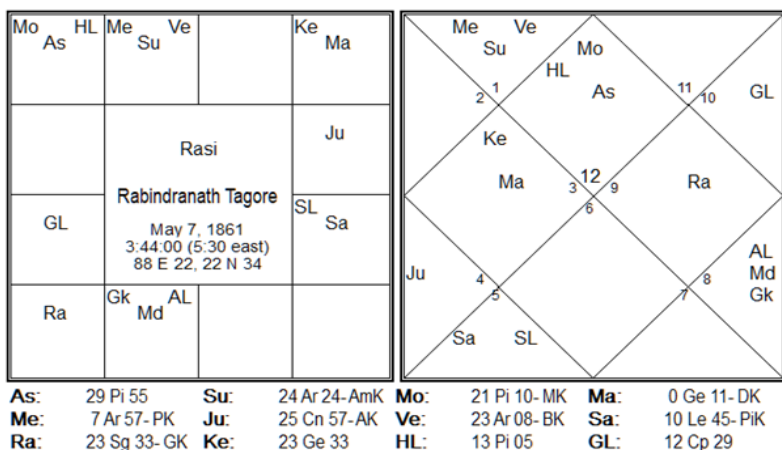

In his chart, the 9th lord Sun, which is also the Atmakarak, is placed in the nakshatra of Revati. 9th house is the house of Bhagya and planet Atmakarak shows something major related to the karmic pattern. This shows something significant must have happened with the activation of their nakshatra Revati. Revati nakshatra activates at the age of 21 and gives good results to the native.

In January 1984, Garry Kasparov became the No. 1 ranked player in the world of chess, also he became the youngest-ever world champion. His record lasted 12 years. Kasparov holds the record for the longest time as the No. 1 rated player in the world from 1984 to 2005. This journey of being number one started at the age of 21 as the nakshatra of Bhagya lord Revati in his case, activated and produced magnificent results for him. In his whole life, the age of 21 was the most significant one as it was the time when he started his champion streak with the blessings of positive Revati activation.

Example-2- Rabindranath Tagore

The chart below is of Rabindranath Tagore, an iconic figure in the Indian cultural renaissance. He was a writer, poet, philosopher, and educationist.

In his chart, the 5th lord Moon is placed in the Lagna in the nakshatra of Revati. Revati nakshatra activates at the age of 54 to give good results.

At his age of 54, in the year 1915, he was awarded Knighthood for Services to Literature by King George V. In this age, the Revati nakshatra activated, and the 5th lord of honour and social respect Moon, being placed in this nakshatra, gave him good results related to that and he got the award from the King of the United Kingdom.

Example-3

The example chart below is of a male native who has the 10th lord, Sun placed in the 5th house in the Nakshatra of Revati. Here the 10th lord Sun is also the Atmakarak.

The native was studious and very intelligent from his early school days. He used to belong to an economically backward section family. He started preparing for the govt exam in his higher secondary.

At the age of 21st, he got selected for govt job. He was the youngest one to get a govt job in his area. As the nakshatra of Revati activated to give beneficial results it gave good results to the native in terms of profession and social respect. As in his case, the 10th lord of profession is placed in the 5th house of social status. Age 21st changed the course of his life as he got his first professional success.

Let us move on to another example of Revati Nakshatra activation. The chart below is of a female native who has 2 major planets Mars and Rahu placed in the 9th house in the nakshatra of Revati. In her chart, Mars is the 10th lord and Rahu is the 8th lord.

The native did a love marriage going against the family. She married a person from a different religion. After her marriage, she faced lots of difficulties to adjust with the new culture. At the age of 31 in the Dasha of Jup-Ven-Rahu, in 2017 end she had to leave her job due to some religious dogma. Though she was not happy to leave her job, she had to quit her job as she never wanted to face any problems in her marriage life.

She was very frustrated at that time and went through mental suffering and problems to cope with the situation where she left her job going against her inner will just for the shake of her personal life.

In her 31st years of life, the nakshatra of Revati which is the nakshatra of the 10th lord profession and the 8th lord transformation, was activated and gave negative results to her. This made her face such a horrible situation. This is how the nakshatra of Revati impacted the native's life at the age of 31st when it activated for negative results.
